

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 181 Tonight Let Me Serve You Well Once

After dinner, Christian went downstairs with Sarah. He took her for a walk in the neighborhood.

The autumn wind blew over, blowing the hair in front of Sarah's forehead. It brought a wave of coolness. Christian felt the wind was a little cold today, so he stopped and straightened his wife's collar.

He looked at his wife's smooth forehead with the light of the street lamp in the neighborhood, then at her delicate and cute little face. He couldn't help but lower his head and kiss her.

"Wife, when I'm not around in the future, you must protect yourself well. You're pregnant now. You must remember to add clothes on time. Don't catch a cold.

If you catch a cold, our child will definitely not feel well. Even if it is for him, you have to take good care of yourself, okay?"

There are too many things that you can't let go of.

Christian wanted to put her in his pocket and leave with her, but he also understood. . . There were some things that he couldn't do as he wished.

"Okay, I got it. You also have to take care of yourself. No matter what, I'm in my own home. Mom will take care of me and my baby. Don't worry, I'll really be fine." Sarah nodded obediently.

Seeing the reluctance and tenderness in his eyes, she reached out and wrapped her arms around his waist.

"Actually, our family does not lack money that needed your salary. But I know that you do not work for money. You also need to have your own pursuits and life, so I do not object to you going out to work. But there is one thing you must remember. You must not work too hard! Do you know?"

"Yeah, I'll remember that." Sarah nodded obediently again. Although what he said was not an oath, it was like a warm current slowly flowed into her heart, hearing it. It was warm, sweet, and it made people think of it endlessly.

"You can live in the villa and Mom's house as you wish. It doesn't matter if you don't go to the villa. Anyway, Mom is living alone and it is a little lonely. When the time comes, come and accompany Mom. She will also have someone to talk to. When you give birth in the future, she will be even happier."

"Yes, I know." Sarah heard his words and smiled. She looked at him and blinked. "Hubby, give your son a nickname!"

"A nickname? En, you are right! Just thinking about buying things for this kid, I forgot to give him a name."

Christian nodded like a father. No, that's not right. He was now a father.

He frowned slightly and looked at his wife, pretending to think about it. "What is my son's name? I'll think about it in the army."

"Let me think about it. . . How about I call him Alec!"
Christian wanted to give name as soon as possible.

"Why Matt?"

"For the next year, although I am not by your side, I will miss you every day. It also means that in the future, our son will grow up healthy and happy in your womb. When he grows up in the future, I hope that he will be defender of mankind.”

"Understood! Then he will be called Alec!"

Christian heard his wife's words and smiled. He then reached out his hand and placed it on his wife's abdomen. Like a father, he reminded the child in her womb.

"Alec, in the future, when your father is not by your mother's side, you have to be fine inside. Do you hear me? If you dare to cause trouble inside, be careful that Dad will beat you up when you are born."

Sarah heard his words and could not help but laugh. "He is not much bigger than a peanut now. Can he hear you saying that?"

"Of course! My son is so smart, he will definitely hear!" Christian immediately replied proudly.

"Hahaha..." Sarah could not help but laugh again.

The two of them walked for a while in the neighborhood and felt that it was about time so Christian brought his wife back upstairs.

The two of them chatted with Samantha in the living room for a while and saw that it was about time. Christian then returned to the bedroom with Sarah.

Sarah took her undergarments and pajamas from the closet and prepared to go to the bathroom to take a shower. Christian suddenly walked over and hugged his wife from behind.

Christian lowered his head and kissed her hair lightly. He whispered in her ear with a somewhat hoarse voice, "Wife. In the past, when my legs were not good, you often bathed me. Let me take a bath with you tonight. . ."

Sarah heard his words and her face instantly turned red. She rejected him somewhat embarrassedly, "Don't. . ."

Wouldn't it be too embarrassing to let him wash her?

But, just as she finished her words, her body suddenly soared into the air. Before she could react, Christian directly carried her into the bathroom. He then closed the bathroom door.

As soon as he walked in, Christian put his little wife on the ground. He looked at her shy face, held her face up, and kissed her cherry red lips. Only then did he look at her with an ambiguous gaze.

"This time, I will probably leave for half a year. In the past, it was you who served me. Tonight, let me serve you well once!"

Sarah listened to his words and bit her lower lip slightly.

Even though the two of them were already husband and wife and they had already done all the things that needed to be done, but this was the first time he had asked to serve her like this in front of her.

She was still a little embarrassed and shy, and her heart was beating a little fast. Sarah didn't even dare to raise her head to look into his eyes.

"But. . . You're doing this. . . I'm not feeling well. . ."
When she thought about what would happen next, she didn't dare to face him anymore.

"Just treat tonight as an enjoyment. I just want to take a good bath with my wife. . ."

Christian looked at her's face, which was getting redder and redder. He could not help but lower his head and kiss her hard again. He knew that she would be embarrassed if she did not put on her clothes in front of him.

Seeing him take off all his clothes, Sarah did not know where to look for a moment. Her eyes flickered left and right.

She originally wanted to lower her head to look at the ground. But who knew that when she lowered her head, she just happened to see his manhood.

Sarah stared at that place and blinked a few times before letting out a soft cry. She hurriedly turned her head away with a red face and looked elsewhere. Her heart was beating even faster.

Christian looked at her expression and smiled.

Christian came in front of her full naked and asked ambitiously, "Wife, will you take your clothes off or do you want me to undress you?"

Sarah's face instantly turned half red. Hearing him ask her such a direct question, she bit her lips and did not know what to say.

Christian reached out and lifted his little wife's face. He looked at her with an ambiguous gaze and lowered his head to kiss her lips.

Sarah felt a little uncomfortable and avoided his gaze as he said, "Christian, I will do it myself. . . "

Being served by him like this, she really could not stand it. Her face was burning hot and her heart was also beating very fast. She seemed to be even more nervous than when she first bathed him.

Christian held her hand and said softly, "Don't do anything today. Don't worry, just give yourself to me. Be good. . ."

His Adam's apple slid up and down a few times. He reached out and gently wrapped his arms around her waist. He hugged her tightly and lowered his head to her ear and said in a hoarse voice, "Baby, what did you call me just now? Say it again."

Sarah heard his words and immediately changed her words with a red face, "Hubby. . ."

. . .

After the excitement, Christian carried Sarah into the bedroom. He laid beside his little wife and gently pulled her into his embrace.

It was the first time Sarah had acted so proactively just now. It made him feel indescribably happy and satisfied in his heart.

"What should we do, baby? I am getting more and more reluctant to leave you."

His little wife had once again made him lose control tonight. When he thought about how he would no longer have his little wife by his side in the following days, he felt an indescribable sense of loss in his heart.

"I also can't bear to part with you. . ." Sarah hid in his wide chest, her small hands continuously drawing small circles on his sexy and developed Muscle Thread.

In coming days, without his company, her heart was also reluctant to part with him. But thinking about his career. . . This time, he was going to a place thousands of miles away. Compared to him, she was still much happier.

Sarah looked up at him and comforted him gently, "It's alright. When I miss you in a while, I will come to see you. Then I'll stay there for a few days. What do you think?"

