

Revenge 175

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 175

Harvey knew full well in his heart that Leon would not have refused so firmly if his sister did not get into a potential altercation with Leon earlier. Like it or not, the offender had to be the one to ask for Leon's forgiveness, and it was only when Cynthia apologized that there might be room for them to maneuver in that issue!

"You're asking me to kneel for him? Like hell I will! You're free to do these crazy things if you want, but don't drag me into it!" Cynthia gritted her pearly-white teeth.

"Cynthia! Do you have any idea how critical Grandma's situation is right now? Her life is in imminent danger, and I can't even begin to think what would happen if Mister Wolf doesn't help! Do you want Grandma to die?" Harvey glared at Cynthia and was about to snap at her stubbornness.

"I..." Cynthia felt thunderstruck. She has always lived a high life and was pampered by everyone, so it was inevitable that she would be stubborn to a certain degree. However, the exhorting by her brother finally made her come to her senses and realize that her grandmother's life was in Leon's hands. If her grandmother loses her only chance for treatment because of her willfulness, she would feel extremely ashamed to face her family in the future!

"No. You both don't need to apologize. It's just a little misunderstanding. There's no need to go so far..." Leon said immediately. He felt awkward and did not know how to face them.

Now hurry up and kneel, Cynthia!"

only sister too. He always doted on her and frequently turned a blind eye to her unruly and willful character. Even so, the issue at hand was related to their grandmother's life, and he had to be firm never saw her brother lash out so angrily at her before. At long last, she finally realized her grandmother's condition was at stake, her psyche finally sorry..." Cynthia bit her lip, and tears of guilt began to well up in her

Leon was at a loss. He already made up his mind to protect how firm his mental state was, he could not help but feel a are you two doing this..." Leon smiled bitterly. He had some reservations about saying yes, but he also felt that it was manifestly inappropriate please save my grandma..." Harvey continued you two." Leon sighed. His heart softened and he finally Thank

Chapter 175

7/2