

The Alpha's Rejected Heir by Icon_Brat101 Chapter 7

Keshaun POV

I lay in my bed as the events of yesterday played over in my head. Rosalyn is back, she's also beautiful as I remember. Also, I can't believe I have a son, I knew he was mine the moment I laid eyes on him, I would feel proud except for the fact that he hates me, and it's obvious he doesn't want anything to do with this pack either, I can't blame him though I did reject his mother and I know I had hurt her all those years ago, as well as yesterday, I didn't mean to, I was just so angry she kept my son from me and I lost control to myself.

I sighed as I thought about the stuff he said to me, he's brave that no one threatens an alpha in front of his pack, and that stuff he said about taking down other packs before, I will remember to look into that later.

I rubbed my neck while deep in thought, my wounds healed instantly, seeing as I'm an alpha and he wasn't applying that much pressure just enough to keep me in place, I sighed as I got up from the bed, catching a glimpse of amber who laid beside me. I don't even know how she got in here, I keep telling her we're not together, but she has it in her head that she is Luna, I just give her attention when I need a release.

I head to the bathroom to freshen up, I was still in my clothes from yesterday and they were covered in dried blood. I was thinking of taking a long bath when I remembered that my parents are coming back today along with my little sister. I don't know how I'm gonna explain everything to them, plus I have a meeting in the afternoon with alpha Bailey. We're gonna sign an alliance for our packs as he has been experiencing rogue issues in the past couple of months and needs our help. I quickly washed my hair and body before hopping out of the shower, and heading back to my bedroom, as I opened the door I see amber awake in the bed.

"Good morning babe, did you sleep well"? She said trying to sound seductive, I just ignored her and went to my closet to get dressed.

After putting on some grey sweatpants and a black and grey long-sleeved shirt, I left the room to go into my office leaving her in the room. I was surprised when I saw Rosalyn and Alessandro sitting across from my desk.

Michael's POV

I'm still in shock from what happened yesterday, and so is everyone else in the pack, some are even angry at Alessandro for what he did to alpha black, but I'm in shock because I didn't know that he was my sister's mate. I knew she was rejected and by the way, I wasn't surprised when I found out she ran away.

Flashback...

"Michael!!!" I heard my dad calling.

"yes dad"

I answered wondering why he sounded so out of breath like he was running.

ADVERTISEMENT

"she's gone!" he said in a tone that sounded like he would burst into tears at any moment.

"what are you talking about, who's gone?" I asked

"Roselyn!" He yelled.

"My baby girl is gone. she didn't return from the alpha's party yesterday. I thought she stayed over at the packhouse maybe even found her mate but when I asked, no one had seen her and when I went to her room it was empty."

I looked at him like he grew three heads. I can't believe this Roselyn left? I know she hasn't had the best life, so I understand but I just wasn't expecting it. I mean am surprised it took her this long, she was taking everything mom threw at her like a champ. I just thought she would have stayed after enduring for so long, something must have happened. Why did she leave without saying goodbye? I just didn't know what....yet.

A couple of months after Roselyn left and no one could find her, They stopped searching, the alpha said it wasn't safe as we were having issues with rogues, but I never stopped searching, her dad started getting depressed, mom carried on as nothing happened. Some weeks later I got a call from an unknown number with a foreign area code, I answered skeptically but nearly burst from happiness when I heard the delicate voice of my baby sister.

"Michael?" She said through the phone

"Roselyn, is that you? omg, Roselyn, where have you been? I have been searching everywhere for you, oh gosh, Roselyn, I'm so sorry for everything, I'm sorry I was such a bad brother, I should have protected you from mom and I failed, can you ever forgive me and dad when into depression after you left, he barely talks eats or sleep." I began to rant

"Michael!! She yelled at me so I could let her speak.

I broke off from my rambling and let her explain. She told me she didn't run away because of our mother or me or dad, she ran away because her mate rejected her and it was too much to bear. I swore to kill whoever dared to reject her but she refused to tell me who it was, she told me she found a pack in Italy and that's where she lives now, they took her in and the alpha and Luna treat her like their daughter. After hearing that I felt relaxed that she was safe, we talked for a while, then she said she'd call me another time, I reluctantly said goodbye and hung up the phone.

