

An Understated Dominance

Chapter 2472

“In that case, shall I show you my skills?” Dustin smiled slightly.

Under the expectant gazes of those around him, Dustin lightly stepped forward, soared into the air, and gracefully landed in the ring.

In an ordinary competition, such a feat would have been eye-catching.

But today, with so many celebrities gathered and contestants demonstrating extraordinary abilities, Dustin’s simple entrance seemed too plain.

It failed to spark any interest.

“That’s it?” Cassidy’s mouth twitched in disappointment.

She had expected something more impressive from Dustin.

“Dr. Rhys has always been low-key. It’s understandable,” Noemi said with an awkward smile. Perhaps her expectations had been too high.

“Move aside!”

A sudden loud shout echoed like thunder.

A massive black shadow hurtled through the air, smashing everything in its path.

Spectators who couldn’t dodge were knocked away as the black shadow created chaos.

Once it stopped, everyone saw it was a tall, muscular man with dark skin, wearing a black vest.

His presence was imposing, like a small mountain among children.

The man was George Bross, known as the Black Kong.

“What’s happening? Are foreigners allowed in this martial arts competition?”

“Judging by his entrance, he means trouble!”

“Humph! Let’s see how our Dragonmarsh warriors deal with him!”

George Bross’s appearance caused a stir.

It was the first time a foreigner had appeared in the competition, especially as a top 32 master.

George Bross stood on the ring, his eyes scanning the warriors contemptuously until they landed on Fenley.

A grim smile curled on his lips.

Without a word, he made a provocative gesture towards Fenley.

Fenley glanced at him calmly and ignored him.

To Fenley, George Bross was just a reckless man unworthy of special attention.

His ultimate target was Glenn Hadley.
