The Ex-Husband's Revenge Chapter 49

Serena and her two children were at a loss and exchanged confused glances at each other. They had no idea whatsoever as to what Leon tried to do.

"Oh, shut it, you arrogant snob! Isn't it just a couple of grands? What makes you think I can't fork out that kind of money?" Leon stared coldly at Bowden. It was Elder Young who gave him that bank card. Elder Young said that it contained about one and a half million, and Leon did not think that the old man would lie to him.

"Enough with your stubbornness ! Isn't it obvious that you don't have much money? Take your tacky saloon membership card and get the hell out of here!" Bowden's had a look of disdain as he picked up the bank card and raised his hand to throw it at Leon's face.

"Hold that thought!" Edward stopped Bowden right away. He took the bank card for a closer inspection and was immediately overcome with surprise.

From his extensive knowledge, he quickly recognized that it was the Supreme Card issued by Rivercity Bank!

Rivercity Bank was the largest private bank in Springfield City. It cooperates with many state-owned banks to jointly set up private banking services for the high-spending community.
