

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1846

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1846 -Hayden's face darkened, she said, "Hugh, help me find out why Kevin is here first, and also, go and inquire about his personal affairs."

"Okay, I'll look into it now. Don't think too much, sister. Kevin might just want to get along well with our Queen family. Since you are the head of our family. If he and you get along well, all your problems will go away."

After Hayden was silent, she said: "Our two companies don't have too many conflicts. A little conflict is a normal business competition. Kevin won't try to please me and get close to me because of this."

Hugh: "Anyway, Kevin won't question As for the issue of my sister's gender, I can rest assured, I will go and find out right away."

If there was no proof, his sister would think too much about it.

Hayden hummed, then ended the call with her younger brother, and handed over the matter to him to investigate. She was also relieved and didn't take this matter to heart for the time being. She got up, went back to the desk and sat down, and continued to devote herself During the busy work.

.....

Wiltspoon, Lewis family.

Zachary, who was abandoned at home by his wife, drove his Rolls Royce into the Lewis family's mansion alone without a bodyguard.

The butler of the Lewis family came out of the house when he heard the movement, and seeing that it was Zachary's car, he put a smile on his face and walked quickly towards the car that had just stopped.

"Young Master York, you're here." The butler stood in front of the car, and when Zachary got off the car, he greeted him with a smile.

Seeing that Zachary took the supplements from the car, the butler quickly took the supplements from Zachary's hand and invited Zachary into the house.

"How is your fourth young master?" Zachary asked about his friend's situation as he walked.

After Duncan got out of the hospital, he went back to the old house where the Lewis family used to live. The old house took more area, and the yard was a bit bigger. He was in a wheelchair, and someone pushed him outside to relax, which helped his body and mind get better.

When Duncan was mentioned, the smile on the butler's face narrowed, and he sighed and said, "Since the fourth young master was discharged from the hospital, his temper has changed, even worse than when he was hospitalized. Neither Mrs. Lewis nor Mr. Lewis can do anything about him."

When the butler saw the fourth young master like that, he also felt bad. He had worked in the old house of the Lewis family for a long time. When the old lady was still alive, he worked for the Lewis family. At that time, the fourth young master was still a br*t who did things without thinking.

It could be said that he watched the Fourth Young Master grow up all the way.

A decent person, but now he couldn't even walk two steps by himself. As long as the Fourth Young Master got out of the wheelchair, he would fall to the ground.

Sometimes he lost his temper and fell to the ground together with the wheelchair.

The main reason was that the fourth young master was too impatient and wanted to stand up impatiently.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1847

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1847 -Zachary: "Where is Duncan now?"

The butler: "In the backyard. He was the only one, and no one of us is allowed to go to the backyard. He said he wants to be quiet by himself, and doesn't want everyone to disturb him."

Zachary paused, followed the butler into the house, first met Lu Mr. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis, after a few words of greeting, Zachary got up and said to Mr. Lewis and his wife, "Uncle, Auntie, let me go and see Duncan."

Mr. Lewis nodded, "Go; you're his best friend. Maybe he would like to see you.

Zachary, please enlighten Duncan and tell him not to worry. As soon as he is discharged from the hospital, he wants to stand up and walk by himself, but he can't do rehabilitation but I am impatient to do rehabilitation."

Mrs. Lewis's face was full of distress and worry. She said, "I'm afraid that if he is so impatient, it will backfire."

Zachary hummed, "Auntie, I will persuade Duncan. I went to the backyard to find Duncan."

Zachary walked out of the main house and walked to the backyard.

He often came to the Lewis family's old house and was very familiar with it. He didn't need anyone to guide him. He went to the backyard alone.

Duncan was practicing walking on a piece of lawn in the backyard.

His leg injury has not fully recovered, and every time he stood up, he had to endure the piercing pain. He gritted his teeth, endured the pain, shook his leg, and took a hard step. His foot stepped on the grass.

He had to endure bursts of pain to stand still, and then he moved the other leg.

Often, after only taking two steps, he would throw himself down on the grass.

He chose to walk on the grass because he felt that it would not hurt too much if he fell.

When he fell down, he had to struggle to get up again, but he still persisted.

In order to be able to stand up again and walk again, his forehead and face were covered with beads of sweat, which kept dripping like raindrops.

Because of the pain, his face also became pale and pale.

The two crutches had already been lying in the corner of the grass, quietly.

The lawn was surrounded by green belts; those green belts were pruned by the gardener into blue flowers or animals. Duncan and the wheelchair were on the lawn; when he fell to the ground and couldn't get up, Zachary couldn't see him.

When Zachary was passing by the lawn, he vaguely saw the wheelchair and stopped. Then he walked into the lawn and saw Duncan crawling on the grass. He was completely crawling on the ground with his face pressed against the grass.

Maybe he was too tired, he didn't have the strength to support himself to stand up yet.

When Zachary came, Duncan knew it soon. He turned his head and saw that it was Zachary, so he struggled to get up.

"Duncan." Zachary quickly stepped forward to help him.

