I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2071-David's words completely angered Azul.

As a direct descendant of the Feather family who had awakened his innate skills and was the focus of the family's training, Azul was well-known even in his hometown. i

Unexpectedly, someone pointed at his nose and scolded him in this small level 7 civilization.

It was an insult to his identity.

What was even more hateful was that his Ice Soul Excalibur, which had fought alongside him for many years and which had contributed greatly to his achievements, was stolen.

These despicable humans were so audacious.

Azul felt like his lungs were going to explode.

The small negligence back then caused him to pay a heavy price for his arrogance.

He fell asleep for ten epochs before waking up.

Currently, there was a fire burning in my heart.

He thought he would return grandly and return to avenge the past.

Meanwhile, David's attitude adding fuel to the fire, causing the anger in Azul's heart to erupt in advance.

Azul tried to control himself.

It would be easy to deal with this kid in front of him, but the important question was how to get back his sword.

This was because he realized that he could not sense the position of the Ice Soul Excalibur.

Firstly, the imprint he left on the sword must have been erased after such a long period.

Second, the opponent also had treasures that could hide the sword.

That was why he could not feel it.

If he killed the kid in front of him and his master sensed something off and hid the Ice Soul Excalibur, how would Azul find it?

The Ice Soul Excalibur was not just a treasure, it had extraordinary significance to Azul and the Feather family, so he could not let anything happen to it.

Otherwise, he would be severely punished when he returned to his family.

“Boy, I’ll give you another chance. Tell your master to return the sword to me obediently, and I can spare your lives,” Azul ordered, holding back his anger.

“It seems that this cold sword is so important to you. Unfortunately, I don’t believe what you said. You will definitely go back on your word when I return the sword to you. I have seen people like you a lot, and my master will not come to return the sword. You should just give up,” David smiled slightly and directly rejected Azul’s request.

He realized that the Ice Soul Excalibur seemed to be very important to this person.

Therefore, David would try to trade this sword for peace in Star Kingdom.

It was just a sword anyway. It would never be as important as a living being.

Compared with the countless creatures in Star Kingdom, David still knew what to prioritize.

Besides, he already had the Evil-Splitting Sword.

Mainly, David was afraid that the opponent would go back on his word after he took back the sword.

If he returned the weapon to the opponent and the opponent used the sword to kill him, wouldn’t he suffer a double loss?

Also, it would increase the combat effectiveness of his enemy.

David would never agree to a deal where he would suffer a loss.

David would only return the sword if he was sure that the person would take the sword and leave, never come to Star Kingdom again, nor would he reveal the location of Star Kingdom.

Otherwise, they should forget about it.