A year was an extremely long period of time for both him and her. She didn't need to think to know that she definitely wouldn't be able to last that long. Perhaps in less than two months, she would run thousands of miles to see him.

"That place is more than a thousand miles. What if something happens on the road? You'd better not go.

Although your husband is brave, once he comes into contact with you. . . His courage will immediately be on the same level as a mouse."

Christian understood her feelings for him after listening to her words. But it wasn't easy for them to have a child. He didn't want to joke around with his child.

She couldn't help but nodded to what he said. She smiled and said. "Didn't you say that your son's ability to resist blows is very strong? Maybe he's stronger than you think!"

"That won't do either! His body is too weak now. When he's born, you can find me however you want. But if you take him on a long journey now, your husband will be scared to death by you!"

Sarah heard his words and laughed again. Seeing his worried expression, she nodded her head in agreement. "Alright! Then I will obediently wait at home for you to come back. You also have to work hard to come back as soon as possible. Otherwise, I'll miss you. . ."

Christian listened to his wife's words and smiled. "Wife, can you tell me whether you will miss be mentally or physically?"

Sarah's face turned red. She looked at him reproachfully and then replied in a spoiled manner. "I won't tell you!"

Christian looked at his wife's expression and smiled. He lowered his head and whispered in her ear, "Maybe your body wants to, but your heart doesn't want to, right?"

"No, it's not like this. . . "

Christian raised his eyebrows and looked at his wife, asking, "That means it's just that your heart wants to, but your body doesn't want to?"

She raised her head and kissed his lips. She did not avoid his burning gaze at all. "I want it all!"

He lifted her chin and kissed her hard on the lips. The suppressed desire in his body was once again quickly ignited by his wife's words.

He really wanted to fiercely ask her to do it again. But he was really afraid of the child in her womb.

Christian said softly in a somewhat uncomfortable manner, "Wife, what should we do? I want you again!"

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 182 Submit Your Resignation Today

Sarah looked at his aggrieved expression and could not help but smile at him, "Oh right, you are only married to me for a few months and becoming so impatient. Then how did you survive in the past?"

"Cough cough, wife, can we change the topic?"
Christian coughed twice and wanted to change the topic.

"No!" Sarah looked at him like a spoiled child. When she saw Military Commander Cooper's conflicted expression, her curiosity was immediately aroused. She looked at him and threatened, "If you don't say it,

I will take it back."

As she said, she was about to take her hand back when Christian grabbed her hand.

"Okay, I will tell you."

Christian felt very uncomfortable in his lower body and really needed her help. So when she threatened, he looked at his wife and directly surrendered.

"Then quickly say it!" Sarah looked at him again, feeling amused.

Seeing his hesitant expression, she deliberately asked him back, "You didn't often go to clubs to solve problems, did you? Christian Cooper, just tell me honestly!"

Christian scratched his wife's nose with his hand and said with a smile, "Bad girl. Is your husband that bad?"

"Wow, really? I didn't expect you to be so pure."
Sarah looked at him with an evil smile.

"Of course, I gave my virginity to you." Christian replied shamelessly.

"Puchi!" Sarah could not help but laugh. She looked at him and asked with a smile, "In other words, it was your first time with me?"

"Baby, that was definitely my first time!"

She immediately blinked her eyes and stared at him. There was an indescribable surprise in her heart.

But thinking about how he had two fiancée before, plus he was already 32 years old, it was not very likely that he had not even had a single affair before.

As she thought about it, she looked at him and pretended to be angry as she said, "That's not possible, right? You had two fiancée before. I don't believe that you haven't slept with a woman before?"

To be honest, Sarah did not really mind whether it was his first time with her or not. After all, he was already in his thirties. Even if it had really happened before, it was still human nature.

However, she did not expect that Christian would actually give her an unexpected surprise.

Christian immediately raised his hand and made an oath when he heard his wife's words. "Wife, your husband is a soldier, and he still has principles. Before the wedding, I absolutely can't take that step, and it turned out that. . . What I did was completely correct!"

If not for his insistence back then, he would definitely not have been able to withstand Vivian's temptation.

Thinking about it now, if he had really had a relationship with Vivian, his heart would definitely be as uncomfortable as eating a fly right now!

"Really?"

He actually gave her his first time.

No wonder he was so nervous when the two of them had their first time.

"It's absolutely true! Baby, seeing how pure your husband is, can you give me a little benefit?" Christian looked at her and asked with a smile.

"That was also my first time, okay? I didn't even ask for any benefits!" Sarah replied with a small face.

"Who said you didn't? How big of a benefit is this!" Christian put his hand on her belly as he spoke. "Our son is inside. When he comes out in the future, he will take care of you. When you are unhappy, he will make you laugh. What a great benefit it is."

"Then what kind of benefit do you want?"

He listened to her and lowered his head to kiss her lips. He also wanted to control his body, but with his little wife lying in his arms, he couldn't control himself no matter how hard he tried.

He took her little hand away from his lower body, turned around, and lightly pressed her body. The hot kiss fell down again and again. . .

The night gradually deepened. After the excitement, the two of them tightly hugged each other and entered a sweet dream. . .

...

After breakfast the next day, Christian brought Sarah to the wedding photography shop.

Because it was already decided yesterday, when the two of them arrived, the makeup artist started to put on makeup for Sarah.

Considering the fact that she was pregnant, Sarah only put on some light makeup.

The filming location for the outdoor scene was at the beach. After putting on makeup, Christian took his wife and followed the Staff from the wedding shop to the beach.

Christian looked Sarah who was dragging her long wedding dress with a satisfied smile.

He originally only wanted to take a few photos, but Sarah insisted on taking a lot of pictures before leaving.

Because she understood in her heart, in the future, what will support Christian and herself were these pictures. So she wanted to take more pictures, hoping to give him more sweet memories.

Christian understood his wife's feelings and did not insist.

The wedding photos were taken until 1: 00 PM before it was completely over. The two of them changed into their original attire. Christian brought Sarah home.

Because they had already called on the way home, lunch had already been prepared by Samantha. The family happily ate lunch.

Christian knew that his wife was too tired today, so after lunch, he let Sarah go to the bedroom to rest. He covered her with a blanket and watched her close her eyes. Only then did Christian leave his mother-in-law's home with a peace of mind.

Christian sat in the off-road vehicle and let Jayson drive back to Villa of Cooper Family.

If it wasn't because of Greta this time, he would definitely return to the villa to see his father as soon as he came back.

When he thought of Greta, that woman, his brows slightly furrowed.

Greta was not a young girl who didn't know what to do and what not to do. When Christian thought of that woman lying on his bed and taking that kind of ambiguous photos, he's got an unspeakable anger in his heart.

If it wasn't for the fact that he had explained everything to Sarah this time, it was very likely that they would have reached the point of divorce!

When he recalled the look of despair in her eyes when he first saw Sarah on the first day he returned, he could imagine what Greta had said to his wife back then.

That woman was too much!

Since she had done it, she should understand the consequences that she had to bear!

Looking at the city scenery that kept flashing by outside the window, Christian took out his phone and quickly dialed Greta's number.

