

Chapter 726

Sabina was surrounded by a dozen highly skilled men at the same time. These people were all combat masters of the Yeager family. Even on a global scale, they were highly ranked!

They were strong and outstanding!

In an instant, the men pulled out their sharp daggers.

All of them rushed over!

If it were anyone else, they would have been freaked out.

Or frozen still, watching their bodies being stabbed a thousand times!

Sabina was expressionless. It seemed like she had the will to fight.

She had encountered this type of survival situation too many times. She would never be afraid. She would go all out!

Swoosh!

Sabina was fighting like Athena, the goddess of war. One against a dozen.

She was facing a dozen combat masters!

Without any hesitation, Sabina faced them steadily.

However, despite how strong Sabina may be, she was eventually stabbed by one of the men!

Her arm was injured.

Blood gushed out!

But Sabina didn't back out.

She still bravely fought with those men.

Loomis laughed sinisterly. "Continue! I want to watch her die with my own eyes!"

These men were all under Loomis' control, so they continued to attack Sabina.

They kept besieging Sabina. Swords flashed, and daggers flew in the air.

It was a horrible fight.

It seemed that one could die if they got closer to them.

There was a gruesome scent of blood in the air.

Loomis stared menacingly at Brooke, who was already dead on the bed. With a sinister smile, he snarled, "Old fool, do you see this? The person you chose is going to be with you now! Do you regret it? You must definitely regret it! Why did you have to pull so many tricks? Why didn't you just choose me?"

But Brooke was already dead, how could he answer Loomis?

Loomis smiled. His smile was simply too monstrous.

"Loomis."

At this time, Thomson came in. This was the first time he saw Sabina. He was astonished.

As expected, Sabina was different from all the heirs of the Yeager family.

Even when facing a siege of more than ten people, she never flinched, and remained calm.

Fortunately, they caught her this way. Otherwise, they would be in trouble.

Sabina's icy gaze even sent a chill down his spine.

"Dad, how's your preparation going?" Loomis asked.

Loomis had asked Thomson to arrange something.

What was the preparation?

It was the succession ceremony to the family head!

Among the Yeager family's descendants, only Loomis had the strength to take over.

The world's second hidden family will soon be his!

Loomis was especially excited just thinking about it.

"Some of your aunts and uncles were very dissatisfied with you, but I persuaded them by coercion and enticement! They have acquiesced, and the other members will be coming back sooner or later. When they do, I will recommend you, as well as some of them! It is foolproof for you to become the family master," Thomson was also relieved.

If Loomis sat on the seat of the family head, it meant that Thomson's status would be the highest, because he was Loomis' father!

Thomson also agreed with what Loomis had done. At this point, it was the only way to go.

"Good! Dad, you did a great job!" Loomis beamed with satisfaction.

After a few hours, when all the family members came back, he would become the family head!

He could get anything he wanted.

Even if Chuck had something on him, what would it change?

Who would dare to accuse him, the head of the family?

"It's your turn soon, Chuck. You'd better wait for my revenge!" Loomis thought scornfully in his mind.

Thomson smiled with relief. "You are my son. Of course I will help you!"

"Do you know what you are doing?" At this time, Sabina asked coldly.

Facing more than a dozen people's siege, Sabina still had time to speak.

Loomis' and Thomson's behavior was the first ever seen in so many generations of the Yeager family's history.

Sabina was outraged.

"Of course I do. But you should also know that you are about to die," Loomis sneered.

As for Sabina, she remained indifferent!

"Hurry, kill her!"

Thomson shouted at the men. Sabina's gaze made him feel particularly uncomfortable.

Even though a dozen men attacked Sabina, three more were killed by her!

All of them were lying on the ground, bleeding. The looks on their faces were unbelievable.

There were still ten more.

"Let's see how much blood you have left to shed!"

Loomis grinned. He didn't believe that Sabina could kill everyone. That was impossible since Sabina had already been stabbed a few times!

Her blood flowed out.

"Loomis, once you become family head, start dealing with Chuck and Karen tonight! I don't want any long delays!" Thomson reminded.

"I know. Well, I really want to kill Chuck, but I won't let him die so easily. How dare he provoke me, I will make him regret being alive!" Loomis laughed hideously.

Hearing this, Thomson felt relieved.

All of a sudden!

One of the bodyguards stabbed Sabina in the lower back, and her blood kept pouring out!

The dagger was sharp and indestructible!

But Sabina looked calm and didn't even bat an eyelash! To her, it was just a little sting. It was not a big deal!

