

Chapter 1120 An Unforeseen Matter

Liam's expression turned grim.

He understood what the Zephyr Ape was thinking about.

But he knew that the Zephyr Ape wasn't lying.

He was indeed in a dilemma now.

However, his resolve was still firm.

Entering Shadow Valley was his only shot at escaping the Zephyr Ape.

If he stayed at the edge of Shadow Valley, the Zephyr Ape could easily attack him.

His best hope for survival was deep inside Shadow Valley.

Liam understood that completely.

Under the Zephyr Ape's hostile glare, Liam strode into Shadow Valley without a second thought.

The Zephyr Ape, realizing his trap had failed, erupted in fury, growling.

As Liam moved towards Shadow Valley, the Zephyr Ape used every bit of its power.

A bright purple light flared from the Zephyr Ape's body, and its fist grew massively. It threw a punch straight at Liam's back.

The giant fist swung through the air, casting a shadow before slamming into Liam's back.

Liam hadn't expected the Zephyr Ape would go all out, even if it meant risking disturbing the dangerous creatures in Shadow Valley.

The blow hurled Liam into Shadow Valley, his red armor shattering into pieces from the force of the punch.

Even his special power of earth element was almost completely depleted, with just a faint flicker of energy remaining.

Liam couldn't use his red armor or the special power of the earth element for a while.

Liam had plummeted to the ground. Pain shot through his back as if his bones had shattered into a thousand pieces.

Liam soon passed out.

Meanwhile, a strange rustling sound echoed through Shadow Valley.

It wasn't loud, but the Zephyr Ape's sharp ears picked it up.

The Zephyr Ape's face grew tense, and its eyes flickered with fear as it glanced toward Shadow Valley.

It hesitated, thinking about whether it should risk going into Shadow Valley to finish off Liam.

After a long while, the Zephyr Ape decided it was too risky to enter Shadow Valley. It turned away and left.

From the Zephyr Ape's reaction, it wasn't just the raw power in Shadow Valley that scared it; it was afraid of a specific place in there.

At the same time, miles away in another part of the valley, Laura was caring for Shayla, who was unconscious.

She kept her eyes on the sky, watching the purple light.

When the light finally faded, Laura knew Liam was on the move.

Laura's eyes were filled with worry.

She had no idea whether Liam had made it or not.

Since there was nothing she could do, Laura made a decision.

She muttered, "If Liam isn't back in an hour, I'll take Shayla to Lotus Lake and find out what's happening!"

Liam's face was stuck in her mind, and she feared something terrible might have happened to him at Lotus Lake.

As Laura was feeling lost and unsure what to do, several vines in the valley started spreading silently across the ground toward her and Shayla.

Laura didn't realize anything was wrong until the vines had completely wrapped around her and Shayla, lifting them off the ground!

She exclaimed in shock.

But these vines weren't giving her any chance to fight back. They dragged her and Shayla swiftly away.
