

Chapter 1331 Timely Intervention

After receiving the order from Tom, the warriors of the Astron family quickly formed two teams to encircle Arthur, Liam, and the others.

Tom personally led two Primogem Emperors of the Astron family to attack Arthur.

Despite Arthur's strength, he was outnumbered and soon found himself on the brink of defeat.

In a critical moment, Tom landed a potentially fatal blow to Arthur's chest.

Luckily, Arthur reacted swiftly, summoning his law power to shield himself. Otherwise, he would have been on the verge of death because of this.

Although he had shielded himself successfully, the impact had severely disrupted his breathing, and he teetered on the edge of defeat.

"Since you dare oppose our Astron family, be prepared to meet your end!" Tom bellowed, poised to deliver a fatal strike to Arthur.

A bitter smile appeared on Arthur's face. He hadn't anticipated that his decision to protect Liam might lead to his own demise.

Yet, he didn't regret his decision to protect Liam. He was a person who valued kindness and help. Since he owed a favor to Liam, he was determined to repay it.

Just as Arthur closed his eyes, ready to accept his death, the space in front of him suddenly warped.

Chapter 1331 Timely Intervention  +120 Points at most

The next moment, a figure materialized and effortlessly countered Tom's lethal strike with a casual blow.

Feeling the movement before him, Arthur opened his eyes.

The more Arthur studied the figure's back before him, the stronger his sense of familiarity grew. He felt he had seen this person somewhere before.

After a moment, realization dawned on him, and he exclaimed, "Thank you for saving me, Lord of Rosefinch!"

The rescuer was none other than Caden, the Lord of Rosefinch.

Caden had been in seclusion when he received a secretive message from Everett.

Learning that Liam was in peril, he had hastened to the secret realm of Feathered Gold.

Noticing Liam unharmed, Caden breathed a sigh of relief, grateful that his intervention was timely.

He couldn't bear the thought of facing reproach from Christos or the guilt he would feel if Liam was harmed.

Noticing Everett's severe injuries, Caden swiftly retrieved a top-tier healing pill and administered it to Everett.

Caden was concerned that Everett's injuries might permanently impair his talents. While Everett's abilities might not have matched Liam's, he was still recognized as a talented person within the Rosefinch Galaxy.

Meanwhile, realization dawned on Tom when he recognized Caden.

His heart raced with panic.

Tom knew well the rule against harming fellow members of the Human Clan. Such acts were considered as severe as betrayal.

Sweating profusely and with a sense of urgency, Tom prepared

Chapter 1331 Timely Intervention  +120 Points at most to defend his actions.

However, Caden, sensing his intent, raised a hand to silence him coldly.

Caden said sarcastically, "There's no need for explanations. Your Astron family is the ruler of the No. 75 planetary system. How could I possibly intervene in your affairs? Why don't you show me the full extent of your family's power? Try to take my life as well."

Tom nearly collapsed in fear at Caden's words.

He was well aware that Caden, a Primogem Saint, was far more powerful than him, a mere Primogem Emperor. Besides, his intention to kill Liam had been exposed. He believed Caden probably wanted to kill him now.

Disheartened and fearful, Tom hastily pleaded for mercy. "I am at fault this time. I'm so sorry. Please spare our Astron family!" he said.

As he spoke, Tom's eyes shifted as he quickly formulated a plan. At present, the most effective way to make Caden less angry at him was to shift the blame to someone else.

Tom quickly pointed at Liam. "The situation isn't as simple as it seems. This man, Liam, unjustly killed my youngest son, Jason, during a mission. I was merely seeking justice for an unwarranted attack! I know I shouldn't kill my fellow members of the Human Clan, but this man killed my son first. Please, I implore you to administer justice!"

After saying that, Tom was smug about his manipulation.

He was well aware of his son Jason's tendencies to instigate trouble; it was likely Jason's actions had led to his own demise.

But now that Jason was dead, Liam's version of events would not be enough to convince Caden.

Tom believed he could easily discredit Liam's side of the story.

Chapter 1331 Timely Intervention

+120 Points at most

However, as Tom finished his words, the expressions of Chad and Everett shifted. They looked at Tom as if he were nothing more than a fool.

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

 I want no ads >