

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 2045

Chapter 2045

The atmosphere in the karst cave became harmonious.

Eira and her sisters looked at Lorraine and lamented the power of the alluring body.

They had never seen a mature alluring body before.

The previous Lorraine was already a peerless beauty.

Now that she had become a Saint and her alluring body had matured, she had elevated not just by one level.

Such a woman would not be outdone. She could even outdo a few high-ranking goddesses in the sisters' hometown, let alone Star Kingdom.

If Master saw Lorraine, he would definitely like her.

It was a pity that she was the last of the top ten physiques required, and also the most important one.

Lorraine was destined to be sacrificed in exchange for Master's awakening.

When Master woke up, Lorraine would have already turned into a pile of dry bones.

The two of them were destined to never have the chance to meet.

"Lori, we are going to live in seclusion to recuperate and recover. You should go out first and get used to being a Saint," Eira asked Lorraine to leave.

Restoring their body was the most important thing for them right now.

"Masters, go and recuperate! I'll guard you to ensure your safety," Lorraine replied.

Her answer stunned the four sisters again.

Obviously, they did not expect Lorraine to refuse.

This was the first time Lorraine disobeyed them. Back then, she would do whatever she was told.

"Lori, we don't need you to guard us. This is the forbidden part of the Iridescent Sect's forbidden area. No one will come here, and outsiders are not allowed to enter either. You should go out first. We will go to you after we're done." This time it was the eldest sister Marin who spoke.

She was making herself very clear.

She did not want Lorraine to stay.

Of course, Lorraine was not stupid, and she understood.

However, she was not moved at all.

"Lady Marin, I am your disciple, so I am definitely not an outsider. I am quite curious after entering this place for the first time, so I want to take a look around here. You should go live in seclusion to recover! Don't worry about me," Lorraine said softly.

Eira and her sister started to take this seriously.

Lorraine had disobeyed them twice in succession.

Nothing like this had ever happened before.

'What's wrong with this girl?

'Did she notice something?

'Impossible!'

The four immediately dismissed this idea.

'The Nine Heavenly Dragon Array is not from Star Kingdom, so how can a girl from a low-level civilization tell what it is?

'In any case, even if she saw the Nine Heavenly Dragon Array, how would she know that there's a human underneath?'

"Lori, I'll say it again. You should leave now, and we don't need anyone to guard us," Eira emphasized again.

"Lady Eira, just let me stay here and have a look! I'm curious why this place was set up in the most forbidden part of the forbidden area," Lorraine refused again.

At the same time, her eyes began to scan the karst cave.

There were nine huge stone pillars with lifelike dragons on them.

In the center of the karst cave was a smokey cold pool that exuded a strong smell of blood.

Along with the chain that connected the pillar to the cold pool, everything seemed so eerie.

Lorraine had a hunch that the secret she wanted to know was beneath the cold pool.