The Ex-Husband's Revenge Chapter 381

It was one thing for Harvey to embarrass him in front of everyone—after all, they were equal in ranking and thus could not do anything about it, but this was not the same for Leon.

How dare this orphan refuse his peace offer!

Anson was outraged by this.

My power level is on par with Harvey's, and we will both be excellent opponents in battle, but the same can't be said for you. The two of them were well aware of Leon and Iris's connection and thus knew that Iris was probably here for Leon's sake!

Anson, on the other hand, did not know this. Instead, he plastered a charming smile onto his face and approached Iris. "What are you doing here, Iris? Did you come all the way here to help me?"

Despite the striking grin on his face, a glimmer of lust flashed through his eyes when his gaze fell onto Iris's face.

The truth was, she was also extremely shocked by the fact that four out of the six major forces were gathered here today.

Fortunately, it was clear that the Shears and Fane Poole were all on Leon's side.

She was relieved to see this. If all four of them were against Leon, she would not stand a chance against them at all, no matter how powerful she was.

"Leon, you..." Iris was just about to ask further when she caught sight of Leon's cheek. Then, she glanced again at Janice, who stood behind Leon with a coat draped over her shoulder, and a scowl crossed her face. She quickly swallowed her words and turned her head away, refusing to meet Leon's gaze.

"What's wrong, Iris?" Leon was puzzled by this.

His gaze was immediately clouded by another layer of hatred toward Leon.

Harvey, on the other hand, was oblivious to the newfound tension in the room. He broke the silence by saying curtly, "Jacob, Anson, it's now the three of us against the two of you. What do you have to say about that?"

"I..." the color drained from Jacob's face.

Even though Iris was not a martial artist herself, the people she brought with her were undoubtedly the best of the best. If they were to get into a fight head-on, he and Anson would surely lose in this situation!

She could not understand how a divorcee like Leon had become so popular among the ladies!

"If there's nothing else, Mister Wolf, Cynthia and I will excuse ourselves." Harvey was utterly oblivious to the silent rivalry between Cynthia and Iris.

"We'll cross paths again soon, Mister Wolf!" Fane, too, was about to leave.

"I seem to have underestimated you, Leon. Not only do you have connections with the Shears, but now, you are even friends with Fane Poole, son of the Southern King!" Iris shot Leon a cold look after watching Harvey, Cynthia, and Fane leave.

Leon shook his head. Despite answering Janice's questions, his attention already flew far away; he thought of Iris and wondered how he would even begin to explain everything to her.

"That's good!" Janice let out a sigh of relief, and a smile spread across her face.

Even though Leon denied being an item with Iris, she could tell from his tone that he was interested in Iris too.

However, this did not matter; she and Leon had such a strong basis for their relationship, perhaps Leon liked her too without knowing himself.

As long as Iris and Leon were not dating, she still stood a chance of making Leon hers!

Besides, she and Leon had seven years of extra time spent together, and there was no way Iris would be able to surpass that!

"What did you just say, Janice? I couldn't hear you clearly," Leon asked.

If you want my cousin to ease up her anger, you should at least buy me flowers or a gift to show your sincerity. Otherwise, how are you going to get her to listen to you? All of a sudden, a gigantic bouquet of roses materialized before her face. Before she could even figure out
