Married at First Sight Chapter 1957-Mrs. Queen said: "That is, the children raised by the York Family are all excellent."

Knowing that Kevin was pursuing her own daughter, and Kevin still suspected that Hayden was not a man, this gave Mrs. Queen hope again.

She already admired Kevin, a young man.

"Husband, how do you think Kevin knew Hayden's identity as a woman? She pretended to be a man for more than 20 years. If she wasn't born by me, I wouldn't believe that she was a woman. She acted too much like a man."

Donald: "What did Hayden say?"

Mrs. Queen: "It is said that Kevin intuitively suspects that she is not a man."

Donald smiled and praised Kevin again: "Kevin not only has good eyesight, but also has accurate intuition. He really deserves to be a child raised by the York Family."

Mrs. Queen: "..."

Donald: "Honey, don't care how Kevin saw through Hayden, we just need to know that Kevin is not gay and he is pursuing our daughter. I like this son-in-law very much."

Mrs. Queen: "I also like this son-in-law very much."

When the mother-in-law looked at her son-in-law, she liked him more and more.

Although the two of them hadn't even said anything yet, Mrs. Queen already treated Kevin as her son-in-law.

Hayden didn't know that her parents had already treated Kevin as their son-in-law. She sat quietly on the sofa for a while, and when the door knocked, she got up and went to open the door.

Hugh stood at the door of the room.

"Brother, are you okay?" Hugh asked with concern, "I saw Kevin coming downstairs by himself, he was still very happy, with a smile all over his face, I'm worried that you will suffer."

He looked his sister up and down, and made sure that her clothes were neat and tidy, and she didn't look like she had suffered a disadvantage, so he was relieved.

“What can I suffer? It’s just to make it clear to Mr. York that I’m a man, and it’s impossible for me to accept his pursuit.”

Hayden walked out of the room while talking, and then closed the door of the presidential suite.

“The banquet is not over yet, let’s go.”

Hayden still remembered that she came to the dinner tonight, unlike before, she could take off her mask and rest after entering the room.

Hugh followed his sister.

Soon, the two returned to the banquet venue.

“Young Master Queen.”

A clear and pleasant voice came, and Hayden’s bodyguards immediately surrounded her, blocking the woman who was approaching.

It was none other than Shiloh Farrell.

Shiloh’s attire was even more jeweled than Kathryn, the real daughter of the Farrell family, and her temper was well controlled.

After all, she grew up in Farrell’s family since she was a child, and was pampered by the family. She received training from the head of the family when she was young, and prepared to become the head of the family in the future. 18 Years later, the mud also supported the wall.

“Young Master Queen.”

Shiloh glanced at Queen’s bodyguards, and her eyes fell on Hayden. She said with a smile: “Young Master Queen, I just want to drink two glasses of wine with you, and I won’t do anything to you. I can let your will the bodyguard let me go?”

Hayden admired Kathryn, but she didn’t like Shiloh, the fake daughter of the Farrell family.