The phone rang. Soon, Greta's gentle voice came from the other end of the phone. "Christian, you actually took the initiative to call me?"

"Greta Hughes, it's not wrong to like someone! But I never thought you would do such a thing. I am going to divorce her. Are you satisfied now?"

When Greta heard Christian's words, her face revealed a look of surprise. "Christian, is what you said true? Are you really going to divorce her?"

Great!

Greta held onto her phone tightly and was somewhat agitated.

Originally she was still somewhat uneasy about what she had done. Now that she heard that he was going to divorce that Sarah, she understood that it was all worth it for her to do all of this!

"Are you satisfied now?" Christian did not answer her question. Instead, he asked her back.

"Christian, love needs mutual trust. I did that to test her, but I didn't expect her to really believe me. If that kind of woman left, then so be it! No matter what you become, I will always wait for you. Now you should understand who is the best to you, right?"

Greta was so excited that she did not know what to say.

"Yes, I understand! Can you send me the photos you took that night? I want to take a look. . ." Christian looked out the window and slowed down his voice which sounded gentle, but his eyes were cold.

Greta heard his words and blushed, but she still nodded excitedly, "Okay. Wait a minute! I will send you immediately!"

After the photo was taken that night, she did not delete it. Instead, she saved it.

Actually, she had also thought about what would happen if she was discovered one day. But when she thought about that bed in which Christian slept, she felt a little reluctant to delete the photos.

Now, when she heard that he wanted to see the photos, without thinking, she found the photo and sent it to him.

When the beeping sound of text notification rang,

Christian immediately picked up his phone and opened it.

When he saw the photo, he was stunned for a moment. It was exactly the same as what Sarah had said.

No wonder, Sarah was so mad at him. Looking at these photos, no matter who it was, she or he would doubt on him.

Christian looked at Greta's provocative eyes in the photo and frowned. He then dialed Greta's number again and put it beside his ear.

"Christian. . ." Seeing that his number was called again, Greta was so happy that her face bloomed. Even her voice changed.

"Greta, I'm sorry to tell you. The misunderstanding between me and my wife has been explained clearly. This photo allowed me to see clearly what kind of person you are. There were too many things that I didn't want to say but you dared to cross my bottom line."

"So leave the army. Today, you will submit your resignation application. I will get someone to approve it. What you did to my little wife, I will pretend that nothing happened then. But if you don't submit it today, you'll have to bear the consequences yourself!"

"Christian, What. . . What did you mean just now?"

This sudden turn of events made Greta unable to turn around for a moment. She held her phone tightly and nervously asked back.

"You are a soldier. I think you should know what kind of punishment breaking the military marriage will bring you from the moment you stepped into the army. What you are doing now is not worthy of wearing that military uniform! As long as you leave the army, I will pretend that nothing has happened! That's it!"

Greta heard Christian's words and immediately wanted to explain nervously, "Christian! Christian! It's not what you think! I just like you! That's why I did it! Don't let me leave this place. I like the army. Please don't let me leave. . ."

Greta's emotions crumbled when she heard him ask her to change her career.

But before Greta could finish, she was interrupted by Christian's cold voice, "I will only wait until six o'clock this afternoon. If I don't receive your resignation application by then, then you will have to bear all the consequences yourself!"

After saying that, Christian hung up the phone with a cold expression.

"Christian! Christian!"

Greta called Christian's name again, but what she heard from the other end of the phone was just a blind sound of the phone being cut.

Greta sat on her office chair and looked in front of her in despair. Her white hand loosened and the phone fell to the ground with a bang and instantly broke into pieces.

Just like her heart, it shattered into pieces. . .

She liked Christian for so many years and liked his way of doing things. Although she knew a little about him, but she knew that very few people could change the things he decided.

Actually, before doing this, she had also thought about the consequences she would face if her plan was exposed.

But Greta had always felt that even if Christian knew the truth, he would at most give her a warning. He wouldn't do such a heartless thing.

She even thought about whether Christian would let the organization to question her directly. But even then, she would admit it.

As long as she could stay in the army. . . She would be able to see him again.

But Greta never would have thought that Christian would be so heartless to her!

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 183 Mother-In-Law's Care For Her Daughter-In-Law

Greta's body went limp and she collapsed on the chair.

Greta had been in the army for so many years. She liked the men in the military camp. The people here were smart and capable. Their words were loud and clear.

Moreover, there were very few female soldiers here, so female soldiers were always the target of men's attention. She liked this feeling.

Although Christian was not among those men, her vanity could still be greatly satisfied!

But now, Christian wanted her to leave!

No! Absolutely not!

Greta lowered her head and wanted to call Christian back, but when she saw the broken phone on the floor, her tears gushed out.

Fortunately, she remembered Christian's phone number with familiarity. She did not care about the broken phone. She picked up the landline on the table and called him.

"Hello." Christian's voice quickly came from the other end of the phone.

"Christian, it's me! Listen to me! I was wrong! Don't let me leave. . ."

Before Greta could finish her words, she heard that the other end of the phone had already completely gone silent. There was only a beeping sound coming from the receiver.

The earpiece slowly slid down from her hand. Greta eyes were filled with despair as she closed her eyes. Tears also slowly flowed down.

There was no mistake in loving a person.

But if you use the pretense of love to destroy other people's marriage and family, that would be unforgivable.

Just like what Christian had said before, knowing that it is impossible to do it, if you still insisted on doing it that is the most hateful.

The off-road vehicle travelled in the city for about half an hour and finally drove into Villa of Cooper Family.

The car stopped in front of the villa. Christian quickly got out of the car and strode into the living room of the villa.

Today was Saturday. Although Ethan had recovered a lot, the number of times he went to the company was still much less than before. When Christian walked in, Ethan was sitting on the sofa with Benjamin and Daphne chatting.

During this period of recuperation, his body looked like a normal person. When he saw his son walk in, a smile instantly appeared on Ethan's face.

There were many things in this world that could only be gained only if you lost something.

To Ethan, this illness had allowed him to see the other side of his eldest son.

Ethan had always thought that Christian's feelings for him were not as deep as he had thought. However, it was this illness that allowed him to see the feelings of his son, who rarely spoke in the family, for him clearly.

"Dad, how are you?"

Hearing his son ask him, Ethan smiled and nodded.

"Don't worry about me. I am in good health now. How are things in the army recently? Is everything going well?"

"Everything is fine. Dad, I came back this time because I have something to tell you." Christian looked at his father in front of him and then looked at grandpa who was sitting on the sofa. There was some unspeakable guilt hidden in his black eyes.

He was the eldest son in the family after all, but he usually spent the least time at home.

"Yes, tell me. What is it?"

"Dad, I have been transferred to another city. The transfer order was issued two days ago. I came back this time because of the transfer order. My superiors gave me a few days of vacation."

Ethan nodded. Christian was a soldier. He actually understood this kind of thing. "Then where did you transfer to? Is it far from here? "

"The new military camp is in X Province, close to a thousand miles from here. I will not be able to come back any time soon in the future." Christian replied with a bit of guilt.

Daphne was drinking tea from a cup in her hand on the sofa. When she heard what Christian said, her eyes flashed and she put down the cup.

