

Married At First Sight Chapter 3531

Married At First Sight Chapter 3531-3535

Married At First Sight Chapter 3531-“The old man said that he would arrange for Dr. Carden to come over in two days and accompany us to Jensburg,” Audrey said. “With Dr. Carden accompanying us, we can rest assured.”

Uncle Jimenez was very old, and a long journey was frightening for him. They feared he might not be able to catch his breath and pass away. With Dr. Carden or the old miracle doctor accompanying them, they felt more at ease.

“Dr. Carden often has to go out to treat people. Seren will not suspect anything if she is away for a few days,” Audrey continued. “If Seren was not pregnant, we wouldn’t hide this from her. The child is important, so it’s better to keep this from her.”

Uncle Jimenez agreed that they should keep it from Serenity, especially since it took her a year after marriage to get pregnant. It was not easy for her, and she was under great pressure. If she knew that Jensburg had reached a moment of decisive battle, she would definitely be restless and might insist on going.

That was an outcome no one wanted. With so many of them, they should be able to deal with the Farrell family without a pregnant woman’s help.

“The other seniors will also come here with Dr. Carden in two days.”

After a moment of silence, Uncle Jimenez said gratefully, “They saved my life. For decades, they have taken care of me, guiding me and looking after me meticulously. If it weren’t for them, I wouldn’t be alive today. Now, everyone is old, and I still need them to run around for me. I can never repay them for what I owe in this life. If there is an afterlife, I am willing to work like a slave for them.”

Uncle Jimenez looked at Audrey again and pleaded, “Audrey, you must build good relationships with the big brother’s disciples in the future and interact with them like family.”

Without waiting for Audrey to answer, he pleaded with Finnegan: “Audrey, I have watched you grow up and regard you as my grandchildren. As long as I avenge the head of the family, I have no other wishes. But I hope that after I leave, you can keep in touch with our Miss Harlow and her two daughters. They are my worries. I don’t need you to help them with anything, just get along with them like family.”

“Uncle Jimenez, I will,” Audrey responded.

Keeping in touch with these influential individuals who travel around the world was something Audrey desired.

In Wiltspoon, the Stone family was one of the most powerful noble families, with their business spread across major cities. There were many families more powerful than the Stone family.

Even Finnegan, with his vast network of contacts and information, was more powerful than the Bucham family. It could be said that Finnegan's information network was equivalent to three Bucham families. He had many masters and elites under him, and he was involved in various industries. His power, connections, and wealth far surpassed those of the Stone family.

Even the York family was not as influential as the Five Emperors Hall.

The Five Emperors Hall was a mysterious organization founded by several old predecessors and was jointly managed by five leaders, each with their own duties. Finnegan had taken over the position of his master, Ezequiel.

Many people wanted to make friends with these influential individuals. How could Audrey not cherish this opportunity?

To be honest, after leaving Wiltspoon, the Stones would not have such a significant presence.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3532-Finnegan said in a low voice, "Grandpa Jimenez, in the future, as long as the York, Stone, and Lewis families need our help, we brothers and sisters will never stand idly by. As long as they don't break off contact with us, we will never break off contact with them."

They didn't know Uncle Jimenez's real name. When they were young, they called him Grandpa because Master said Uncle Jimenez was the oldest.

Now that Audrey called him Uncle Jimenez, they followed suit and called him Grandpa Jimenez.

The eldest young lady of the York family was Serenity, and Serenity's biological mother Harlow was the second daughter of the previous head of the Farrell family. Liberty would be the fourth young lady of the Lewis family in the future, holding the same status as Serenity.

As for the Stone family, because Audrey was the eldest daughter of the previous head of the Farrell family, the York, Stone, and Lewis families were the families the Five Emperors Hall was willing to maintain long-term contact with.

They all respected Uncle Jimenez.

Finnegan had never had any interactions with these three families, but after Ezequiel came to Wiltspoon, he investigated all the wealthy families there. He knew that the four major families of York, Stone, Lewis, and Bucham were like overlords in Wiltspoon, and generally, no one dared to provoke them.

