

Chapter 1171 Look At Me

Nobody responded to Fulton's words. Instead, a sword blade thrust into the earth between Idris and Fulton, forcing them apart.

It was the Shadow Sword, taken directly from the Shadow Palace by Liam!

Upon seeing the sword, Susannah's and Idris's faces brightened immediately. They knew instantly who had come to their aid.

As they had guessed, Liam appeared beside the Shadow Sword in the next instant.

Fulton sized Liam up with a quick glance and dismissed him as a threat, realizing Liam's strength was below him. He quickly felt relieved.

"Just a nobody," Fulton scoffed, his anxiety fading away.

Then, Fulton taunted Liam, "How dare you attack me sneakily? You're just asking for trouble!"

Right after his taunt, Fulton charged at Liam with his spear.

Liam dodged with a nimble sidestep and used his Shadow Sword.

With a simple flick of his wrist, Liam sent Fulton staggering backward.

Facing the Shadow Sword up close, Fulton felt its fearsome power.

The blow wasn't lethal, but the impact had him coughing up blood, his insides quaking.

Startled and now taking Liam seriously, Fulton demanded, "Who the hell are you? How do you possess such an ordinary-grade weapon?"

Fulton's words focused everyone's gaze on the Shadow Sword in Liam's hand.

Idris, severely weakened and now relying on Liam for his very survival, stared at the sword with a mixture of envy and jealousy.

Susannah, however, showed a starkly different reaction; her face lit up with surprise and excitement.

She believed Kolton had come to her rescue.

Townsend didn't recognize Liam since Liam was disguised as Kolton now.

Looking at Liam, Townsend's brow furrowed in confusion and disapproval.

"Who does he think he is!" Townsend muttered, seething internally. He wondered if the man before him knew that he was trifling with the favored nephew of the Saint Society's Protector, Adamson.

Liam was now right in the spotlight, which only intensified Townsend's irritation.

Townsend's eyes flashed dangerously as he spat out, "You bastard, what's your name? Do you think you stand a chance against the Chapman family? You're courting death!"

Observing Townsend's haughty attitude, Liam narrowed his eyes.

Instead of verbalizing his name in response to Townsend's challenge, Liam let the Shadow Sword respond for him.

He lifted the sword, slicing the air thrice in rapid succession.

In the following moment, the sword erupted in a brilliant blaze. From the blade, three piercing beams of light shot forth, each with deadly precision.

Under Liam's meticulous command, the beams of light targeted the Chapman family's team, striking Fulton with lethal exactness.

The brilliance exploded like myriad suns igniting the sky, blinding all who tried to see the chaos unfolding.

When the light finally subsided, Susannah witnessed the devastation of Townsend's entire team. They were completely obliterated!

Even Fulton, renowned for his prowess as a sixth-rank peak warrior, lay grievously injured from Liam's ferocious sword light.

A deep terror filled Fulton's eyes as he grasped the serious threat Liam posed.

Even though holding an ordinary-grade weapon, he felt utterly defenseless against the overwhelming power of the Shadow Sword.

Fulton realized that today could very well be his last.

Observing Liam seriously injure Fulton with a singular strike, Townsend's expression turned to shock, acknowledging his grave misjudgment of Liam's

His attitude swiftly altered, and he forced a strained, friendly smile.

He hurriedly spoke, suggesting a truce. "Listen, let's pretend this never happened. We won't trouble Susannah or Idris further. What do you say to letting me leave? I promise if you let me go, you'll always have the Chapman family's utmost respect and welcome!"

As Townsend pleaded for leniency, a cold smirk spread across Liam's cold face.

Dropping his disguise as Kolton, he revealed his true identity to Townsend.

In a frosty tone, Liam said, "Townsend, look at me. Do you realize who I am now? We're sworn enemies. Did you really think I would simply let you walk away?"
