The Ex-Husband's Revenge Chapter 811

Royce was his son and Iris was his daughter, so there was no difference if Royce or Iris took over so long as the Young Group did not fall within the hands of someone else.

"Is that supposed to be a joke or something, Daisy?!"

"What you said might make sense, but Royce is far too young and hasn't even graduated from university. How can he take over?"

The elders argued.

"It's true that Royce doesn't have much experience in managing a company, but he had Gilbert and me with him. Elder Albert handed Elegante Group to Iris back when she graduated from university, didn't he? Royce is about to graduate right now and we can hand the company over to him with Gilbert and me guiding him. There won't be any issue!" Daisy said casually.

"What?! How can that possibly work?!"

Iris was stunned and jumped to her feet as she glared daggers at Daisy. "Daisy Finch, what's the meaning of this? I've done as you said and sold Elegante Group, and now you want me to sacrifice even more by marrying Jacob Low?! What are you trying to do??" Iris questioned sharply.

She only sold

Elegante Group to avoid marrying Jacob and did not expect Daisy to continue pushing her to accept the marriage despite the fact that she already sold the Elegante Group, so she was fuming with rage.

“That was then, and this is now! I told you to marry Jacob Lowe and you refused to.

You were the one who insisted on selling Elegante Group, so how’s that my fault?” Daisy retorted.

It was always Daisy’s plan to slowly melt away Iris’s reluctance by asking her to sell Elegante Group first, before forcing her to accept the marriage proposal.

Iris sold her own company, she had nothing left to defend herself and could be easily manipulated because she no longer held any value to the Youngs and

If Daisy and Gilbert managed to convince Iris, they would be pleased to see their family join with the Lowes.

“Why is this happening?” Iris paled as she stumbled backward, coming close to falling onto the ground.

She wronged and broke up with Leon for her family and sold Elegante Group for them yet again. After all that she sacrificed for her family’s sake, this was the ending that awaited her.

Her father and all the elders were hoping to marry her off for profit and her heart was filled with disappointment.

“Iris, you’ll eventually need to marry someone in the future. We’re all just trying to help you,” Gilbert smiled sheepishly.

“I don’t need your help! I won’t accept this marriage no matter what. You should all just give up!” Iris said despite the sorrow taking over her, before turning to leave.

Slightly embarrassed, Gilbert called out for her to stop, but Iris

Though the Northern King was formidable, the Youngs had far higher power in comparison to them and even if Gilbert broke their promise, Harold could only accept it as it was.

Gilbert desperately wanted Iris to marry Jacob so that he could take the Lowes' power for his own, but since Iris refused to do so, he could only manipulate Harold into getting what he wanted.

Harold was only a Semi-Overlord, so he would not be able to destroy the Youngs no matter what happened.

Shocked, Leon stood from his chair.

He never stopped loving Iris and despite how calm a man he often was, he could no longer keep his composure at the news of Iris's engagement to Jacob.

“Yes. According to what we heard, there’ll be an official family meeting for the Youngs to name Gilbert Young their next leader. That’s when they’ll announce the engagement,” Spencer continued.

“No way! Iris can’t marry Jacob Lowe! It’s not happening!” Leon shouted as he hurried outside.

Iris did not reach out to him and since he made the Youngs his enemy, Leon had no reason to get involved. However, the woman he loved was going to marry another man and he could no longer stay away.

Leon said with determination.

He broke up with Iris and if she loved Jacob and accepted the marriage by her own will, he had no other choice but to wish her happiness. However, if she was forced into it, he had to do whatever he could to stop the woman he loved from marrying another.

“I understand how you feel! But you can’t rush into this. The Lowes and the Youngs won’t confirm the engagement until three days later. Until then, there’s no point for you to go to the Youngs!” Cynthia sighed, her heart filled with jealousy at how much Leon cared for Iris.

“Yeah, you’re right!” Leon slowly began to regain his composure.

As Cynthia mentioned, the engagement was not announced at the moment and reaching out to Iris at this very moment would not help with the situation. He could only interfere with the gathering three days from now in hope to stop the engagement.

“Good! Once I marry Iris, let’s see how smug Leon can be from now on!” Jacob muttered in excitement.

Iris was the most beautiful woman in Springfield and the dream woman of all men, so Jacob was over the moon for being able to own her. Most importantly, Jacob knew that Leon still had feelings for Iris and knew that Leon would suffer if he claimed Iris as his.

After everything that happened between him and Leon, he wanted nothing more than to have Leon suffer and was excited by the thought.

“You’re so easily pleased! Leon means nothing to us! Once I’m done dealing with Gilbert, I’m getting rid of Leon to show him what it means to cross us!” Harold scoffed and narrowed his eyes dangerously.

"Don't worry. I'll keep my promise! Come on and join me at the gathering!" Gilbert said confidently.

"Okay." Iris nodded in relief, before pushing Gilbert out of the room in his wheelchair.

Meanwhile, in the main hall, all major members of the family, including Daisy and Royce, along with a few members of the Lowes who were invited, gathered around under the elders' instruction.

Just then, they all heard footsteps approaching and Iris appeared in the main hall by Gilbert's side.

"Quiet down!"

Seeing that Gilbert entered the room, one of the elders started the gathering.

"Harold Lowe, what's the meaning of this? Are you worried that I might break my own promise?" Gilbert's expression darkened.

All the major members of the Youngs were present and he was about to become the leader; if he confirmed the engagement immediately, he would become the laughing stock of his own family for taking it back afterward.

If he lost the trust of his own family, he would no longer be respected.
