

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 2236

Married at First Sight Chapter 2236-Her sister had asked her several times if she was short of money after investing in the All You Can Eat Restaurant, so she had to tell her if she was.

All the money Liberty earned was indeed invested in, and part of the savings was used.

But the time had not come to an end.

There was no need to help and subsidize her sister.

Therefore, the couple gave the red envelopes separately.

“The auspicious time has come, let’s worship God first.”

“Alright.” Liberty offered incense first, she is the Lord, and what she said silently in her heart was: Dad, Mom, I opened another restaurant, you are alive in the sky, please bless my business to prosper, bless me to become stronger and stronger, and to become a restaurant. Seren has a strong backing.

If only the parents were still alive.

After the worship ceremony, some guests came to congratulate, and there were also many real guests who wanted to taste the food in the new restaurant.

For a while, the restaurant was very lively.

“Liberty, Liberty.”

Chelsea’s voice came from outside.

This top-tier elder sister was always so visible on stage, as if she was afraid that others would not realize she and the boss of All You Can Eat knew each other.

Chelsea and her husband came in together.

Liberty: “Sister Brown.”

Chelsea: "Liberty, we're not late, are we?"

Chelsea saw that Liberty was wearing a red cheongsam, with light makeup on her face, and her face was radiant, so she had to sigh, Liberty's appearance has returned to that before marriage.

Liberty was originally a beautiful woman.

She used to be too fat, and once she got fat, she ruined everything.

Now she was slim, like a model.

She looked young and beautiful, and it was not at all obvious that she was in her early thirties, let alone that she was the mother of a three-year-old child.

Chelsea was jealous and hated, but she still kept a smile on her face, not daring to show the slightest bit, for fear of offending her former sister-in-law.

Alas, if she hadn't done it back then, if she hadn't alienated the relationship between her younger brother and her husband, and hadn't participated in her natal family's affairs, maybe Hank and Liberty wouldn't have divorced.

If the two did not divorce, her natal family and even her could receive financial support from Serenity and her husband as a result of Liberty.

Chelsea thought that Liberty could quickly open a second restaurant, which was funded by Serenity.

"It's not too late, Sister Brown, this way please, sit down and have a cup of tea first."

Liberty was about to take Chelsea and George to sit down at an empty table politely, but they didn't move.

Chelsea said: "Liberty, we ordered a flower basket for you, and the flower basket has also been delivered. It hasn't been arranged yet. There are too many outside. We don't know how to arrange it for a while. The flower basket is still outside."

Liberty smiled and said, "Sister Brown, you're being polite, thank you Sister Brown. I'll let someone go out and set it up."

Liberty waved to a waiter, and when the waiter came, she said softly, "Sister Brown sent a flower basket to our restaurant to congratulate us on a prosperous business, you go out and arrange the flower basket."

"Okay, Ms. Hunt."

The waiter responded with a smile.

After Chelsea struggled for a while, she took out the big red envelope that her parents had prepared a long time ago. She checked it and found that her parents stuffed $5,000 into the big red envelope.

The younger brother was hospitalized for so long, and all he spent was his parents' money.

Now the red envelope given to Liberty was so much money.

Chelsea was curious about how much money her parents had saved, but she didn't know.

She had always assumed that all of her parents' money was spent on her small family, but she had recently discovered that her parents had kept it.