The heads of the four major families could also restrain their families and ensure they didn't get into trouble easily. Although they were good at doing business, they had never committed crimes.

In addition to the four major families, there was also the Marshall family. However, the Marshall family was relatively low-key and not as famous. Nevertheless, if the Marshall family held a banquet, the four major families would attend, showing them respect.

Finnegan was happy to interact with such families. They wouldn't drag their feet or cause trouble for everything. They also had good abilities, able to solve big and small problems together without disturbing the Five Emperors Hall often.

Therefore, when Mr. Jimenez made a request, Finnegan readily agreed.

"When will Lilian come?" Mr. Jimenez asked Finnegan.

"Tonight at the earliest, tomorrow at the latest."

With the master helping take care of the baby, Dr. Lilian Carden could go anywhere she wanted.

Although she was a mother, the mother and son hadn't developed a deep relationship.

Given the choice between going out to treat patients and staying in the villa to take care of the baby, Lilian chose the former.

Master liked taking care of children and regarded Fabian as her lifeblood, so she asked Master to help her take care of the child.

Mr. Jimenez said to Audrey, "After Lilian comes, let's set off. I want to go see the head of the family first."

In the past, when he was younger, he would sneak back to Jensburg Cemetery to pay homage to the head of the family every Qingming Festival and on the head of the family's death anniversary.

Later, he was suspected by Clarissa, who was waiting in the cemetery, intending to kill him again.

After Silver Fox discovered this, he wasn't allowed to return to Jensburg. To this day, he hadn't returned to pay homage to the head of the family for thirty or forty years.

The head of the family's cemetery wouldn't be desolate, but the person who went to burn incense and send flowers every year was the murderer who killed the head of the family.

Presumably, the head of the family wasn't happy to see the murderer.

After the matter was resolved, the head of the family wouldn't have to see the murderer anymore.

Even if Clarissa died, she wouldn't be buried in the cemetery of the Farrell family's ancestors.

After learning about her life, Audrey returned to Jensburg to pay homage to her parents.

Mr. Jimenez's request aligned with Audrey's plans, so she didn't refuse.

"Actually, I can still hold on. We don't need to wait for Lilian to come. We can go there now. If you're worried that I can't take a plane, we can take the high-speed rail or drive ourselves. Just treat it as a road trip and rest when we get tired."

Uncle Jimenez was still in Wiltspoon, but his heart had already flown back to Jensburg.

Audrey said, "Uncle Jimenez, you've waited this long; one or two more days won't make a difference."

Married At First Sight Chapter 3533- "That's right, Grandpa Jimenez. It's okay to wait for another day or two. How about we explore around with you?" Leland echoed his mother's words.

Even Finnegan agreed. "Grandpa Jimenez, Aunt Audrey is right. We've waited for decades. It won't matter if we wait for another day or two. Your health is more important. Lilian will probably arrive tonight. Since she had the baby, she wants to go out every day. She says her son likes to cry and cause trouble."

Finnegan smiled, "Little Fabian is like Lilian when she was a child. She liked to cry and cause trouble too."

"Why do I remember Lilian being easy to take care of?" Uncle Jimenez's memory of Lilian as a child was from when she was two or three years old. At that age, Lilian didn't cry much, was very well-behaved, and had an excellent memory. She could remember whatever she was taught, even if she couldn't fully understand it at the time.

After remembering, she would slowly process it herself.

Finnegan was nearly ten years older than Lilian. When the old doctor adopted Lilian, he was in the first grade of junior high school.

He remembered how his master liked Lilian and wanted to take her as his apprentice. Despite already having many disciples, he wanted to take on the disciple of the miracle doctor. It was a challenging situation.

However, Lilian learned some martial arts from her master.

In fact, all of their generation's martial arts were taught by the five elders. Their martial arts training was very diverse and encompassed more than one faction.

Later, Lilian's talent for medicine became apparent, and she also loved making poisons. Every small animal at home was used for her experiments.

Many small animals were poisoned to death by her, and some were saved by her.