"Christian, you are a soldier. Soldier's duty is to obey orders. No matter how far you go, you don't have to worry about the family matters. I'm here."

Christian leaving the family was the happiest thing for her. But no matter how happy she was in her heart, she couldn't show it on her face.

"In the future, I will not be at home and Dad's health is not good either. Furthermore, Sarah is pregnant now. In the future, I will have to trouble Aunt Daphne to take care of it."

Although he did not have a good relationship with Daphne, but when Christian thought about how he would be gone for a long time and Sarah had to come back to this family, so he couldn't have a bad relationship with his stepmother.

Daphne waved her hand and smiled. "Christian, don't worry. There are so many maids in the house. Nothing will happen."

"Yes, I feel much more relieved when Aunt Daphne says so."

Benjamin also smiled and comforted when he heard Christian's words. "Christian, don't worry. Our family will definitely take good care of Sarah. Don't worry about the future. Work hard in the new military camp and strive to achieve good results."

"Got it, Grandpa. I will not let you down!"

"Christian, after you are transferred this time, will you return to your original troops in the future?" Ethan asked worriedly.

"I don't think so. We'll see how it goes. But the Bureau Chief said that if I do well, the possibility of me being transferred back to our place is very high." Christian answered Ethan with a smile.

"You mean the garrison troops here?" This news was really a pleasant surprise to Ethan.

"Yes! If I do well in a year, I might be transferred back. At that time, I will be much closer to home. If I drive, I'll be back in about an hour."

"That's great. Then you must do your best when you go. Sarah is still young. It's too hard for you two to be separated like this. Even if it is for Sarah, you must put in more effort. Do you understand?"

"Dad, don't worry."

"Yes. . ."

As they were talking, they heard footsteps coming from the door of the living room.

Everyone looked over and saw Vivian walking in with a basket in her hand. The basket seemed to be very heavy and Vivian struggled to carry it.

After a few steps into the living room, Vivian smashed the basket onto the ground with a clang. Then she straightened her back and frowned as she took a few deep breaths. "Aiyo. I'm so tired."

Daphne saw the expression on her daughter-in-law's face and quickly ran over nervously. As she walked, she called out to her, "Oh my God. Vivian, why are you carrying such a heavy thing? Didn't you return to your mother's house?"

Daphne walked over and looked down at the things in the basket. They were all food. After placing the basket full, she reached out and picked it up.

Realizing that it was really not an ordinary weight, she immediately looked at Vivian in reproach.

"Vivian, you are now carrying the grandson of our Cooper Family. Do you understand? There was already an accident last time. This time, you have to protect your body no matter what! Did you hear that?"

Vivian heard mother-in-law's words and immediately smiled and nodded, "Mom, look at how nervous you are. If he is fated with you, no matter how hard I work, he will definitely be fine. And if he is not fated with you. . ."

"Stop it! My grandson must have fate with me. Don't do this kind of work again in the future. Lea, take all the things to the kitchen."

Daphne raised her hand and did not let Vivian continue.

Ever since Vivian had the miscarriage last time, Daphne was really scared. Now, Daphne really could not help but be very careful of this grandson that she had finally looked forward to. She was afraid that something bad would happen to Vivian this time.

Lea immediately walked over and took all the things Vivian brought into the kitchen. Daphne immediately brought Vivian to the sofa and sat down.

Vivian looked at Christian who was on the sofa. She smiled and greeted him, "Big Brother is back?"

Ever since she married Julian, she had barely spoken to her ex-fiancé. Most of the time, it was her who had spoken. Christian did not respond to her at all. But even so, Every time she saw him, she would still take the initiative to greet him.

"Yes." Christian looked at her indifferently, then he retracted his gaze and picked up the teacup on the coffee table to take a sip.

Vivian smiled and sat beside Daphne. She looked at Christian and then looked at Daphne beside her. She smiled and said, "Mom, when I went back to my mom's house today, I happened to meet an auntie next door. She said that looking at my face, this child must be a son."

Daphne liked to hear this kind of words. When she heard her daughter-in-law finish speaking, her eyes immediately lit up and she said with a smile.

"Really? I am looking forward to you giving birth to a grandson."

Ethan listened to his wife's words and looked at her. He said in a deep voice, "It is better not to listen to this kind of thing. Whether it is the son or daughter, they are the flesh and blood of our Cooper Family."

Daphne heard her husband's words and replied with a smile. "Although that is what you say, our family has such a big business. What if we don't give birth to a grandson? If we give birth to a granddaughter, wouldn't our Cooper Group become someone else's?"

Ethan immediately looked at his wife and said, "Look at what you're saying. Isn't there still Christian and Sarah? Even if Vivian had a daughter, Sarah might still have a grandson. At that time, our Cooper Group will still stay in our hands, right?"

After Daphne heard her husband's words, she originally wanted to rebut. But when she saw Christian's face, she immediately swallowed back what she wanted to say.

Daphne smiled and nodded, "What Ethan said is right. There is also our Sarah. But if our Cooper Family have two grandsons, it would be even good. Dad, don't you think so?"

Benjamin smiled and nodded. "Yes! At this time next year, the Cooper Family will have two more people! Just thinking about it makes me happy."

Vivian just came back from her mother's house and she was thirsty. She picked up the tea cup on the coffee table and was about to drink it.

Daphne raised her hand to block it, "How can you drink this? Wait a minute. Hanah, quickly get that fruit plate for young madam."

After saying that, she looked at Vivian worriedly,
"Vivian, if you are thirsty, drink some milk."

"Mom, I think I should eat fruit. I always feel that there is a taste."

"Okay! Just tell Mom what you want to eat. Mom will get someone to specially buy it for you." Ever since Daphne found out that Vivian was pregnant with a boy again, she instantly returned to her previous state.

"Thank you, Mom!" Vivian looked at mother-in-law and smiled coquettishly.

"You are still polite with me?"

Daphne did not mind if Christian was here and when she saw Hanah walking over with a plate of fruit, she immediately stood up and took the plate of fruit and placed it in front of Daphne. She even picked up the fork and handed it to Vivian, "Quickly eat. Don't starve my grandson to death."

"Thank you mom. . ." Vivian looked at Daphne's sweet smile and put a piece of fruit into her mouth.

Christian saw Daphne's attentive expression towards Vivian and silently withdrew his gaze.

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 184 She Must Have A Son

Time slipped by a little bit.

Christian chatted with his family for a while. Seeing that it was about time, he greeted his family. He also said that he wouldn't be back for dinner tonight. Then, he left Villa of Cooper Family in his off-road vehicle.

After Christian left, Vivian wanted to say something to Lucas. However, as soon as she reached the middle of the second and third floor, she heard footsteps coming from downstairs.

Vivian looked down and saw Daphne had followed. She looked at mother-in-law's figure and smiled. She lifted her foot and entered her bedroom without looking back.

The moment Vivian entered the room, she kicked off her shoes and directly sat on the bed. Just as she leaned against the headboard and sat down, she saw Daphne walk in with a smile and casually closed the door.

"Mom, what is the matter?" Vivian looked at her mother-in-law and asked.

"Ah, Mom is fine. I just want to ask about what you just said."

"What is it?"

