

Chapter 1282 Liam's Strategy

With a single stroke of his sword, Liam had captivated Caden and other top figures, sparking deep analysis and appreciation for his skills.

This showed the sophistication and expertise of these prominent figures.

Caden, Lord of Rosefinch Galaxy, couldn't hide his joy.

The stronger Liam proved to be, the happier he would become.

In his mind, he envisioned a plan.

If Liam were to attract the attention of the Citadel Guardian of the City of Divinity and become his disciple, it would elevate the prestige of the entire Rosefinch Galaxy.

Although Caden held significant sway in Rosefinch Galaxy, his influence waned in the broader expanse of the Central Divine Domain, much less within the revered City of Divinity.

As Caden contemplated aligning with the City of Divinity using Liam, Chad re-entered the arena.

Liam had chosen to continue the challenge.

Chad's expression was dark.

This time, he had advanced to level ten with six stars.

He believed he could defeat Liam with his current strength this time.

Thinking of this, Chad's confidence surged anew.

He couldn't help but taunt Liam, "I've reached level ten with six stars now, Liam. You can't possibly defeat me this time! At this level, I have access to numerous Origin Techniques. My advice? Go all out and don't embarrass yourself in front of these big figures."

Liam responded with a grave nod, "I understand."

He knew Chad was right.

He was aware that he was about to reach his limit.

Liam had always respected Chad's talents, recognizing him as a talent.

Yet, with his current power level, Liam knew defeating Chad would be a formidable challenge.

As the duel commenced, Liam unleashed his full power—using the Power of Five Elements, his light elemental special power, the lava Origin Technique, and the sword of darkness.

Chad, as he had warned Liam, demonstrated significantly enhanced strength.

This time, the duel did not grant the audience the quick victory they had come to expect from Liam.

Their battle was grueling and evenly matched.

Chad, realizing he could hold his own against Liam for so long, secretly relished the challenge.

Because he felt he was finally regaining lost ground, which brought a smug satisfaction to his expression.

Below the stage, the spectators watched with bated breath as the intense fight unfolded.

Some started guessing the outcome: "It looks like this Liam guy is finally going to lose to Chad just as he nears his seventh straight win!"

"Yes! Chad is now a ten-level six-star Primogem Warrior, and Liam is just a ten-level one-star Primogem Warrior. No matter how impressive his talent and strength, he simply can't outlast Chad in an endurance battle!"

"What a pity! I really want to see if this guy can pull off a miracle!"

The murmurs of the crowd were unrelenting.

Most doubted Liam's ability to prevail over Chad this time.

However, Caden and Christos held a different view.

Setting aside their disputes, they exchanged a glance and expressed mutual confidence in Liam.

"Liam appears to have some hidden strengths!"

"Yes! I see it, too!"

Within the arena, Liam and Chad competed in multiple rounds without discovering a definitive advantage.

Soon, Liam adjusted his strategy.

Unable to find a vulnerability in Chad to exploit, he decided to exhaust his opponent's stamina.

If he could sufficiently drain Chad's energy, victory was attainable for him!

With determination in his eyes, Liam resolved on his course of action.

The next moment, he invoked his earth elemental special power, imposing a hundredfold gravitational magnetic field on Chad.

When Chad felt the familiar pressure, his expression hardened.

He quickly grasped Liam's strategy and couldn't help but smirk.

He said, "Liam, are you attempting to wear me down in a test of endurance? My endurance far surpasses yours! It would be wise for you to give up this strategy!"

Liam grinned. "How will I know if this strategy works if I don't try it?"

Chad remained silent, concentrating his primogem energy to resist the gravitational magnetic field.

Knowing that yielding to the field's pressure would leave him vulnerable, Chad couldn't overlook it, even though he knew Liam's strategy was to sap his primogem energy.

Seeing Chad's reaction, Liam couldn't help but smile.

This was his strategy.

Even if the opponent recognized his intentions, they had no choice but to follow his plan and deplete their own primogem energy.

Liam maintained the relentless pressure with the gravitational magnetic field, giving Chad no easy escape.

This tactic continued for nearly an hour. Eventually, Liam's face showed signs of fatigue, a clear indication that his primogem energy was dwindling.

Chad, though also nearing the end of his energy reserves, was faring slightly better.

Spotting Liam was tired, Chad smirked as he chuckled. "Liam, have you run out of tricks?"

However, just as Chad voiced his taunt, Liam's complexion rapidly regained its color.

It turned out he had anticipated his own energy running low and had prepared his World Power to replenish his primogem energy.

In an instant, Liam was restored to full strength.

Chad was left dumbfounded.

He couldn't believe Liam had been able to do that.

Rejuvenated, Liam didn't hesitate.

"Take it!"

With a decisive move, he eliminated Chad, whose primogem energy had been depleted.

Back in the preparation area, Chad wore a bitter expression.

He hadn't expected that Liam, only with the strength of level ten with one star, possessed such terrifying burst power and stamina!

Chad couldn't help but mutter, "What a freak! But Liam, I will defeat you in our next battle!"

Having been defeated by Liam multiple times, Chad was beginning to grow numb to the experience.