As she grew older, the number of animals she experimented on increased rapidly. Sometimes, when there were no small animals left, she would use them, the people around her, for her tests.

As a result, several masters, Finnegan, and others did not dare to visit the miracle doctor's valley. As soon as they heard Lilian was coming, they would flee, fearing they would be caught for poison testing.

Even testing medicine had its risks. The medicine she developed always needed repeated tests to be successful.

All medicines contain some poison, and they believed this completely.

In short, Lilian transformed from a well-liked little girl into a feared poison master. However, those who didn't know the truth still worshipped her as a miracle doctor.

Her medical skills were indeed inherited from the true teachings of miracle doctors.

In fact, she was most powerful when using poison. The fact that Camryn, the second young lady of the York family, had her eyes cured so quickly proved that Lilian was unbeatable when it came to poison.

"She loved to cry a lot. You might not remember, but I have a vivid memory. She cried day and night, and it was so noisy. However, don't tell Lilian about these things. I'm afraid she'll get upset and make me speechless for a month."

To deal with people who talked too much, Lilian would flick her fingers and poison them, rendering them temporarily mute. This could last from three to five days, or even up to three to five months.

Everyone laughed.

Audrey added, "Babies cry a lot before they can talk because they can only cry when they're uncomfortable, hungry, thirsty, or have a dirty diaper. If they don't cry, how would adults know what's wrong? They'll cry less as they grow older."

Fabian, who was being ridiculed for crying as much as his mother did as a baby, was actually crying at that very moment.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3534

Married At First Sight Chapter 3534-His cry was so loud it could be heard from the fourth room to the main house.

Lilian, who did not go out that day, took her crying son from the nanny's arms and asked, "Did he poop?"

"No, I just changed his diaper."

"He just ate not long ago, so why is he crying? It's so annoying. He cries during the day and night. Can't I have some peace?"

Lilian hugged her son and tried to soothe him. She asked the nanny, "Where is his father?"

"The fourth young master should be with the eldest young master."

Because the old doctor and his friends came today, as well as the eldest young lady Serenity of the York family, the brothers Ben did not return to the company and waited for the arrival of several seniors in the villa.

Lilian said to the nanny, "Okay, I'll take him to play with his brothers and sisters."

Although Fabian's brothers and sisters were still little kids, they enjoyed being together, looking at each other, sometimes crying together, and often playing together.

But Fabian was a few months younger than them and couldn't sit yet, so he could only lie in the crib. He would cry for adults to hold him after just a few minutes.

Avah and Enzo could sit and were learning to crawl.

Laurel's two sons were even more advanced; they could walk before they were one year old. The two boys were very naughty. Once they started crawling, they would rummage around, often making a mess at home.

The servants in Laurel's household spent a lot of time cleaning up every day. Now that the boys could walk, they were even more mischievous.

Four nannies looked after the two brothers, but they couldn't fully control them or prevent them from causing trouble.

Children are curious about everything. Laurel believed that children's natural curiosity should not be stifled. They should be allowed to explore and play as long as it wasn't dangerous. Therefore, the nannies had a tiring job. However, the salary from the Johnson family was high, so they were happy to do it despite the fatigue.

"You don't have to follow me. My master is here. With my master taking care of this kid, he is very obedient. I seriously suspect that this kid wanted to reincarnate into my master's womb. But since my master is an old man and men can't get pregnant, he had to reincarnate into my belly.

I carried him for ten months and took care of him during the confinement period, yet I can't soothe him. When my master takes care of him, he is very obedient. My master always scolds me for being impatient and not knowing how to take care of a baby.

He scolds me for wrongly accusing this kid, saying that he is very obedient while I always complain he's difficult to care for and cries."

Lilian complained about her son.

The nanny was speechless. She wanted to say that Fabian wasn't actually that difficult to care for.

He wouldn't cry if he was well fed and watered, in clean diapers, and someone held him.

If left lying in the crib by himself, he would cry unless he was asleep.

When Lilian took care of the baby, she often let him lie alone in the crib. Naturally, Fabian cried.

During the confinement period, she held him a lot. The baby was very smart. Being held was comfortable and safe. Babies liked to be held.

