

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 119 Don'T Think That What You Did Was Flawless

Christian got up and asked Sarah to talk to Ethan. He then quickly went out of the ward to call the doctor. The doctor rushed over and performed a full body examination for Ethan.

The final result showed that, the surgery yesterday morning was very successful. In the later stages, as long as he recovered well, there would be no problems.

When he heard the doctor's words, Christian's hanging heart completely dropped to the ground.

As long as his father was fine, everything would be fine.

After sending the doctor away, Christian let Sarah accompany his father. He then went to Vivian's ward to tell Julian and Daphne that Ethan had woken up. But unexpectedly, just as he opened the door of the ward, he heard Vivian's voice.

"Mom, it was sister-in-law who pushed me downstairs. Mom, my child. . . Wuuuu. . . "

When Daphne heard her daughter-in-law's words, she immediately consoled her. "Vivian, don't cry. Mom will definitely give you an explanation! "

Julian sat by the side and listened to Vivian's words. He frowned slightly and did not know what to say for a moment.

"Vivian, when you speak, you need to talk about evidence. If Sarah wants to make things difficult for you, she will not wait until you marry Julian! Don't think that because there are only the two of you here, you can say whatever you want!"

Christian stood at the door with a cold expression. His gaze was sharp as he looked at Vivian who was lying on the hospital bed. His eyes were like a torch, and the latter immediately looked away with a guilty conscience.

Now Vivian could only look at Daphne feeling wronged and started to cry, "Mom. . . "

Daphne originally thought that this matter must have something to do with Sarah. Now that Vivian woke up, the words that she said were exactly the same as what she thought. So when she heard what Christian said, she could not help but turn her head to look at the man.

"Christian! Do you need any evidence? If it is not Sarah's fault, what you mean is. . . Vivian wanted to fall down from the stairs, right?"

Christian narrowed his eyes coldly. "If not, why did she take the abortion medicine?"

Vivian was shocked and looked at Christian with wide eyes. "What? What. . . What did you say? When did I take the abortion medicine? Christian! Explain yourself!"

Christian's words caused her to break down a little.

"Aiyo, you can't shout! He wants to shirk responsibility for Sarah. Can't you see that?" Daphne looked at her daughter-in-law and comforted her.

"Mom. . . "When Vivian heard mother-in-law's words, tears instantly flowed out.

"You should leave quickly. Vivian doesn't want to see you!" Daphne saw Vivian's expression and immediately pointed at Christian and said.

"Don't think that what you did was flawless. Whoever wants to frame Sarah for this matter, I will definitely investigate to the end!"

After Christian finished speaking, he did not wait for Daphne to speak. He turned around and strode out of the ward, closing the door with a bang.

Daphne was so angry that her hands were trembling. She pointed at the door and said hatefully, "Did you see that? This is you, Big Brother! A face in front of your father and another face in front of us. It was clearly Sarah who did it, but he still defended her? I'm so angry!"

Julian frowned slightly. His mother's words were a little unpleasant to listen to. Actually, he also felt that this matter had nothing to do with Sarah, but one of them was his mother. The other was his wife. He stood up and looked at the two of them. "Mom, Big Brother must have come up because Dad is awake. I will go down to see Dad first!"

Then he also walked out of the ward.

Vivian looked at his back and angrily bit her lower lip.

This damn Julian! She just woke up, he didn't even say a word of comfort before he left in a hurry! Could it be that he really believed the matter of her taking medicine?

She watched as the door closed again. She immediately looked at mother-in-law who was at the side, feeling wronged. Tears streamed down her face.

"Mom. They did not believe me and actually said that I took an abortion medicine. . . I was carrying my own son. No matter what, he has lived in my womb for six months. None of you have as deep a relationship as mine with him. How can I bear to let him leave me?"

"Aiya, you child. You can't cry now! This is not good for your health, and it will leave you with menstruation. Be good. Listen to me. You have suffered all these grievances today. In the future, Mom will definitely get everything back for you. Your dad also just had surgery last night. You just need to understand them. Don't cry anymore, okay?"

"Mom. . ." Listening to Daphne's words, Vivian cried even harder.

"Sigh, my poor little grandson. It's gone just like that! That little slut Sarah must have held a grudge because of the matter of you marrying Julian previously. In addition, I have always been partial to you, so she must have been jealous. That's why she thought of such a despicable method."

When Daphne thought about how her long-awaited grandson was gone, she gritted her teeth with hatred.