Sabina was covered in blood from head to toe. What was there to be afraid of?

She didn't feel anything at all.

Suddenly, Sabina let out her best shot!

Puff!

She tossed out a handful of needles.

Ten bodyguards, with six screaming in agony!

Lying on the ground, their faces were filled with fear. There were needles in their faces!

They convulsed and died immediately!

The needles were soundless and shapeless. They simply could not dodge and were killed on the spot.

Widening his eyes, Loomis's face twitched. "D*mn! What are you waiting for? Kill her!"

There were still four bodyguards left, and they felt humiliated. They had almost died!

That fluke rage of having to kill Sabina appeared in their minds.

Swoosh!

The fierce battle began again in a flash, with four men fighting against Sabina.

Boom!

The four bodyguards attacked Sabina ferociously!

Soon, Sabina flew and hit the wall with a heavy thud!

She spat out a mouthful of blood.

Seeing this, the four bodyguards got excited and rushed over to punch and kick Sabina!

Bang!

Sabina was flung again. But for some reason, her eyes didn't show a hint of fear.

Bang!

As Sabina fell to the ground, the men's daggers came at her.

"Hold on!"

Loomis suddenly smiled, walked in front of Sabina, and stepped on her.

"So what if you were chosen, Sabina? So what if the family raised you outside? You still lose to me. People have to be heartless! If you were crueller, I wouldn't have been able to catch you so easily," Loomis said smugly.

He was very pleased.

Loomis did not expect that taking over the position of the family head would be so easy. He should have done it earlier if he had known!

"Loomis, we're different. You can't be the family head because I'm here," Sabina said firmly.

Loomis laughed wildly.

With a heavy force, Loomis purposefully stepped on Sabina's wound, causing fresh blood to ooze out.

"Are you kidding me? You're going to die soon. How can you compete with me? Don't worry, I'll let you die as you deserve. I will say that you suddenly rushed in and killed Grandpa. I'm not bad to you, am I?" Loomis laughed ferociously.

"Kill her!" Loomis commanded. The four bodyguards moved with their daggers. They were about to take Sabina's life!

When Sabina heard this, a cold light flashed through her beautiful eyes. She immediately rushed up and grabbed Loomis! In an instant, her dagger was aimed at his chest.

Chapter 727

Holding the dagger that was covered with a coppery tang scent of blood, Sabina held it against Loomis' neck!

At this moment, Loomis' face was ashen as if white paint had been poured on it. He panicked all of a sudden!

"Sabina! Don't kill me!"

Loomis didn't expect that Sabina would suddenly stab at him after being subdued by four bodyguards!

One move to rein it in!

Loomis felt as if he was dreaming.

Astounded, he felt anxious.

Was Sabina merely pretending to be subdued?

In fact, Sabina did it in pretense. Having survived from a pile of corpses, she had long disregarded this kind of life and death situation. It was this mentality that allowed her to do as she pleased.

The four bodyguards were startled.

"Young Master!"

"Loomis!" Thomson was scared out of his wits.

The Yeager family were coming back soon, and Loomis would become the head of the family, which meant that Thomson would have a higher status in the family. However, if Sabina captured Loomis, wouldn't his wish be in vain?

Did Brooke die for nothing?

"Sabina, let go of my son!" Thomson shouted agitatedly.

"Let go of Young Master!"

"Hurry up!"

The bodyguards glared at the threat!

"Sabina, I'm sorry. Don't kill me. Please," Loomis was about to piss his pants. He was really afraid.

He could feel the coldness radiating from Sabina!

He knew Sabina would kill him without hesitation.

Sabina was indifferent. She had stab wounds and was bleeding profusely. She pressed the dagger against Loomis' neck and the pain made him shiver." Sabina, I give up! I won't be the head of the family! You can take over. I give up!"

Loomis was pleading. He was scared, and it cost him his dignity.

His men didn't dare to get close at all.

Sabina's temperament was too strong, they were well aware now. How did they fight against such a person just now?

They were still in a state of aftershock.

"Let go of my son. What on earth do you want? I'll give it to you!" Thomson chided Sabina shakily.

"I want you to accompany Grandpa!" Sabina said coldly.

Hearing this, Loomis almost fainted. "No, Sabina..."

"Do you think a person like you can be the family head?" Sabina snorted.

Sabina's arm moved, and the dagger flashed. The sharp blade was about to pierce through Loomis' neck!

As his skin was cut open, Loomis was gripped with fear!

Thomson was dumbfounded!