They would cry if they weren't held.

Lilian carried Fabian out.

The nanny did not follow.

Lilian did not need them to follow, so they could take a breath and rest.

Fortunately, there were many people in FC Manor, and the owner often took care of the baby himself.

Relatively speaking, Fabian's nanny was not as tired as the other three nannies.

Fabian stopped crying when his mother held him. He even smiled at her.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3535-Lilian pinched Fabian's face with amusement, "I want to hold you. Who has time to hold you all the time? It's your dad who spoils you. He always holds you during the confinement period."

When Tim first became a father, he would hold the child as soon as he cried. Because he was used to holding the child, Fabian was easily awakened and cried when he was away from the arms of adults.

"And your grandpa also spoils you. He is the one who spoils you the most." Fabian smiled at Lilian.

Lilian's heart softened at the smile, and she kissed Fabian's little face. She felt that his skin was very tender, and she couldn't help but bite it again.

She thought she didn't bite hard, but her son soon flattened his mouth and burst into tears.

Lilian said, "Son, mom just bit you gently. Who told you that your skin is so smooth and tender? Mom couldn't help it, and didn't bite hard, but you still screamed and howled. Knowing that your grandpa is coming, are you ready to complain?"

After muttering, Lilian hurriedly coaxed Fabian.

She also used her hands to wipe Fabian's bitten face because there were some red marks. She was afraid that the master would come and see and scold her.

Fabian was crying and hard to comfort. He really felt that his mother bit him, so he kept crying.

Lilian, as a mother, didn't know how to comfort a baby. After a while, she couldn't comfort him, so she gave up and ran to the main house of the center with Fabian in her arms.

The servants were not surprised to see this scene. In their eyes, Lilian was the worst at taking care of a baby.

Fabian was already four or five months old, but Lilian still couldn't take care of him. When she took care of the baby, Fabian would cry non-stop.

"Why is Fabian crying again?"

As soon as they arrived at the door of the main house, the fourth Mrs. Johnson came out. She heard the cry of her grandson in the house.

“Fabian wants to find his father.”

When Lilian saw her mother-in-law, she felt like she saw a savior and quickly handed Fabian to her.

The fourth Mrs. Johnson took the precious grandson in her arms. Seeing the tears on her grandson’s tender face, she felt distressed.

“Fabian, stop crying. Grandma will hold you. Why is one side of Fabian’s face a little red?”

The fourth Mrs. Johnson wiped the tears from her grandson’s face and found that one side of his face was a little red.

Lilian didn’t dare to say that she bit the child. Anyway, there was no tooth mark now, so she lied and said, “I carried him here. Maybe he was bitten by a mosquito on the way.”

“No wonder he kept crying. He must have been bitten by a mosquito.”

The fourth Mrs. Johnson looked at her daughter-in-law. “It’s winter, where are there mosquitoes? We often spray pesticides to get rid of mosquitoes and insects. There are few mosquitoes in the yard.”

It was not summer. There were many mosquitoes in summer.

“It’s not cold in winter in Annenburg. No matter how you cool down, the lowest temperature is 7 or 8 degrees. Like now, it’s more than 10 degrees, so there are mosquitoes.”

Anyway, Lilian didn’t admit that she bit Fabian. Well, she’s afraid that the elders in the family will say something to her. If the elders don’t say anything to her, her master will scold her when he comes. How could she know that it’s so difficult to take care of a child?

Sometimes when she complained to her husband, Tim would reply that Fabian was the one she wanted because she slept with him and got him. She originally wanted to get rid of the father and keep the son. Now she thinks that her son is difficult to raise. Of course, it is not easy to give birth to and raise a child.

She thought that a child is like a balloon that will grow big once it is blown up, and it takes a lot of effort to raise a child and cultivate him into a useful person.

The fourth Mrs. Johnson touched the red spot on her grandson's face, looked at it carefully, and then carried her grandson into the house, saying to him as she walked, "Fabian, don't cry. Your mother is lying to grandma. Grandma is not old and her eyes are not blurry. I can see it."