"When you came back just now, didn't you say that you saw a person who knew how to read faces? She said that you are definitely carrying a son?" Although Vivian was just casually saying it downstairs, Daphne remembered it in her heart.

"Yes! She said that I am definitely carrying a son." Vivian could not help but laugh as she spoke.

"I don't know how to read it either. But Vivian, I know the doctors in Municipal Hospital. After a while, she should be able to tell the gender. When the time comes, I will arrange the people inside and let's go for an examination. How is it?"

What Daphne wanted the most was actually a grandson.

"Mom, those people were just talking. What they said might not be accurate." Seeing mother-in-law so concerned, Vivian's vanity was once again greatly satisfied.

"What they say will definitely be accurate. Some people just look at this specially. You also think about it. Sarah is also pregnant this time. If you give birth to a daughter, and she gives birth to a son, at that time, the Cooper Group will definitely fall into Sarah's hands. So this time, you must fight for your mother's dignity, understand?"

Although Christian was the biological son of her husband, Daphne didn't have any affection for Christian at all.

To her, her son, Julian's child, was her true grandson.

As for the child Sarah gave birth to. . . No matter if it was a man or a woman, they were both born to fight over the property of the Cooper Family. So this time, for her, the one her daughter-in-law was carrying must be a grandson.

Vivian heard Daphne's words and could not help but smile again, "Mom, he is already in my stomach now. I cannot decide if he is a male or a female. When you say this, I feel a lot of pressure."

Daphne looked at Vivian reproachfully. "What pressure is there? Let me tell you, Vivian. You have to give birth to a boy this time."

Vivian smiled and nodded, "Mom, I know. Don't worry." Seeing Daphne so eager to have a grandson, Vivian also looked forward to the child in her womb.

Daphne left very quickly and Vivian watched Daphne leave with her large eyes turning cold.

Son! She must have a son!

Only then could she take all the properties of Cooper Family in her hands!

When her son grew up, she would announce his background. . .

But after experiencing the miscarriage last time, she did not dare to go to the hospital for a check-up again. But thinking about the gender, it was better to confirm it earlier.

If she knew whether it was a daughter or a son in her womb. . . She could also prepare earlier.

Thinking of this, Vivian quickly got out of bed. She walked to the door, opened the door, and poked her head out to see that there was no one in the corridor. Then, she locked the door behind her.

She walked back to her bed and dialed Lucas's number.

"My dear, you are about to become a Half Fairy!" Lucas couldn't help but feel happy when he saw that it was Vivian.

"What do you mean?" Vivian asked and smiled.

"The creditor who owed me the last time called me again. He said that if I don't pay off the money I owe him at noon tomorrow, he will find someone to teach me a lesson. Dear, you have to help me think of a way this time!" Lucas said anxiously.

Vivian frowned and immediately asked back anxiously, "How much is it this time?"

"Five hundred thousand!"

"Why is it so much? Wasn't it still three hundred thousand last time?" Vivian asked in a depressed tone.

"Didn't another month have passed? They said that the interest of 300,000 yuan per month was 100,000 yuan!"

"Even if it's 100,000, it's still 400,000 yuan! Why do you want 500,000 yuan from me?"

"Vivian, look at me. I'm only delivering goods to other people every day. I can't make much money. I was thinking about how you would get the money from Julian this time. I'll take the extra 100,000 to do a small business. This way, I can guarantee my future life. Don't you think so?"

Vivian agreed and nodded her head. "Yes, if you really think that way, that's not bad! But what kind of business do you want to do?"

With her pregnancy now, it was definitely not a problem to ask Julian for five hundred thousand yuan, but she was still worried that Lucas would take the money to do some wrong thing.

"I think even if I were to do business, the one who would come up with ideas would be you. You are the Lady Boss! How about this? You take the money from Julian first. Help me think about doing business. This way, we will have a way out in the future, right?"

"Sure! Then wait for my news."

"Okay, my dear."

...

After Christian left his villa, he returned to his mother-in-law's house first.

When he walked into the living room, he saw that Sarah had already woken up. She was sitting on the sofa and chatting with Samantha. He immediately walked over with a smile and sat beside his wife.

"Did you sleep well?" Christian did not mind his mother-in-law sitting opposite him. He smiled and held his wife's hand in his palm.

"Yes, it's good. I found out that I'm getting more and more fond of sleeping recently." Sarah saw him leaning against him with a coquettish smile.

"That must be because my son wants to sleep."
Christian smiled and gently scratched her little nose.

Sarah giggled when she heard him.

Samantha sat opposite of the two and looked at their intimate actions. Her heart was filled with indescribable joy. She looked at her son-in-law opposite and asked, "Christian, you just went back to the villa, right?"

"Yes, Mom. I went back to take a look. Everything is pretty good in the house."

"I haven't been home for a few days. Why didn't you take me with you when you went back?"

No matter what, Cooper Family was her mother-in-law's home. Sarah felt a little embarrassed when she heard Christian say that he went home.

"It's fine. I will bring you back to take a look tomorrow." Christian looked at his wife and smiled.

"Christian, how is your father? He should have recovered pretty well, right?" Every time her daughter returned home, Samantha would ask about Ethan's health. She knew that Christian had just returned, so she could ask him about it.

"En, my father's health is much better now. Now I think he is basically like a normal person."

"That's good."

Christian sat on the sofa with his wife and mother-in-law for a while. Seeing that it was almost time, he told Samantha that he would not be coming back for dinner tonight.

Sarah knew that he was going to see David, so she did not stop him. When she sent him to the door of the living room, she walked out and looked at him.

"Don't get too excited when talking to him. Don't drink too much wine. Do you understand?"

Christian looked at the living room. He did not see Samantha. He then reached out and wrapped his arms around his wife's waist. He lowered his head and kissed her cherry red lips. He lowered his voice and asked her with a smile, "Baby, are you worried about your husband or about your Mr. David?"

Sarah looked at him reproachfully and deliberately teased him with a smile. "I am not worried about you. I am worried about my baby's father!"

Christian could not help but laugh. He lowered his head and kissed his wife again. Only then did he look at her and promise, "Don't worry. Your baby's father knew what to do. Let's go."

After saying that, he let go of his wife's waist, turned around, and quickly went downstairs.

Sarah watched his figure disappear in the corridor before turning around and returning to the living room.

When Christian's car stopped in front of Savid Tower, it was almost six o'clock.

When Christian got off the car, he saw the BMW X5 parked not far away and subconsciously looked up in the direction of David's office. He saw David standing by the window of the private room next to him.

David raised his arm and waved at him. When their eyes met, Christian looked at David and smiled. He lifted his foot and walked into David Tower.

This was not the first time the two men met. When Christian walked into the private room, he saw David waiting for him at the door.

"I'm not late, am I?" Christian looked at David and smiled. They walked to the dining table and sat down.

"I also came back not long ago!" David originally had a stomach full of resentment towards Christian, but after he received Sarah's call and knowing that there was only a misunderstanding between them, his heart also relaxed.

Actually, when he decided to turn around, he never thought of interrupting their marriage again. But he never would have thought. . . Sarah would be hurt by Christian to such an extent.

