

Chapter 1097 I Just Don't Like You

Witnessing Liam's actions, Mateo boiled with rage.

Fuming with curses, Mateo desired to intervene and kill Liam immediately.

However, just as Mateo was about to act, Rodney stopped him, speaking in a commanding tone. "Mateo, the rules were agreed upon by all three groups. Are you trying to violate our agreement?"

Mateo's expression turned stormy. He yelled furiously, "Back off! Do you comprehend who Mr. Glyn is? If harm befalls him, the Guardian of Optimus won't spare you!"

Despite Mateo's mention of Cillian, Rodney remained steadfast. He sneered, "And? Rules are rules. You can't just break them!"

Rodney harbored a deep-seated dislike for Garrett, and he didn't hesitate to use the rules as an excuse to halt Mateo. Even if Cillian were to assign blame, Rodney was confident he wouldn't be held accountable.

In fact, Rodney relished the prospect of witnessing Garrett's defeat.

Meanwhile, Liam had dealt severe blows to Garrett.

Only then did Garrett grasp the situation. He was taken aback by Liam's hostility toward him.

He had always been someone who only picked on the vulnerable. Faced with Liam's intense animosity toward him, he was finally afraid. Trembling, he looked at Liam fearfully and spoke in a shaky voice. "What's the grudge between you and me? If we've had issues, we can discuss them civilly. No need for this violence!"

Despite his words, Garrett planned to take revenge on Liam after they left the maritime secret realm. He wanted to capture Liam, dismember him, and subject him to a fiery demise!

Liam remained composed upon hearing Garrett's plea. He responded nonchalantly, "I don't hold any grudges against you. I struck you simply because I dislike you. Any issues with that?"

Garrett trembled with rage at Liam's indifferent response and unleashed a roar. "Fuck you! You'll be the sworn enemy of my Glyn family! Your name is Kolton Gray, right? I won't rest until you meet your end in my hands!"

Garrett wasn't just cursing Liam; he was also insulting Mateo. He yelled, "Mateo, you're a complete loser! You'll also face consequences once I return!"

As Garrett raged and cursed, Shayla, who had lain motionless like a corpse on the ground, felt a sense of grim satisfaction seeing Garrett being beaten.

Shayla gazed at Liam for a moment.

Suddenly, Shayla's eyes narrowed as she sensed a connection with this man named Kolton!

In a heartbeat, tears welled up in Shayla's eyes. Her lips quivered as she whispered, "Could he be... Liam?"

Yet, as soon as this notion arose, Shayla promptly dismissed it.

She discovered that "Kolton" possessed the special power of the earth element. But Liam's mastery was in the special power of life.

Shayla believed that Liam, despite being a skilled cultivator, would find it challenging to master a second type of special power within a short timeframe.

Contemplating this, Shayla's heart brimmed with regret. Thoughts of Liam flooded her mind uncontrollably.

She earnestly wished for Liam to appear here, hoping he could save her.