End of flashback

Though dad and I are as guilty as a mom for rose's bad childhood, she eventually forgave me and dad and that's how we'd gotten closer over time. However, I didn't think the one who rejected her was alpha black, and to think he's Alessandro's father. When I had asked my sister about my nephew's father, she only said he wasn't a part of their life anymore and nothing else, I however didn't push the topic because I knew it was hard for her to talk about, if I had known it was him, I would have never asked her to come back here. I looked up as the door opened and my beautiful wife to be walked in, I quickly pulled her into my lap and nuzzled my head into her neck, breathing in her intoxicating scent as it helps to calm me down. I am gonna have to talk with Rosalyn and Alessandro as soon as they wake also I'm gonna head over to the alpha's office he has some explaining to do.

Rosalyn's POV

ADVERTISEMENT

I woke up wondering how I got in bed, then everything that happened yesterday came rushing back. Keshawn found out Alessandro was his son and as expected didn't take it too well, I, however, didn't expect Alessandro to attack him and threaten everyone else even if he did push me into a wall.

It's all my fault I never should have come back here even after all this time even after becoming so strong, I'm still the weak little girl like I was seventeen years ago, I didn't even realize I was crying until I heard Alessandro ask me what's wrong, he got up from his bed on the other side of the room and rushed to my side in an instant.

"Mom, what's wrong? are you OK? did anyone say something to you? tell me who it is, I swear to the moon goddess I will rip their throats out."

"Alessandro, am fine, I was just thinking and my emotions got the best of me"

I said with a smile to let him know I'm ok, he sighed in relief as I reattached him I was fine.

"Mom?"

He said in a low tone, I looked up at him to see his face filled with regret and disappointment

"I'm sorry about how I behaved yesterday, I know I lost control and behaved violently after I promised you I wouldn't, but I couldn't help it, he was hurting you and my wolf took over and I was so angry, I only wanted to protect you, I'm sorry I broke my promise, I hope you're not mad at me," he said hanging his head low.

"I'm not mad at you, son, and I understand why you did what you did. it's my fault, I shouldn't have made us come here in the first place, but you do know your gonna have to apologize to your father" I heard Alessandro growled at what I said.

"Alessandro," I say in a stern voice.

"He is the alpha and we are staying in his pack, am not saying you should like him talk to him or forgive him, but you need to apologize if we're gonna be staying in his territory"

He sighed in defeat as he agreed to what I said. After our talk, I took a shower and got dressed, then Alessandro and I went over to Keshawn's office. I knocked and James his third in command opened the door, he looked at me then at Alessandro.

"The alpha isn't in as yet but you guys can come in and have a seat, the alpha should be here any minute," he said as he left.

ADVERTISEMENT

I thanked him and we entered the room and took a seat in front of his desk, and waited. A few minutes later, Keshawn walked into his office, his eyes went as wide as saucers when he saw us, then his face became stoic as he closed the door and walked towards his desk to have a seat.

"Rosalyn," he said his face still blank with no emotion.

"I was not expecting you, how can I help you?"

I sighed internally then said "Alpha black I came to apologize for myself and my son's behavior yesterday"

I turned to Alessandro and he sighed before saying

"Alpha black I apologize for attacking you yesterday"

Keshawn looked taken back for a moment before nodding his head at us both, then said

"I must apologize for the way I acted, I was just in shock, it will never happen again"

"However" I heard Alessandro say cutting Keshawn off as we both looked at him.

"My promise still stands, if anyone hurts my mother I will kill them. Alpha, I'm not telling you this as a threat to your pack, but as a warning, so everyone can live in peace. While we're here for the month I ask that you keep your pack members in line, you are an alpha, you know what it's like to have an overprotective wolf, and how hard it is to control them, once someone you care for is hurt so keep your people in line, and we'll have no problems, also I would like to request a meeting with you, once your duties are completed, and you're not busy, we need to talk, you know where to find me when the time comes" he said as he got up and walked through the door.

I sighed and thought to myself

This month will be a long one.