

Chapter 1239 Leave My Former Life Behind

After bidding farewell to his master and Carlden, Liam traveled to the towns of Ninverton, Salem, and Pleeyson.

He visited his friends and those who supported him.

Liam also made a special visit to the graves of Julie's parents.

Even though Liam had never had a good expression of Julie's parents, they were still Julie's family.

Then, Liam arrived at his last destination.

He was in the ancestral hall of the Hoffman family.

There, in the center of the hall, Liam knelt and prayed to his grandfather for five minutes. Afterward, he bowed deeply.

With a heavy heart, Liam said, "Grandpa, I've avenged our Hoffman family! The Saint Society and Adamson on Blue Star are no more! But I still have a lot of things to do. Rohan gave Julie and Asher to the Blood Clan of the Cosmic realm. I must travel to the Cosmic realm to save them! So now, I must truly leave Blue Star and my former life behind!"

Liam would be lying if he said he wasn't nervous.

He was about to confront some powerful enemies.

A gentle breeze stirred through the ancestral hall of the Hoffman family.

It seemed to echo Sergio's reply to Liam.

Liam's gaze became determined, and he said, "Also, Grandpa, I found something! In the Cosmic realm's Human Clan, there is an Emperor Hoffman. After much speculation and confirmation, I believe Emperor Hoffman might be my father! Besides, my master mentioned a respected female Primogem equipment maker among the Cosmic realm's Human Clan who looks a lot like me! Grandpa, I will find my biological parents! If you truly are in heaven, please bless me with success in this quest!"

With these words, Liam carefully poured out the wine in his hand, as if offering a drink to Sergio.

After completing all his tasks, Liam left the ordinary realm of Blue Star.

He led Laura and Shayla to the center of the earth.

With Lancy's guidance, Liam and his companions went to a secluded spot to focus on their training.

Time flew by.

Liam, Laura, and Shayla had spent fifteen years here, honing their skills.

Yet in the outside world, only a year and a half had elapsed.

During this time, Liam's presence grew more formidable.

He had been at the peak of level nine for several years.

He was just a step away from becoming a level-ten Primogem Warrior.

But this final step proved challenging for Liam to master.

Despite the hurdles, Liam was not discouraged.

He discovered through years of study that to advance and become a level-ten Primogem Warrior, he needed to forge his own Origin Technique.

It meant that Liam would create the Origin Technique using everything he had learned throughout his life.

This type of Origin Technique would match perfectly with the Primogem Warrior who had made it.

It would naturally align perfectly with its creator and evolve as the creator grew stronger.

Lancy had shared this crucial insight with him.

However, after more than a year of trying to decipher it, Liam still couldn't grasp the core principles of creating his own Origin Technique.

As time passed, and with him unable to get the hang of it, he couldn't help but get anxious.

If he could grasp the technique to create his own Origin Technique sooner, he could become a level-ten Primogem Warrior earlier. That way, he could also rescue Julie and Asher sooner!

Certainly, Liam wasn't interested in taking his time to understand it.

So, one day, he finished his cultivation.

He approached Lancy and sought her advice. "Lancy, despite all my efforts, I've yet to find a way to develop my own Origin Technique. You have a wealth of experience and knowledge. Could you give me some advice? I don't want to waste any more time!"
