Chapter 1111

He followed Leon's instructions and sat on the couch next to him.

"Miss Cara, if my power falls short during the treatment, I'm going to need your help," Leon said.

"Of course!" Cara nodded.

Once everything was in place, Leon pressed on a few compression points around Master Haslewood's heart to shield it from the following procedures.

The poison that Master Haslewood took was extremely powerful and he only managed to survive the past three years with his tremendous true energy. However, the poison slowly spread and was not far from his heart at this point; once it entered the heart, Master Haslewood would be dead.

"I'm going to start now!" Leon said with a serious expression and pressed his finger into the Ghost Point of Master Haslewood.

"Kid, didn't you say that Master is cured? Wh- What's going on?"

"Don't worry. It's normal," Leon explained but was instantly interrupted by Mark.

"Normal?! You resent Master for punishing you and tell him that you're treating him when you are hurting him!" Mark was furious.

He never believed that Leon was capable of curing Master Haslewood and seeing how Master Haslewood spat blood, the first thought on Mark's mind was that Leon might have harmed Master Haslewood.

"I didn't do such a thing!" Leon's expression darkened.

Even someone, as composed as Master Haslewood, could barely contain his excitement.

"You're welcome, Sir. I don't need you to repay the favor. I just want you to cancel the punishment and that's enough," Leon said.

"Cancel the punishment? I'm afraid that can't be done!" Master Haslewood shook his head thoughtfully.

"What?! Why not?" Leon froze in shock.

He worked so hard to cure Master Haslewood with the sole intention of being spared from punishment, yet Master Haslewood rejected his request right away.

Master Haslewood proceeded to explain the concept of Potential Energy Forces.

After listening to him, Leon grasped the concept that Master Haslewood intended on leaving three traces of his pure energy in Leon's pendent, and each trace stored the full power of Master Haslewood's single strike.

Though Leon did not know how powerful Master Haslewood was, he knew that if Cara was already in the Advanced Overlord State, her supervisor could only surpass her in power, and a single strike at full strength from someone that powerful would turn the tables for Leon under any circumstances.

"Just hand me your pendant!" Master Haslewood said.

"Oh, alright, then," Leon said hesitantly; caving under the fact that Potential Energy Forces could protect him from danger, he eventually handed his pendent to Master Haslewood.

Chapter 1115

Mark felt extremely happy that Leon failed to escape his fate of imprisonment.

"No way! Is there no other way?" Leon questioned in despair.

"Well, there is one! The law specifies that if you make certain contributions to the country, the Dragon Corps can spare you from punishments," Master Haslewood said thoughtfully.

There would often be exceptions to the law and since Leon only killed Harold to defend himself, the Dragon Corps could release him if Leon contributed to society.

“Contributions, huh?” Leon came up with an idea, “and if I have someone precious to offer, does that count as a contribution to the country?”

“Not many, but I have at least a hundred of them!” Leon said confidently.

“What?! That many?!”

Their jaws dropped and Mark of the three was especially shocked as his hope for Leon to be punished was shattered into pieces.

“How about this? Since this is a contribution to society, I’ll give you ten of them!” Leon said generously.

Though Master Haslewood mentioned that they only needed one, Leon did not mind giving more since it was beneficial to the public.

"But, alright, then. He should feel glad!" Mark said reluctantly.

Gilbert and Albert were ordering the other Youngs to move their belongings.

The Youngs settled down after two days. With Leon taken away by the Dragon Corps, there was no telling when he would return. Concerned for Iris's safety, the two made arrangements for her to move back to the Young Mansion.

“Iris, I think what Anson said makes sense. Maybe you can reconsider this?” Gilbert said.

“Dad-”

Before Iris could say anything, Albert walked over. “Gilbert, are you stupid? Leon has done our family a great favor and it’s bad enough that you aren’t grateful for that. Are you still trying to tear him and Iris apart?” He roared in annoyance.

“Dad, it’s not that I want to, but what would happen to Iris if Leon ends up getting locked away for life?”

Gilbert said.

"Mister Collins, do you need something here? If you have no business here, please go!" Leon shot Anson a cold look.

"I-" Anson's expression darkened. He came to take Ruth home, but since Leon returned, Ruth could stay.

"Don't act all smug just yet, Leon! I won't give up on Iris!" Anson scoffed, before running away.
