

An Understated Dominance

Chapter 2464

“Master Foster.” Cyrus returned the greeting with a fist.

“Please.”

Katy used one hand to guide Cyrus and the others to sit down next to him.

“Please.”

Cyrus nodded and sat down with his three disciples.

The communication between the two was simple and polite.

Katy had just succeeded, and Cyrus rarely went out.

So far, this was the first time the two sides met, so naturally, they were not familiar with each other.

“Is this the master of the Sword Union? He is indeed extraordinary!”

Kassidy looked at Cyrus Hadley not far away, and a strange color flashed in her eyes.

She had heard her father mention the name Cyrus Hadley more than once.

Her father’s evaluation was that this person was arrogant and indifferent, but his swordsmanship was superb.

He was the most promising person to impact the land fairyland today.

“The Sword Union has a small population, but it can be on par with our Celestial Alliance. There is a reason for that.” Noemi sighed in a low voice.

The Sword Union first had the heroic leader Cyrus Hadley, and now there is a monster like Glenn Hadley.

In the next hundred years, it would only become more and more prosperous.

On the other hand, although the Celestial Alliance seemed prosperous, there were not many people who could be called masters.

The most important thing was that the Sword Union was united, while the Celestial Alliance was constantly fighting.

The major factions compete and suppress each other for the sake of interests.

Even her father, Alloy Marshall, as the leader of the sect, was still helpless and unable to change the status quo.

If this went on, the situation would only get worse and worse, and it might end up falling apart.

“Glenn Hadley!”

Looking at the young man carrying five swords, Fenley narrowed his eyes slightly, and the fighting spirit in his eyes was burning.

The relationship between the Sword Union and the Celestial Alliance had always been bad, and the two major sects often competed.

And Fenley was often compared with Glenn.

The problem was that since he became famous, he would always be suppressed by Glenn, which made him very unwilling.

This time he had the opportunity to compete on the same stage.

He must defeat Glenn openly in front of everyone to make a name for himself!

“Hmm?”

As if sensing something, Glenn Hadley, who was sitting in the stands, suddenly turned his head and looked over.

His sharp eyes, like a sword, pierced Fenley fiercely.

Fenley looked at him fearlessly.

The two men’s eyes collided in the air, interweaving a hot spark.
