The Ex-Husband's Revenge Chapter 102

"But don't you worry, I'll write you a prescription now. As long as you follow the instructions and take these herbs for three consecutive days, I guarantee that your condition will be cured..."

Leon saw that there was just a pen and paper in the car, so he grabbed them and jotted down the prescription.

"You... Ugh!"

Ariel was so embarrassed and ashamed that she wanted to just pounce on Leon and bite Leon.

Her suitors came in droves due to her excellence in various aspects, but she was never teased by them until Leon came along!

At this moment, the light turned green at the intersection, and all the cars behind her honked at her to start driving.

Since Ariel was still not in the best frame of mind, she stepped so abruptly on the gas pedal that she nearly rear-ended the car in front.

After finally crossing the intersection, Ariel immediately steered the car to the side of the road and parked there.

strangely at Ariel, "Why aren't you driving, Miss Summers? Why the hell out of the car!"