The four bodyguards were scared witless!

But at that moment, suddenly, a bullet cut through the sky.

As if it was a meteor!

God knew where it came from.

Bang!

The bullet mercilessly penetrated Sabina's body!

Sabina slowly lowered her head, only to see blood gushing out of her body.

"Young Master, do you really want to go there?"

Betty tried to persuade.

Karen had given an order not to allow Chuck to go to the Yeager family.

It's too dangerous to go over!

But Chuck was panicking. He thought that something bad was going to happen to Sabina.

It was a strong intuition!

Chuck couldn't sit still at all.

Sabina was his friend. How could he watch his friend get into trouble?

"Betty, prepare a jet for me," Chuck said.

Looking at Chuck, Betty gritted her teeth. "But..."

"Betty..."

Betty sighed and went to make the preparations.

Chuck had been to the Yeager family's place before. As long as he directly parachuted to a hidden place, no one would notice him.

Once he was assured that Sabina was safe, he would return on his own.

Black Rose followed Chuck.

"Don't follow me. It's too dangerous!" Chuck said bluntly.

"Do you think I want to follow you?" Hearing Chuck's words, Black Rose was fuming.

"Thank you." Chuck was silent for few seconds.

"Not needed." Black Rose's voice wasn't as cold as before.

She can't do anything to change his mind.

She knew that Chuck would not be able to stay still. He ran out in the blink of an eye just now.

At that moment, Willa and Yvette were in Karen's room. Chuck saw Betty coming out and stopped her.

After a while, Betty came back.

Chuck and Black Rose got on the jet, and Betty also wanted to climb aboard.

But Chuck shook his head and said, "Betty, don't come with us..."

The jet departed.

Chuck couldn't wait any longer. He had to know about Sabina's current situation.

Betty sighed and ran back to the room. Karen, Willa and Yvette were astonished. Karen asked, "Betty, you..."

"President Lee, I..." Betty couldn't say anything. She really couldn't refuse Chuck's request.

Seeing Betty's face, Karen took a deep breath. "Did Chucky leave?"

Instantly, Yvette and Willa were shocked and worried.

They rushed out, but Chuck was already gone.

"I'm sorry, Young Master, he..." Betty lowered her head with guilt.

"You don't need to apologize. This is Chucky's character. Even if I guarded him, he would find a way out." Karen shook her head, and there was nothing she could do.

"Then what should we do now?" Betty became more panicked and felt that she made a wrong choice. Her mind was filled with images of Chuck's death.

She broke out in a cold sweat.

"Go and prepare the jet!" Karen packed up her things.

"Yes!" Betty ran out in a hurry.

"Sigh, this child really loves to trouble me!" Karen sighed and went out with a grim face.

.....

"It should be there."

Chuck remembered that place. Last time, he took Adriana's jet to get there.

He remembered the route clearly.

This was a stealth jet that was undetectable on radar. It was made by Karen's company.

He would not be discovered even if he was close to the Yeager family.

The jet's speed was under control and Chuck was ready to jump down.

Black Rose explained the process of parachuting once, and Chuck immediately understood. When they reached the place, Black Rose jumped down first, followed by Chuck.

The feeling of being in the air against the strong air current was particularly frightening. Fortunately, Chuck had a good mental state.

After an ear-splitting rumble, the landing was successful.

Black Rose was the first to land. When she saw where Chuck had landed, she ran over to him and breathed a sigh of relief. Chuck had done a good job.

If it were any ordinary person, God knows where they would land.

"What do you want to do? It will be difficult for the two of us to get in!" she analyzed.

"I remembered that Sabina told me she had a secret passage to enter the house. No one knows about it," Chuck recalled.

That must have been how Sabina got in. Now that so much time had passed, Sabina must have gone in already.

This secret passage was definitely not easy to find. Otherwise, how could it be called a secret passage?

Chuck called Sabina, but her phone was turned off.

"Shh, don't make a sound!" Black Rose suddenly perked up her ears.

Chuck nodded and held his breath.

It was extremely quiet all around. Chuck heard the sound, and it came from afar.

They gave each other a look.

"Gunfire!"

They said at the same time.

"Where did it come from? Loomis' men?" Chuck was startled.

Sabina came here alone. How could she face the bullets? Definitely not!

"Chuck, the gunfire makes me feel like the guy behind it is an absolute master. From now on, follow me! Stay behind me," Black Rose said solemnly and took out her sniper rifle!

Chuck was moved. Black Rose was going to protect him with herself!
