

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 5

Chapter 5 Physiological Responses

Ceres dropped the towel and screamed while running out.

When she ran back to the room, her heartbeat even went berserk.

'How is that possible? Is he not in a vegetative state? How can he have such a reaction? This is not in line with common sense!' She thought.

Anyway, she was still an innocent girl

She went back to the next room, struggling whether to continue to wipe Johny's body. But soon, she fell asleep.

Johny was alone in the room, still lying naked. He was left behind by Ceres.

It was getting dark, and Johny pounded his bed hard. "Damn it!"

She was just a twenty-year-old girl and an ugly one! Why did he have such a reaction to her?

At the thought of her patiently and meticulously helping him scrub his body and applying medicine to his bruises, he had some feelings towards her.

He got up and walked to her room, and found that Ceres was asleep.

"Okay, you really have no worry." He left with a slight smile.

At the Jazz bar. The colorful lights in the private room were twinkling, and Bill Jaden was singing and twisting his waist while holding a microphone, which was very coquettish.

Johny sat on the sofa, drinking red wine, ignoring Bill at all. And Bob Lim on the side seemed to see something unclean and shook his head again and again.

Bob and Bill were Johny's Bob grew up with Johny, while Bill was Bob's friend. After the car accident, Johny decided to act like a vegetable, hoping that one day he could kill his enemy.

"It's time to wash your eyes, Bill. You should change into a woman." Bob joked.

Bill threw the microphone aside. "I don't like to come out with you two. One is too cold and the other is too gentle. You two are really boring."

Bob didn't want to look at Bill at all. Bill was a famous playboy. The three of them weren't the same kind of people.

"Johny, how is your bride?"

Bill immediately shook his head. "I was curious so I went to attend the ceremony that day. She is too ugly."

Bill liked beautiful women best and even those ordinary ones couldn't win his favor.

Johny just drank and said nothing.

Bob seemed to be aware of that, he knew Johny best, "What? Is that woman giving you trouble?"

"She is a big trouble."

Bill looked at Johny's face. "Johny, you have been single for so many years. Won't you change your mind because of that ugly monster, will you? My God, your taste is too bad!"

Johny frowned. If he told Bill that he was arisen by that woman, Bill would probably laugh at him.

Bob pestled Bill with his elbow and motioned him to shut up.

"A lot of trouble? If you cannot handle it, change your plan. You have pretended to be a vegetable for so many years, you should wake up."

"Right, right! So, we can play together! And we don't need to meet secretly anymore!" Bill echoed.

Bob's eyes became firm. "It has been three years, Johny, I think it's time for revenge."

Johny frowned and pondered.

