

Let me go, Mr. Hill Chapter 2289 | Novel By Shallow South

Chapter 2289

When Sarah secretly put something in the water for Garrett Ortiz for the first time, Catherine asked a senior psychiatrist in country Y to ask about this situation.

According to what the doctor said, Sarah first used drugs to make people confused in order to increase the success rate of hypnotism and then the chance of success of this hypnotism would be higher.

So she kept letting Garrett take the plan but she didn't expect Sarah to act so quickly, it seemed that she really wanted to get rid of Rodney.

"Sarah didn't doubt you, did she?"

"No, Sarah thought that she had succeeded in hypnotizing me. But now in her heart, I'm probably a fool who holds her hand and obeys her words." Garrett chuckled lightly.

"What Sarah means is that she will file for a divorce with Rodney and then ask Garrett Ortiz to take her abroad and marry soon."

"It's good."

Catherine said with a playful expression, "Young Master Garrett Ortiz, I want them not to get divorced. Let Rodney know about the fact that his wife gave you a green hat, you have no problem."

"It doesn't matter, I'm not from Australia anyway, but the Costner family has to give our family something..."

"Then There's absolutely no problem, Matthew promised you before."

Hang up the phone.

Catherine sent a message in the group of girlfriends: [The fish has already entered the net and is ready to close the net.]

More than ten seconds later, Eliza called in a hurried voice, "What are you saying is true?"

"Am I going to make fun of this kind of thing, we don't need to take action next." Catherine said with a smile.

There was silence on the phone for a while, and then Eliza's lowered voice came, "Cathy, thank you, I'll say thank you instead of Charity."

"No need to say thank you, we are all friends, I hate Sarah too." Catherine said softly.

"...I think Charity is still alive and he will be very happy to have you two friends."

Eliza said deeply.

Catherine was taken aback for a moment, before making a soft "um" sound.

After it was over, she got up and made a cup of coffee. About the same time, Freya hurried in from outside, "Why did Sarah become like a net so quickly?"

"She slipped out again during work hours." Catherine joked, "Deduct your money."

"Deduct it, deduct it, anyway, I have money." Freya pouted with wealth.

"Okay, I know you're not short of money now." Catherine sat down on the office chair, "I suspect that your recent high-profile attendance at the state banquet stimulated Rodney and Sarah and accelerated Sarah's idea of an early divorce."

Freya was stunned for a while, then curled her lips, "You look down on me too much."

"Really."

Catherine threw out two files of reports, "This is the application report received by the personnel department of Osher Corporation from the marketing department today. The former supervisor applied for the job. It is said that he and a few employees said a few bad things about Rodney after seeing your hot search during work hours. Rodney heard it and he told them in front of many people to Go away and said they are rubbish."

Chapter 2290

Freya was stunned, "Although it is said that employees really shouldn't speak ill about the boss, especially during working hours but to be able to achieve the position of supervisor either after joining the company for a long time, or since the company was established. Rodney made it public in public. They get out..., this is too... unmeasured."

"Isn't he always unmeasured?" Catherine told the truth.

"Yes, he has no measure in his life but his work shouldn't be like this. He is the boss and arguing with his employees in public is too disgraceful. If it were me, chatting during working hours would be handled according to the company's rules. As for privately, you can wait for a while and find a new employee and let him go. Of course, if the employee performs very well at work, I will not fire him."

Freya said: "Although the employees are our subordinates, they are independent individuals. Everyone also has self-respect."

"You're right."

Catherine smiled, "We understand the psychology of employees because we have all worked in low-level positions and we know that everyone's difficulties are not easy but Rodney was born as far as I know. He let the employees get out of the way that day, and left a bunch of mess there at work."

Freya was stunned, "Osher Corporation had a problem with the development and the marketing department is the most critical department at this time, and there is a personnel transfer at this time, he must be crazy."

"He is not crazy, he is irrational." Catherine shook her head, "I don't feel comfortable and think about how beautiful the unwanted ex-wife is. But Rodney is going downhill. Compared with you, the one at home can't even compare with a hair. The Internet is full of scolding Rodney for being stupid and scolding his eyes. The blind person must be very nervous in his heart. The more he responds, the worse his attitude towards Sarah will be and Sarah doesn't want to spend any more time with him."

Freya sneered, "Osher Corporation is no longer qualified to be our opponent with such a leader. By the way, do you want this employee?"

"More than that, I want to increase his salary and position."

Catherine's eyes flashed lightly, "I want to make those executives who haven't left Osher Corporation envious and jealous so that they can feel with their own eyes that talents like them are needed outside and the boss's behavior makes them feel chills. It won't be long before Osher Corporation will have a wave of resignations without the support of excellent employees. Osher Corporation will not be able to do it."

"High, it is really high."

Freya admired to death, "Cathy, your brain is too powerful."

"You also have to cooperate, I guess you will have to applaud."

Freya: "..."

This said... . She didn't even know what to say.

Catherine patted her on the shoulder, "You and Sylvie strive to develop new products as soon as possible and then give Osher Corporation a fatal blow."

"...That makes sense."

Freya didn't even bother to talk anymore so she hurried to work.

Now she just wants to develop the latest product when Rodney is wearing a cuckold while the company is hanged and beaten. Haha, that kind of feeling is really f*cking cool.

In order to achieve the goal as soon as possible, Freya concentrated on the career revolution and did not even pay much attention to the hot search.

Seeing Freya's serious look, the staff in the laboratory couldn't help but sigh: "It's all this time and Manager Freya is still calm and working hard and she doesn't hear anything outside the window. It's amazing. If it were me, It was on the hot search and was praised by the whole people and she was giggling while standing."

"Hey, Manager Freya is someone who has seen the world and experienced great storms and she doesn't care about those reputations and honors."

"That's true.,

This is the real researcher that we have to learn from Manager Freya."

Unconsciously, the staff in the laboratory were inspiring by Freya and took the initiative to work overtime.
