I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2174-That was why he said the last sentence.

If he could get lavish points, he would want these people to name him as high a price as possible.

Unfortunately, this was not the case, so he would just do it in the normal way.

After all, he had to exchange his money for lavish points.

He would stop whenever it was appropriate. After he finished with his intimidation, the hall returned to normal.

“Don’t worry, Master David! Don’t you worry! We are all businessmen, and what matters in business is integrity. If we don’t even have this basic principle, how can we stay in this circle, don’t you think? So you can rest assured that we will all seek truth from facts and will never make false reports,” Thor hastily promised.

He also did not expect David to be so powerful at such a young age.

So, he quickly spoke up to express his attitude, and at the same time, he would give David a deeper impression of himself which would then benefit him in the future.

“Mr. Rivers is right! Don’t worry, Master David, we will speak truthfully and take this seriously,” someone echoed.

The rest of the people also expressed their support.

They assured David that they would report according to the actual situation and would not take advantage of him.

David nodded and said, “Mr. Rivers, I’ll thank you in advance then.”

“You’re welcome! It’s an honor for me to serve you, Master David,” Thor flattered with a smile on his face.

The others in the hall looked at Thor with envy in their eyes.

There were many advantages and no disadvantages to developing a good relationship with this powerful young man.

It was a pity that they did not benefit whilst Thor took all of the advantages himself.

The next step was easy.

The people in the hall lined up to register their lost treasures with Thor one by one.

Once the registrations were completed, everyone began to estimate the value of each treasure.

David did not have many requirements for this. He would be fine as long as it was within the normal range.

After experiencing David's powerful strength, everyone dared not mess around and would value it according to the lowest price.

Throughout the process, David and Beanie sat and drank tea.

Meanwhile, Pebbles kept her arms around David's neck, hanging from David's body.

She really liked David's scent a lot.

She felt that every breath she took was of great help to her body.

Beanie kept glancing at David out of the corner of her eye. This young man was more and more unfathomable to her.

He just met that kid, but he was willing to spend a lot of money to pay off her debts.

Although Pebbles looked extraordinary and cute, ultimately, he had only just met her!

Shouldn't he hang out with her a few days before even considering this?

Were all rich people so capricious?

Maybe David was indeed a direct descendant of a powerful family.

Money could truly buy happiness.

It would not matter how much he spent as long as he was happy.

There were twenty or thirty people in the hall.

Even if one of them lost a piece each, the added value would still be an astronomical figure.

In addition, many people lost more than one item.

How much will it take to pay off the debt?

At least several hundred billion!

If there were a few Beast Crystal treasures among them, it might even go up to trillions.

Just now, David spent 100 billion L Dollars to buy a Beast Crystal from Beanie.

Now, he was going to spend hundreds of billions, or even trillions, to pay off debts for others.

Beanie suddenly realized what kind of person she had met.

His strength was boundless.

He could even spend thousands of trillions of L Dollars without blinking an eye.

She guessed in her heart, 'The force behind David is probably among the top of all of Leila.'
