

Chapter 2102 Myrna Is The Culprit

---

The hospital's test results arrived soon.

It turned out that Janet was poisoned because of the amulet Lexi wore.

"What else do you have to say?" Brandon's eyes filled with malice and suspicion threw the examination report in Lexi's face.

The report slid down Lexi's face and dropped onto the cold tiles with a soft plop.

Lexi collapsed to the floor, her legs giving out. As she wiped her tears and shook her head, she pleaded, "I swear I didn't know anything about this!"

By the end of her plea, Lexi's voice was nearly a scream, tears streaming from her swollen eyes.

Now sitting on the sofa to rest, Janet watched Lexi's breakdown. She was at a loss for words and felt a little distress.

"You're still trying to deny it, aren't you?" The anger in Brandon's eyes turned into a deadly glare.

Just as he was about to call a bodyguard, Janet grabbed his hand.

Their eyes met, and Janet saw the anger in Brandon's furrowed brow and shook her head.

"Don't get mad just yet."

"Go get some rest."

They both spoke simultaneously.

Ignoring Brandon, Janet repeated, "I don't think it's as simple as it seems. Let me talk to Lexi, okay?"

Brandon remained silent.

After a moment, he turned around.

Janet took this as a sign of Brandon's agreement.

She smiled and asked the butler, "Do you have tissues?"

"Yes."

The butler fetched some tissues from a table and handed them over.

At that moment, everyone suspected Lexi of being the culprit, casting hostile glares her way.

Only Janet seemed unconvinced.

Approaching Lexi, Janet offered her the tissues and said, "Don't cry now. Wipe your tears."

Lexi clenched her lips, took the tissues with shaking hands, and dabbed at her eyes.

Then, Lexi looked up into Janet's eyes and asked, "Do you believe me?"

Lexi's tears seemed to beg for Janet's trust as if Janet was her only hope.

Janet sighed upon hearing this. "Lexi, I trust you wouldn't harm me, but the amulet is poisonous."

"It wasn't me! I swear it wasn't me! A woman named Myrna gave those to me!" Lexi eagerly interrupted Janet, her eyes filled with tears.

"Could you tell me more about this woman who gave you the amulet?" Janet asked.

Lexi nodded eagerly and provided all the details she knew about her neighbor.

Brandon, listening nearby, suspected there was something off about Myrna.

Previously, Sonia warned him about Alexandra's cunning nature. He might try to harm Janet and possibly even arrange someone close to her.

With this in mind, Brandon quickly ordered his bodyguards to look into Myrna.

Lexi was slow to catch on, but she now understood she was being manipulated. She describes all the details of how Myrna had gone out of her way to show concern for her.

"Myrna seemed unusually interested in my job," Lexi said to Janet.

"Did you share everything with her?" Janet asked.

Lexi nodded regretfully.

Suddenly, she remembered something else and turned to Brandon, saying, "Also, Myrna gave me a sachet a few days ago, and I left it in the studio."

Upon hearing this, Brandon turned and instructed one of his bodyguards.

"Go to the studio immediately and take the sachet to the

Chapter 2102 Myrna Is The Culprit
hospital for testing.*

 +120 Points at most

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

 I want no ads >

100.0%

14:23 