

Chapter 1329 A Desperate Situation

Liam faced Tom's scolding and intense killing intent without flinching. He replied calmly, "You can't even discipline your own son, so I disciplined him for you. Should I have just let Jason kill me without resisting?"

Tom sneered and shouted, "You're just a nobody! Killing you is a trivial matter! My family is powerful here. Your biggest mistake was having conflicts with Jason! Now that I've found you, the one responsible for my son's death, your end is near!"

A fierce gleam flashed in Tom's eyes, and as his words ended, he launched a powerful palm strike.

At the Primogem Emperor level, practitioners could establish a connection with the world, imbuing every move with the power of the heavens and earth.

Though Tom didn't use his full strength, his palm strike still left a thick, oppressive trail in the air.

Confronted with this force, Liam felt suffocated, his primogem energy and law powers heavily suppressed.

Liam realized that if Tom's strike hit him, he would be killed instantly.

At this critical moment, a figure dashed from beside Liam.

It was Everett, who, in an attempt to protect Liam, intercepted the fatal blow with his own body.

"Ah!"

Everett was severely injured, collapsing to the ground in agony, blood streaming from his mouth.

Liam's heart clenched as he rushed to support Everett.

Tom, now appearing less hurried to kill Liam, sneered, "An ant trying to topple a tree! Even though you are a seventh-stage Primogem King, so what? In front of me, you're as fragile as paper! I gave you both a chance to grasp the situation earlier. Since you chose to stand by this fool, you'll perish with him!"

Chad stepped in, positioning himself in front of Liam, and yelled at Tom, "Old man, do you know who he is? If you kill him, your entire Astron family will suffer the consequences!"

Tom laughed mockingly. "Do you think you can intimidate me? Don't assume a bit of talent puts you on par with the Astron family! I don't care who is backing you. Here, in the No. 75 planetary system, the Astron family makes the rules! Anyone who defies us will meet their end!"

As he finished, Tom's murderous intent surged. He commanded his people, "Kill them! These two naive people should die! As for the bastard who killed Jason, I'll handle him myself! I'll ensure he regrets ever crossing the Astron family!"

At this tense moment, a figure appeared on the horizon, shouting in anger, "The Astron family? Your Astron family is nothing!"