The moment he saw Sarah in pain, his heart once again ached for her.

The two of them sat opposite each other, and it was David who spoke first. "Tell me what happened between the two of you!"

Although he was not in the place to interfere, since it involved Sarah's happiness, he had to interfere.

Christian heard his words and smiled. "It was actually a misunderstanding. There is no reason for husband and wife not to fight, right?"

"Even if it's a fight, there has to be a limit. Other families finished quarreling at noon and it would be settled at night, but Sarah cried for two days for you!"

Christian Cooper, look at how she looked when you came back."

When Sarah's matter was mentioned, David could not help but want to get angry.

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 185 Ask for a Favor

"I admit it was my fault this time. I promise you that this will never happen again." Christian knew very well what kind of position Sarah held in David's heart. So he explained patiently.

"In fact, everyone will promise to do things. Back then, you promised me that you would never let Sarah suffer any grievances. But what about now? Your promise doesn't work at all!" David looked at him in disbelief. Although his tone was very rude, he still picked up the teapot on the table and poured a cup of tea for Christian.

Christian couldn't help but smile when he heard what David said. He felt that David really looked like his Sarah's Big Brother.

"Although I am a few years older than you, no matter what, you are still Sarah's Big Brother. Actually, I have always been admired you. I admire you for your pure love for Sarah. For the sake of her happiness, you chose to turn around. The reason why I want to drink with you today, it's because of this."

"What happened before was indeed my fault, because if it wasn't for me, Sarah wouldn't have suffered so much. But this time, I am also very happy. Perhaps you will think that I am a little ruthless. Sarah clearly suffered a grievance, but why am I still happy like this? Actually, the reason is very simple. Sarah is sad like this because she likes me and cares about me. If she did not react at all, that would be my most failed and painful part. Don't you think so?"

David looked at him indifferently. Although he didn't like to hear what he said, he understood and nodded. He still looked at him and asked slowly, "You didn't come to find me for dinner just to show off how close you and Sarah are, right?"

"Haha! Do you think Sarah has such bad taste?" Christian couldn't help but laugh when he heard what he said.

David raised his eyebrows unceremoniously. "Not necessarily. Sometimes she is too naive. She will easily believe other people's words. You are a Commander in army, and you have brought over a thousand soldiers with you. No matter what, you have more experience in life than her. I think Regimental Commander Cooper can fool Sarah with just a little bit of thought. Don't you think so?"

"Haha! It seems like you are indeed Sarah's Mr. David! You are always thinking for her, but I am relieved after hearing that."

"What do you mean?"

"I actually came here today to ask you for a favor."

"Speak!" David was not a petty person to begin with. Besides, the husband and wife were already fine, so he did not need to be calculative.

"Let me tell you the truth. I will be leaving my original place in two days. The new province is thousands of miles away. Once I leave this time, I will probably be back in half a year." Christian looked at him and told him the truth.

"You transferred? You and Sarah just got married. And you are leaving for half a year. Don't you worry?" David frowned. He felt a little depressed when he heard the news.

Although he liked Sarah, he still couldn't help but worry for her when he heard that Christopher was going to another place.

"Sarah is the one I can't rest assured about the most when I go out. She is pregnant now and I have to leave. You also know that military orders are as heavy as mountains. My profession is destined. It is my duty to carry out orders."

"Sarah is pregnant?" David frowned again.

"Yes! It had been more than a month. Thus, the one I am most worried about this time is her. The reason I came looking for you this time is to hope that after I leave, if Sarah needs any help, please. . ."

Before Christian could finish his words, he was interrupted by David, "Sarah's matter is my matter. You don't need to ask me for this, I will do my best to help. But Regimental Commander Cooper, when will you come back after you leave? Sarah was only twenty-four years old. How do you want her to live her life in the future? You are so assured?"

"You know my profession. Most of the time, we don't have a choice. Although the place I'm going to this time is a bit far, it's not without benefits. If I do well there, I'll probably be transferred back to this city in a year's time. So this time, even if it is for Sarah, I must leave."

"Sarah is now pregnant. Can you come back when she gives birth next year?"

"I can't guarantee that. I can only say that I will try my best to come back." Christian replied apologetically.

"You must come back! No matter how strict your discipline is, it is still human-like. It is impossible that your wife give birth to a child and you can't even apply for a visiting leave. Unless you don't want to come back!"

When David heard his words, he immediately became anxious. He thought about how Sarah had to face the pain of giving birth at such a young age.

Just thinking about it made him angry.

"I dare not guarantee you 100%, but I will do my best. But if I really can't come back at that time and if Sarah has an emergency, I hope Mr. David will help."

David looked at him bluntly. "You don't need to tell me this kind of thing, and I will not sit by and do nothing! Don't worry."

"Thank you."

"You clearly know that I like Sarah, yet you came all the way here to find me. Aren't you afraid that Sarah will return to my side after you left for a year?"

"If I don't believe you, I will definitely not come today." Christian looked at David and smiled.

David heard what Christian said and shook his head with a smile. "Do you think we would have become best friends without Sarah?"

"Of course! But now, because of Sarah, you are the good Big Brother of Sarah and me."

This dinner of Christian and David was the happiest time since they knew each other. They drunk together.

Christian treated David as Big Brother and respected him. David told Christian about some of Sarah's past and the places where she got excited. The two of them raised their glasses and downed the wine in one gulp.

Christian's alcohol tolerance was not small. David had also practiced drinking well in the past few years after he opened a hotel. Therefore, although the two of them drank quite a bit, they only drank until the end with a hazy drunkenness.

Christian drank in David's hotel until ten o'clock at night. Only then did he sway his body and leave Savid Tower. He sat in the off-road vehicle that Jayson was driving and returned to his mother-in-law's home.

When he walked into the living room, he found the mother and daughter pair sitting in the living room, watching TV and waiting for him.

Christian apologized to Samantha and said good night, then went into the bedroom with his wife.

Once he closed the bedroom door, Christian reached out and wrapped her in his arms. He lowered his head and kissed her forehead and cherry red lips without saying anything.

"Christian, can you take a bath first?" Sarah smelled the strong smell of alcohol on his body and was not used to this kind of smell.

"Wife, what did you call me?" He was not a small drinker, so he was only slightly drunk. Hearing his little wife call his name, he slightly raised his head and looked down at her. His large hand gently caressed her white face.

Perhaps it was because he drank, the desire in his body could not help but roll...

"Your alcohol smell is too strong. Go take a shower, okay?" Hearing his words, she slowed down her tone and looked at him as she spoke slowly.

"But I want you right now, baby. . ." Once he came into contact with her big eyes, he couldn't stand it and lowered his head, blocking all the words she wanted to say. . .

...

After the excitement, he took his little wife out of the bathroom and put her on the big bed. He also quickly laid beside his little wife and reached out to hold her in his arms.

"Why did you drink so much?" Sarah knew he went to find Mr. David, but seeing that his face was red from drinking, she could not help but ask him worriedly, "Did you fight with Mr. David?"

Christian pinched his wife's chin and kissed her hard on her lips. Then he looked at her with a smile and said, "Silly girl, do you think your husband is such an impulsive person?"

