

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2305

Chapter 2305

"That might be right, but Leon is no fool! If he can't find anything to prove his innocence, he might flee the region instead of waiting to be killed here!" Rodney said gloomily.

He agreed with the Fourth Apostle that thought that his plan was perfect.

Leon did not know who the true killer was and finding any evidence that could lead to the truth seemed impossible, so Rodney was not worried about Leon finding out about the truth; his true concern was that Leon might disappear if he failed to find anything to prove his innocence.

Should that happen, the Southern Boss would not be able to eliminate Leon and their plan to take over Cynthion Group would fail as well.

"Um," The Fourth Apostle fell into silence.

He knew that Rodney had a point.

Leon was never the one responsible for the murder of Yonas. If Leon could not uncover the truth of the matter, he would not stay around to face his death.

There was no way he would willingly take the blame and sacrifice his life for it.

Of course, what Rodney and he did not know was that Leon had no intention of fleeing in fear of punishment and already planned his next move, preparing to kill Rodney and bring down the Southern Boss along with him.

Neither Rodney nor the Southern Boss could have even dreamed that Leon had the audacity for such a plan.

"Dad, what should we do now? Leon is running out of options. After three days, there's a high chance he'll escape from the Southern region. We can't just let him get away!" Rodney's gaze turned toward the Southern Boss, his expression filled with frustration.

"I understand. Rodney, don't be too hasty. Misfortune may be a blessing in disguise! Although Angus managed to save Leon this time, he was exiled from the family by Arthur, paying a heavy price for it. This is a good thing for our family! " The Southern Boss sneered coldly, his demeanor far more composed and collected than Rodney's.

"A good thing? What do you mean by that?" Rodney was momentarily stunned.

"The Thompsons are the most influential force in the Southern region and the biggest stumbling block on our path to dominance. Now that Angus has been expelled from the family, the first and second bloodlines of the Thompsons have split apart. This is the perfect opportunity for our family to deal with Leon and the Thompsons at the same time!"

The Southern Boss's gaze was piercing.

As the dominant figure in the Southern region, he had always been ambitious.

Before the establishment of Cynthion Group, his greatest desire was to bring down the Thompsons and then reign supreme over the Southern region.

However, due to the Thompsons' greater strength and resources compared to the Spears, he lacked the necessary power to do so; But now, the opportunity came.

Because of the incident where Leon "killed" Yonas, the first and second bloodlines of the Thompsons grew apart and turned against each other, presenting an extremely rare opportunity for the Southern Boss.

With the Spears' strength, dealing with Angus and the first bloodline of the Thompsons would not be a difficult task.

Furthermore, Leon and Angus were now in the same boat. Once he eliminated Angus and the first bloodline of the Thompsons, he could also conveniently eliminate Leon and take over Cynthion Group.