"Don't help me, I can get up by myself!" Duncan immediately scolded his friend, not letting him help him.

Zachary could only stand beside him, looking at him with great painstaking efforts to get up, Zachary quickly pushed the wheelchair and let him sit down.

Seeing Duncan's pale face and sweat all over his face, Zachary wanted to pack a tissue and touched his trouser pocket, but he didn't have a tissue.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1848

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1848 -"the sun is getting hotter and hotter, and you will get sunstroke." Duncan raised his hand to wipe the sweat off his face, and said, "When I first came here, it was still shady."

As time went by, the sun gradually moved to the middle, where it was exposed to the sun.

"There are water and paper towels in the back of my wheelchair." Duncan said.

Zachary hurriedly took down the bag hanging behind his wheelchair, opened the bag, took out a bottle of water, and handed it to him, then took out a box of tissues, took out several tissues, handed them to him to wipe his sweat, and said to him: "You want to practice walking, you have to choose a time, preferably in the morning and evening, when the sun is not so harsh and it is cooler. Also, you can't be alone. If something happens, no one will know."

There were a lot of trees planted in the backyard of the Lewis mansion, which could be regarded as shaded by trees and relatively cool.

Duncan wiped his sweat, drank half a bottle of water, and said, "I'm carrying a mobile phone, and I can't hold it anymore. I will call them and let them push me back to the house.

Zachary, I want to recover quickly, stand up quickly, and walk quickly, I think, I want to pursue Liberty again."

Duncan was anxious, or for Liberty.

Hank was in the ICU, but Duncan didn't have to worry that someone would take Liberty away from him because Liberty was getting better and better. Duncan was only afraid that while he was sick, other things would start happening around Liberty.

Duncan couldn't feel safe unless he married Liberty back for a day.

"Duncan, I know you want to stand up quickly and get back to normal, but you can't be in a hurry. The doctor said that you still need to rest for a while before doing rehabilitation. If you are so impatient, it will backfire. What about my sister? It's okay, you don't have to worry about new suitors around her for the time being, she is busy starting a business and making money now. She has no time or mood to think about relationship matters, besides, she keeps emphasizing that she doesn't want to remarry." Zachary comforted his friend.

Even so, Duncan was concerned. People's hearts would change, after all. She didn't want to get married again right now. What if she met a man she really liked, and he was willing to take Sonny in and treat him like his own child? The spirit would change her mind.

"Why are you free to come here today?" Duncan changed the subject, "Your wife didn't come with you?"

Duncan realized later that something was wrong with Zachary.

Zachary was known for being a wife-slave who loved his wife a lot. He worked most of the time and went out with Serenity a lot. On big weekends, he didn't have to go to work. Zachary should be like a pendant on Serenity's body, it makes sense. Why did he go to Lewis's house to see Duncan by himself?

With a downcast handsome face, Zachary said, "Don't mention it. My wife has been abducted. I am as pitiful as you now, and the woman I love is not by my side."

Duncan turned his head and looked at his friend in astonishment, in disbelief: "Who is so strong that he can take your wife away? He is better-looking and more interesting than you, and he still loves Serenity?"

In Duncan's eyes, Zachary was the man who loved Serenity the most.

Zachary said with a wry smile: "She is not a man, but a woman. She is so powerful, much better than me, and easily abducted my wife. Now my wife has changed her mobile phone number without letting me know. Don't send me messages, just completely ignore me."

From the mouth of Liberty, Zachary understood why grandma would punish him.

It turned out that he always complained about Serenity and angered his grandma. She thought he didn't know what was good and bad, so she kidnapped Serenity and let him know what neglect is.

He just said, grandma won't shoot for no reason, there was always a reason.

It's just that he didn't expect that when he complained a few words, grandma felt sorry for Serenity.

Sure enough, in the eyes of grandma, the granddaughter-in-law was the most important thing. The granddaughter-in-law was for pain, and the grandson was for rectification.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1849

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1849 -Duncan: "...Is it your Grandma?"

Whoever took his wife would have destroyed the sky a long time ago. How could he be in the mood to see him?

Zachary smiled wryly: "Who else is there besides my grandma, and only my grandma is brave enough to treat me this way."

His parents would not treat him like this.

Duncan laughed, "You must have done something to offend your grandma, that's why grandma treated you like this. Grandma is the best at picking on our weakness."

Like Duncan, his weakness was Liberty.

Grandma May told Duncan that if he truly let go of Liberty, she would immediately help Liberty lead the red line and introduce a high-quality man to her, causing him to regret his decision and become bitter.

After Grandma May said that, Duncan didn't dare to say anything. Because he knew that it wasn't that he didn't love Liberty, he was only disabled now, and he was worried that he wouldn't be able to give Liberty happiness, so he treated Liberty roughly.

In fact, every time after driving Liberty away, he blamed himself, regretted it, cared about her in his heart, and worried that he would hurt her because of his indifferent attitude.

Zachary pursed his lips and stopped talking.

