

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1751

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1751 -Sea View Villa Area.

As long as Dalton and Camryn talked about work matters, they would always be in the sea view villa, and the people there were selected by Dalton for Camryn.

Although Camryn was the head of the Newman family, the butler and maids were invited back by Mrs. Newman. They had been with Mrs. Newman for many years, and they were more emotionally inclined to Mrs. Newman.

Camryn thought about replacing everyone. Considering that her eyes had not been healed yet, if she replaced them, she would hire new ones. She didn't know each other, and she didn't understand, so it was even less safe.

Now these people's attitude towards Camryn was already respectful on the surface. In fact, their hearts were more inclined to her younger brother, Trenton, especially the butler. There was a kind of guarding the house for Mr. and Mrs. Newman, so that Trenton could take over everything safely.

In the study, Camryn held a meeting for the senior managers, while Dalton sat aside to assist.

She couldn't see it, but she had a very good memory. She remembered everything that the secretary and Dalton told her, no matter how big or small.

The secretary was hired by Dalton for Camryn, not the secretary next to her stepfather.

Camryn had already fired his stepfather's secretary. That woman was interested in her stepfather, but Dalton said that it was the other party's wishful thinking. Mr. Newman had no intention of eating wild flowers, and his feelings for Mrs. Newman were still very specific.

After the meeting, Dalton saw that there was no water in her glass, so he took the glass and got up to pour her a glass of warm water.

"Are you tired?"

Dalton said distressedly: "Trenton has already graduated from high school; you can bring him along so that he understands Newman's business and isn't as tired."

Still couldn't get forgiveness.

Everyone thought she was taking over the Newman family's property.

Dalton knew that Camryn was not that cruel, she had always said that she would take everything back, but in fact, she would give her brother what he deserved.

President Newman and his wife killed her father because of family property and personal relationship issues. Her revenge on the couple was to take over Newman's business besides making them accept legal punishment.

The couple knew that all of Newman's business fell into her hands, and they probably would vomit blood in prison.

Mentioning his younger brother, Camryn felt a little guilty, and said, "After Trenton found out everything, he stayed at a classmate's house and refused to meet me. I have tried to find him countless times, but it was useless. In the family, I feel the most sorry is Trenton. Trenton is sensible, but they are also his biological parents. He can't accept the fact that I and his biological parents are tearing apart. I can understand him and won't blame him."

Dalton said comfortingly: "Give him some time, and he will slowly accept the reality."

Camryn sighed. She waited and waited until Trenton was older, wiser, and a few years older. It might be that the siblings could reconcile.

If Trenton would hate her for the rest of his life because of this, she would admit it too.

Dalton: "How about I accompany you to talk to Trenton again?"

Camryn shook her head and refused, she said: "Trenton also has a big opinion on you, thinking that you have betrayed his father, you go to him, only it will make him angrier and more uncomfortable. Let him digest it slowly."

Siblings were siblings all their lives.

Camryn believed that Trenton who had been a warm boy since childhood would figure it out.

"Ring ring ring..."

Camryn's phone rang.

Dalton thought it was Callum who called, and said to her: "Second Young master York is really chasing after you, every time he sees me, he guards me like a thief."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-