"Aren't you impulsive? If not, why did you marry me?" Sarah smiled and asked him back.

"Haha, this question is good. But wife, didn't you also want this flash marriage? It's not my fault."

"Huh! Don't be shameless. You were the one who dragged me into the Civil Affairs Bureau, but now you don't want to admit it?"

"Is that so? If your husband remembers correctly, I was sitting in a wheelchair at that time. You were the one who pushed me in, right?" Christian asked back with a smile.

Uh. . .

Sarah looked at his angular face and could not help but laugh. "I did not expect you to have such a shameless side!"

Christian laughed. "Haha, this is not shamelessness. People always say to think twice before doing things. Marriage is a big thing in a person's life. In the future, you will live with your partner for decades, and I had already experienced Vivian's matter. It is even more impossible for me to be impulsive in marriage.”

“That day, when I went with you to register, it was not a spur of the moment either. Think about it, you've liked someone for a long time, and if one day she suddenly agreed to marry you, could you let her miss this opportunity?”

"So you planned this for a long time!" Hearing his words, a sweet feeling rose in her heart.

Christian looked at his wife and laughed. "No, it's my luck!"

"So you deliberately told me about the three-month agreement? You even said that you don't have that function, and that you can't stand up. Okay. Christian Cooper, you lied to me all on purpose. . ." Sarah said as she punched his chest a few times.

Christian smiled and lowered his head to kiss his wife. "Seeing that your husband likes you so much, forgive him."

Sarah immediately rolled her eyes at him and thought about what happened between the two of them in the past. She suddenly could not help but laugh. After laughing enough, she looked up at him and asked, "At that time, I woke up every morning while hugging you. Was it also planned by you?"

In the past, she couldn't understand this matter. She kept feeling that even if she slept, she wouldn't be so dishonest. Now, hearing Christian's words, she clearly felt that she had fallen into someone's trap!

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 186 Only Shortcu

Christian raised his hand and gently scratched his wife's little nose. He couldn't help but smile and say, "It only means that you slept too deeply. You did not even react when I carried you over. You slept even heavier than the caterpillar in the forest. Haha! "

"You're too naughty!" Sarah pinched him mischievously.

"Haha! There was no other way. Who asked your husband to like you so much? But now that I think about it, I really admire myself. Don't you know that hugging you and sleeping with you every day was a torture for me?"

"That's what you asked for! Hmph!"

"Haha. . . "

...

Ever since she called Lucas, Vivian had been thinking about how to talk about money with Julian.

Five hundred thousand was not a lot of money to the Cooper Family. But with Julian's previous attitude towards her, she believed that he would not give her the money easily.

Fortunately, she had a magic treasure in her stomach. As long as she used the child's matter to threaten him a little, he would definitely give in.

After dinner, Vivian returned to their bedroom. After waiting for about an hour, she saw Julian walk in from outside.

Vivian ignored him. In the past, she would definitely welcome him, but now she had a new identity. No matter what, she had a child in her womb, so she lied on the bed and pretended not to see him.

Seeing her like this, Julian did not mind. He first went to the bathroom to take a shower and walked out in his changed pajamas. When he laid beside Vivian and saw that she still ignored him, he turned around and looked at her.

"My dear, what happened today? Why didn't you speak to me for a long time?"

Vivian immediately snorted and looked at him. "You still have the face to ask me? Sarah is also pregnant like me. But look at what Big Brother did. He directly bought a car for her!"

"When he bought it, he didn't know Sarah was pregnant."

"That means the problem is even more obvious. Even if she wasn't pregnant, she would be treated like this. But even if I am pregnant, I wouldn't be treated like that. Humph! I have seen through it. You do not have me in your heart at all!" Vivian immediately pouted angrily.

"How could that be? I haven't been able to make it during this period of time. You know I'm busier than before. Dad doesn't have much time to go to the company now. I'm the only one holding the company, and the company matters are enough for me. How can I have time to think about you?"

"Even if you're a CEO, didn't your father nurture so many vice presidents? It's impossible for everything to fall on your shoulders alone, right?" Vivian did not believe what he said at all.

"That is for sure. Otherwise, your husband will be exhausted to death."

"Since you don't have time, how about this? Give me the money and I'll buy it myself."

"Don't worry, I'll definitely buy the car for you in the future. But you're pregnant now. It's impossible for you to learn how to drive. Even if I buy it for you, you won't be able to drive it for the time being, understand?"

Julian paused for a moment and looked at her. "My dear. Next year, as long as you give birth to a son for me, don't even mention buying a car, I'll give you a villa."

"Really? That's what you said!" Vivian's eyes immediately lit up as she stared at him.

"Of course I said it. But you must have a son. There is no daughter."

"Why?" Julian felt a little depressed when she heard this.

"Silly, of course I want my son to inherit the Cooper Family's property. Such a big company, if you give birth to a son for me, I will be more motivated. Don't you think so?"

"Let me tell you, when I went back to my mother's house today, I happened to bump into a person in my neighborhood who knows how to read people's faces. She said that I am carrying a son."

Vivian couldn't help but feel happy when she thought of what the person she met today said.

"That's great. Wife, as long as it is a son, I will buy whatever you want." Julian immediately became interested when he heard that.

"I don't believe what you said. You don't even buy me a car now." Vivian looked at his expression and pursed her lips again.

"Aren't you unable to drive now?" Julian smiled and comforted her.

"If you can't drive it, you can give me money first."

"Okay. My dear, tell me, how much do you want? Forget it. I happen to have 500,000 yuan in my card. I'll give it to you first." Julian got up and got off the bed as he spoke. He took out his bank card from his wallet and handed it to Vivian.

"Take this five hundred thousand first. Just treat it as an emergency. We'll talk about buying a car next year. As long as you get your driver's license, I will buy you one immediately. This 500,000 yuan will be your pocket money."

Vivian did not expect Julian to be so generous to her this time. She immediately took it and put it away. She leaned over and kissed him hard. "Hubby, you are so good! I love you to death!"

"I am very busy now. If I have time, I would definitely have bought you a car before you get pregnant."

Vivian smiled and her eyes turned to look at him. "By the way, I heard you say that the company is too busy. I happen to have something to ask of you."

"Tell me, what is it?"

"Didn't I have a neighboring Big Brother? He is very enthusiastic and often helps our family. If we give him some money, he doesn't want it. I always felt that I owed him. Recently, I heard that his business is not doing well. He even sold his own van, and he seems to have lost money from doing business. I thought that he had helped our family before, so I wanted to take this opportunity to return a favor to him... The Cooper Group is so big, you can arrange a position for him in the company."

Julian had just said that the company was too busy. She thought about it and realized that it was not a good idea for Lucas to wander around outside.

If she could take advantage of this opportunity to arrange for Lucas to enter the Cooper Group, then she would definitely have a helper in the future.

"No problem. No matter how busy I am as a company's president, I can still arrange someone. Tell me, which department do you want him to join?" This kind of thing was a small matter to Julian, so he naturally agreed happily.

"Actually, he can't do anything. He doesn't have any skills. How about this? He's a good driver. You let him be your driver for a month first. Let's see how this person is. After a month, you can arrange other jobs for him."

Julian thought about this question and agreed readily.