Seeing that Zachary didn't speak, Duncan knew he had guessed right. He smiled: "That's natural. If you have more grandchildren, they are worthless. Now she has only one granddaughter-in-law. If she doesn't love Serenity, who will she care about? You don't have a daughter now. In the future, if you have a daughter, you can't even leave her side."

When his first niece was born, his mother was so happy, hugging the eldest granddaughter every day. Later, when there were two or three nieces, his mother was not so happy. Now, his nieces and daughters were divided into half, and his mother had the same attitude towards grandchildren, and there was no favoritism anymore.

Rare things is more expensive.

It's the same with people.

Having too many grandchildren is worthless, but if there are too many granddaughters, the grandchildren become treasures again.

"It's hot outside, I'll push you back inside." Zachary pushed Duncan away.

"I don't want to go back to the house. You can push me and walk slowly in the backyard. When I go back to the house and face my parents' distressed and worried eyes, no matter how good I am, I will be in a bad mood." What Duncan is most afraid of now was face mother.

His mother always felt that she had harmed Duncan, and she always felt distressed, blamed herself, felt guilty, and regretted the beginning.

Zachary understood and said: "Okay, I'll push you to walk slowly."

Duncan: "Your wife was taken away by grandma, so you can just get together with your brothers and friends and have a drink or something."

Since acquiring Serenity, Zachary rarely got together with his friends alone, and when he did, he always brought Serenity with him.

"My best friends are only you and Josh. Needless to say, Josh wants to accompany his family's national treasure. Duncan, I can only come to you. When you get better, we can play together."

Duncan smiled and said: "If you want to play with me, you may have to wait for a few years. I don't know when I will stand up, when I will be back to normal, and I will be able to walk normally. I laughed. I dare not think about it now."

Zachary: "You will get better, as long as you persist in doing rehabilitation, I believe that in a year or so, you will be able to return to normal.

After Duncan was silent, he said: "I hope." He added, "How is Liberty's new restaurant?"

Zachary: "After a simple renovation, it will be able to open for business soon."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1850

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1850 -Duncan said: "When her new store opens, I will join her."

He wanted to send her a basket of flowers to wish her a prosperous business.

Zachary: "My sister will definitely invite you to dinner."

Duncan sighed, "But your sister doesn't love me, and still treats me as a friend. She took care of me in the hospital because she felt that she owed me favors when I needed help. My mother also gave her $10,000 a day."

Zachary: "My aunt gave my sister $10,000 a day but my sister didn't ask for a penny. In front of you, she is just say that, so there is a reason to refute you."

Duncan was not surprised, "She doesn't want to owe me a favor, so she will take this opportunity to repay my favor. If she takes the money, she will feel that she has always owed me a favor. I guessed a long time ago that she wouldn't take money, but she wanted to describe herself as a person who does things for money. Zachary, why don't you accompany me to Liberty's new store now?"

Zachary agreed to Duncan's request because he was bored.

Accompanied by Zachary, Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Lewis agreed that their youngest son should go out. They didn't know that Duncan was going to Liberty's new shop.

Sitting in the passenger seat, Duncan sighed: "I don't know when I will be able to drive by myself, I miss the thrill of galloping." He patted his weak legs, "My two useless leg."

"Duncan." Zachary said to his friend while driving the car: "Your leg is not useless, you can get better. If you don't feel a little bit, then you should worry."

Duncan stopped talking. He acted strong in front of his friends.

He was actually still very weak inside, and he feared that he wouldn't be able to recover, wouldn't be able to stand up again, and would spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair.

Duncan: "Stop by the flower shop, I want to buy a bunch of flowers for Liberty."

Zachary: "Okay."

Back in the city center, Zachary took Duncan to Spring Blossoms.

Not surprisingly, Zachary saw Callum in the shop, where he was busy and happy.

"Brother, why are you here?" When Callum saw Zachary's car parked in front of the flower shop, he smiled and took a few steps forward. He still held a flowerpot in his right hand and was currently watering the flowers.

Camryn was sitting at the cash register, and when she heard Callum's shout, she got up, walked around the cash register and walked outside.

"Wife, you can just sit down. I'll greet you." Callum noticed that Camryn had come out, and immediately returned to Camryn's side, supporting her, for fear that she might fall.

Camryn lightly annoyed him: "Who is your wife? We are not married yet."

Callum said cheekily: "We are engaged, we will marry sooner or later, and you will become my wife sooner or later. I am afraid that you will not get used to it, so I will begin practicing now. When we are married, I will be referred to as your Husband, and you will be referred to as my wife. It's easy; you're accustomed to it."

Camryn: "..."

Callum could call Camryn whatever he pleased, and she was powerless to stop him.

After getting engaged, Callum called Camryn wife every day, and when no outsiders were present, Camryn let him call her. If someone was around, she would feel a little embarrassed.

"Brother, are you going to buy flowers for sister-in-law?" Camryn only heard steady footsteps, but not Serenity's voice, guessing that only Zachary came.

Zachary said softly: "Your sister-in-law is not at home. If I bring her flowers, they will be completely wilted by the time she returns. It is Duncan who wants to buy a bunch of flowers."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-