The Ex-Husband's Revenge Chapter 172

"You can ask him to try," Graham said hurriedly.

"Oh yes! How could I forget about him? He said that he was about sixty to seventy percent sure that he could cure it! That would mean he has a way to cure it!" Benedict rejoiced and immediately took out his cell phone to call Leon. However, the smile on his face froze immediately after he realized that he chased Leon away earlier.

Cynthia saw how awkward her grandfather was and took the initiative to say, "Grandpa, that Leon guy just left, so he's probably still nearby. I'll go get him to come back here and heal Grandma!"

"Okay. Hurry up and chase after him! Please remember to show your sincerity, even if it means having to beg him..." Benedict instructed. He felt that it would be more sincere if his granddaughter was the one who personally went to ask for Leon's help. again.

"I understand..."

Without waiting for Benedict to say anything else, Cynthia rushed out like a bullet train and immediately gave chase in the direction Leon went.
