Married at First Sight Chapter 2036-Kevin didn't know that Hank was out of danger. He would not pay attention to the life and death of a sc*mbag.

All he knew was that everyone in the Brown family regretted it.

"After that mistress became a regular, even though she married a sc*mbag, she didn't have a son and a half. She was pregnant, but then she had a miscarriage after she wrestled herself. These are retributions. I used to hear people say that good things happen. Good will be rewarded, and evil will be rewarded with evil, it's not that there is no reward, the time has not yet come.

I always think that's just talking. If there are so many retributions, there won't be so many people doing bad things. Seeing the end of the Brown family, I believe it's really retribution."

The fate of Hank's family was indeed the fastest example of retribution that Kevin had witnessed.

After hearing this, Hayden felt very happy.

Hayden said: "Divorce is good. I am afraid that Ms. Liberty will endure it for the sake of the children and don't want to divorce. After the man cheats, the woman will swallow her anger in order to let the child have a complete family. I can't see such a result."

"A man who cheats means that he already has dislike for her, or even has no feelings for her. Her crying will only make him bore even more. It is better to give him freedom, but she must fight for her legal rights in divorce. It's cheap for a sc*mbag. Who was awarded Miss Liberty's son?"

Kevin: "Sonny's custody was given to Sister Liberty. To be honest, when Sister Liberty divorced, if there was no pressure from my elder brother, Sister Liberty might have to file a divorce lawsuit, and she may not be able to share the property after marriage equally. That sc*mbag saved a large sum of money in his father's name without telling Sister Liberty."

After Hayden was silent, she said, "That's true. We have been shouting the slogan of equality between men and women for decades, but women are still treated unfairly in society. Many women want to divorce, and they are often calculated by the men. If she leaves her home, she will lose the custody of her child.

The current marriage status in this society makes women fearful of getting married, so more and more people don't want to marry and have children."

It's better to be a man, which was why she didn't want to restore her identity as a woman.

Kevin: "That's not enough to overthrow a boatload of people. There are still many upright men who won't cheat. For example, I am one of those good men who are good and upright, won't cheat, and treat their wives wholeheartedly."

Hayden looked at him twice, didn't want to laugh, but couldn't help it.

"Mr. York, you have not eaten. Don't focus on talking. If you don't eat any more, the food will be cold and won't taste good." Hayden reminded him with a smile.

Kevin grinned, "Do you feel sorry for my hungry stomach? I know you have a cold face and a soft heart. You actually appreciate me, don't you? Hayden, you have to be an honest person. If you appreciate me, just appreciate me openly, don't hide it."

Hayden was not angry either, she said: "Although you are annoying, you are as thick-skinned as a city wall, and you are extremely shameless, which disturbs my peaceful life. I have to admit that I really appreciate your ability, not just you, the son of York family, I admire."
