

Chapter 1165 Test My Sword

After tallying up all the loot from the Shadow Palace, Liam decided it was time to leave Shadow Valley.

The Shadow Palace had vanished, and remaining there seemed pointless.

Liam had a nagging suspicion that the Zephyr Ape might still be waiting for him at the Shadow Valley's exit. However, he was no longer afraid of it.

Armed with his dark aura domain and the Shadow Sword, Liam felt equipped to confront the Zephyr Ape. He believed he could at least defend himself.

Liam's thoughts drifted to Shayla and Laura. He wondered how they were faring in his absence.

Shayla, in particular, was counting on him to retrieve the Universe Crystal Dew to save her life, a responsibility that filled Liam with both urgency and concern.

Meanwhile, at one of the Shadow Valley's exits, the Zephyr Ape had been lying in wait for days.

It could still sense the purple mark it had left on Liam. It was a clear indication that Liam had survived the valley's dangers.

The Zephyr Ape was surprised by that. It hadn't expected a human to survive so long in such a treacherous place.

However, surviving the Shadow Valley was one thing; surviving an encounter with the Zephyr Ape was entirely another.

The Zephyr Ape was convinced Liam could not defeat it. It believed a human couldn't gain enough strength in just a few days to pose a real challenge to it.

Thus, the Zephyr Ape had been meticulously tracking the location of the purple mark to pinpoint Liam's position. It resolved that as soon as Liam was close to the Shadow Valley's exit, it would strike.

Liam had become almost an obsession for the Zephyr Ape.

It was resolute that upon sighting Liam, it would eliminate Liam at any cost, even if it meant chasing him to the very boundaries of Shadow Valley.

Lost in its vengeful thoughts, the Zephyr Ape's gaze sharpened suddenly.

It sensed the purple mark drawing nearer to the exit it guarded.

The Zephyr Ape's eyes were fixed on the exit.

Before long, Liam appeared.

The sight of Liam ignited a fierce killing intent within the Zephyr Ape. It pounded its chest, roaring furiously.

It had been awaiting this moment for days.

Without any hesitation, the Zephyr Ape charged forward.

Liam, having sensed the Zephyr Ape's presence before even reaching the exit, merely smirked.

As he had expected, the grudge-driven beast had been lurking outside the valley, waiting for him.

But now, Liam was much stronger; the thought of fearing the Zephyr Ape seemed absurd.

He immediately unleashed his dark aura domain, emitting a dense, threatening aura that instilled a deep, primal fear in the Zephyr Ape.

How had this human grown so powerful so quickly?

The influence of Liam's dark aura domain halted the Zephyr Ape's advance.

Without using his life-draining power, Liam drew the Shadow Sword.

The air at the Shadow Valley's exit crackled with a lethal chill.

His eyes fixed on the Zephyr Ape, Liam murmured to himself, "Today, you'll be the perfect target to test my sword!"