Vivian's tears kept flowing out, "Mom, I even thought of his name. He was my treasure, your treasure, and even the Cooper Family's. Mom, don't you agree?"

"Child. . . Don't cry. Mom won't feel good if you cry like this. . ." Daphne also started to cry when she heard what her daughter-in-law said.

"Mom. . ." Vivian could not help but cry out loud.

...

Christian walked out of Vivian's ward and went downstairs gloomily. To be honest, Vivian's words just now really made him angry.

His relationship with Vivian was just due an accident. Because of Vivian and Gia's shocking looks, he felt that the opportunity to make up for it had come. He had gotten along well with Vivian before. She looked like a lady and rarely made you angry.

Because Christian had always treated her as Gia, he often neglected those small details.

But he truly understood this woman from half a year ago.

At that time, His leg was heavily injured. The reason why he made such a judgment on her. . . It was because ever since she went to the hospital once, she rarely took the initiative to contact him.

After his leg was rescued, his life in the hospital was very boring. And he began to think of her. However, she had not gone to the hospital to see him for almost two months. She did not even make a phone call.

Christian had always wanted to find someone to talk to during his most helpless days. However, Vivian did not appear. He thought something might have happened to her, so he had Jayson go back to their hometown without batting an eyelid.

But he found that Vivian was actually dating his younger brother.

The moment he found out the truth, he smiled bitterly. However, his heart did not hurt very much. Because at that time, he finally understood that even if their appearances were shockingly similar, no one could replace Gia. Vivian only had a very similar appearance to Gia, that was all.

It was because he had placed too many things in his heart, there was such a disparity.

After figuring this out, He understood.

In fact, he did not cancel the marriage was not because Vivian was the woman he wanted to marry, but because he had decided on a date a long time ago. The reason why he insisted was to give his half-brother a chance to turn around.

Although Vivian was not Gia, his brother was still related by blood!

He wanted to give him a chance to turn back!

When he saw Vivian and Julian in the office that day, he was not too surprised. It was just that the little girl standing in front of him affected his heart. He saw her being pushed away by his little brother and hit her head. Only then did he truly get angry.

Actually, no one knew that the fate between him and Sarah had started a long time ago.

In the past, his father and Sarah's father, Patrick, were very close brothers. According to his father, the reason why Cooper Group had today's glory was because Sarah's father played a big role.

Because of the good relationship between the two families, when Sarah was young, her father would often bring her to the Cooper Family. However, because of Daphne, Christian had started to study in school since he was young and there were very few opportunities to return home. Therefore, the number of times he saw Sarah was also very small.

In his impression, Sarah liked to wear two cute braids the most. She wore a beautiful dress and blinked a pair of especially cute big eyes. She looked curiously at everything around her.

At that time, he was very envious of the smile on this girl's face. Just looking at it made him feel very happy.

Their fate had truly begun nine years ago.

That year, he was 24 years old.

It was also the year Sarah was engaged to Julian.

And most importantly, that year, the father who loved Sarah the most had left this world.

It was a late autumn afternoon, and it was also Christian's mother's death anniversary.

After rushing back from the army, he didn't even have time to take off his military uniform before heading straight to his mother's grave. The grave here was very big. Looking over, it was filled with tombstones.

A gust of autumn wind blew past. The pine trees and cypress on both sides of the road kept shaking, sweeping up some of the fallen leaves on the side of the road. A series of sounds came, making people feel desolate.

Christian walked along the road in the middle of the cemetery. When he was about to reach his mother's grave, he could hear the sound of sobbing in his ears. He looked at the source of the sound.

He found that not far from his mother's grave, there was a girl about sixteen years old. She held some snacks and some wild flowers that she had picked up from the mountain. She was kneeling in front of an unfamiliar tombstone and crying non-stop.

Because he had always been in the army, at that time, he didn't know that the person buried under the tombstone was his father's best friend.

The little girl was wearing a gray coat, and it was a little big. Her hair was a bit messy, completely different from her age. Her body kept trembling. When the autumn wind blew, it slightly raised her hair, making her look a little lonely and fragile.

Christian stood where he was and watched for a while. He then lifted his foot and walked towards his mother's tombstone.

In fact, it was very normal to hear someone crying in a place like this. Because of the longing for their loved ones, many people could cry freely here once.

Because once you go down the mountain, you will have to face everything in the secular world! No one will sympathize with your tears. Only here will you see the other side of the world.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.