"Okay. Then it's decided. Go to sleep. I've been too busy these few days. My eyes are starting to feel uncomfortable again."

After saying that, Julian lied down beside him and closed his eyes. A tear flowed down the corner of his eyes.

"What's wrong with you? Why are you crying?" Vivian looked at his expression and felt a little puzzled.

Julian opened his eyes and took a tissue to wipe his tears. He slightly frowned and replied, "I don't know what happened. My eyes have been crying very badly recently. But I just need to rest well and sleep for a night. Quickly go to sleep."

"Looks like you've been really tired recently. Don't think too much. Go to sleep." Vivian looked at his closed eyes and did not think too much.

After breakfast the next day, Vivian watched Julian leave Villa of Cooper Family with Ethan. She then told Daphne that she wanted to go back to her mother's house because she had some urgent matters to attend to.

When Daphne heard that, she immediately ordered the chauffeur to prepare the car and send Vivian back to her mother's house.

After the car drove for a distance, Vivian took out her phone and sent a message to Lucas. After getting Lucas's reply, she finally relaxed.

About 40 minutes later, Vivian's car finally stopped downstairs. She let the driver go home first and told him to come back to pick her up at night. Only then did she get off the car and go upstairs.

When Vivian's parents saw their daughter come back, they were all very happy. Vivian told her parents that she still wanted to eat the food that her mother cooked yesterday, so she came back.

Mrs. Holmes knew that her daughter was a foodie now. So she brought her husband to the market and prepared to buy more ingredients to prepare a proper lunch for her daughter.

Vivian saw her parents disappear on the balcony and immediately took out her phone to call Lucas. She asked him to come to her home immediately.

Lucas was originally waiting nearby. When he received Vivian's call, he ran to her house immediately. When the door opened, Lucas went up and hugged Vivian and kissed her wildly.

Vivian pushed him away and then nervously closed the door of the living room. Only then did she turned to look at him and could not help smiling. "Why are you always so anxious? What if someone sees you?"

Although she said so, she still reached out and wrapped her arms around his waist. Seeing that his face was not any worse than Julian's, she went up and kissed him.

"It can't be helped. The way you looked just now is similar to the scriptures from the Western Paradise. I dream about you every night. Vivi, when I think of you lying beside Julian every day, my heart feels like it is being cut by a knife. Sigh, how long I have to lead such a life?"

He was also a man. When he thought about the woman he liked lying beside another man, he couldn't stand it.

"Aren't we poor? I know that you're feeling unwell right now, but as long as we get the shares of the Cooper Group. . . We won't have to worry about food and clothing anymore. We'll go wherever we want for the rest of our lives. Don't you agree?" Knowing that he did not feel good, Vivian quickly consoled him.

Actually, this kind of life was also a form of torture to her, but Lucas owed too much money. This was the only shortcut they had at the moment.

"It's just that I've wronged you too much, Vivi. It's all my fault!" Lucas said as he lowered his head and blamed himself.

"Don't be silly. If I had not wronged myself, would you have been able to live until now? I came today to tell you something important."

"What is it?"

When he heard Vivian say something important, Lucas widened his eyes and stared at her.

"I have thought about it for the past two days. I think you should stop doing business. I've recommended you to Julian to be a driver. You should be his driver first and get his trust. If anything happens in the company in the future, I will also have an insider. Otherwise, I will stay at home every day and won't know what happened in Cooper Group. This way, you can have a stable job and also be prepared for any major incidents in the company."

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 187 Grandma's Birthday

After hearing Vivian's words, Lucas thought for a moment. He felt that this matter was really feasible, so he agreed and nodded. "My dear, I didn't think that you would be so thoughtful. Okay. I'll do as you say. But what about my debt? Did you get the 400,000?"

The thing he was most nervous about right now was the 400,000 yuan he owed. If he didn't have the money to pay the debt anymore. . . He didn't know what would happen.

Vivian smiled and looked at him. She took out the bank card Julian gave her from her pocket and gave it to him. "There is 500,000 yuan in here. Take four hundred thousand and return the debt. You can take the rest yourself. Go to the mall and buy some decent clothes. Do your hairstyle better. Leave a good impression on Julian. As long as you win his trust, things will be easier in the future. "

Lucas heard her words and immediately hugged her and kissed her. "Vivi, you are too good. I, Lucas, swear that I will be good to you for the rest of my life."

Lucas heard his words and looked at him reproachfully. She reached out and wrapped her arms around his neck. "We will probably have to endure for a while. Only then can we truly get together. Julian said that as long as my son is born, he will give me a villa. And that powerful mother-in-law of mine, her eyes almost turned green for her grandson."

Vivian said a paused for a moment, "But I was still a little worried about my miscarriage last time. So after a while, find a more hidden hospital and bring me to investigate. I hope my son is healthy this time. That way, I can be completely at ease."

"No problem! Leave this to me! But Vivi, are you sure this child of ours is a son? What if she is a daughter?" This kind of matter was hard to say. Lucas was a little worried.

Vivian glared at him. "When I came back yesterday, there was an aunt who knew how to read people's faces. She said it must be my son!"

"Yes, it seems that there is no problem. But I feel that in order to be safe, we still need to do a check to confirm it. What do you think?"

"Okay, okay! Then you can go and find a hospital during this period of time. This way, you can feel at ease."

"Alright!"

...

Christian brought Sarah back to Villa of Cooper Family the next day. They stayed at the villa for a day.

At night, Julian and Vivian both returned home. The family had a lively dinner.

Julian had been busy these two days. He did not know that Christian was going to be transferred away. He only knew about it after he heard Christian talk about it during dinner.

His hand holding the chopsticks paused. His pair of deep eyes moved slightly, then he looked at Christian opposite him and asked, "Big Brother, Then you won't come back for a year?"

"Probably not! When Sarah gives birth, there should be family visit leave."

Christian could tell what kind of person his brother was. Thinking about how Sarah would be in this house alone in the future, he looked at his father and said, "Dad, I'm not at home this year. If Sarah wants to go back to her mother's house, or live there, let her do as she wishes."

What he was most worried about was, something would happen during the time he was not around. And it would be too late afterwards. But as long as Sarah lived in her mother's house, there shouldn't be a big problem.

Ethan nodded in understanding and looked at his daughter-in-law beside him. "Okay! Sarah could live anywhere she wanted. The most important thing was that she could give birth safely. Seeing that her time is similar to Vivian's, I think I will need your mother-in-law's help when the time comes."

When Daphne heard her husband's words, she could not wait for Sarah to return to her mother's home and not come back for the rest of her life. At this time, she was also happy to do a favor.

"Sarah, you can come back whenever you want in this house. If you feel comfortable living in your mother's house, you can just stay there. You can just come back and take a look on the weekend. The most important thing right now is your health. As long as the child can be safely born, your dad and I are the happiest."

Sarah heard her words and smiled as she nodded her head, "Thank you Aunt Daphne!"

Daphne immediately put on the posture of an elder, "Look at you, child, we are a family. Why are you saying thank you?"

When Julian heard his mother's words, he looked thoughtfully at Sarah and Christian. He did not say anything.

Christian had stayed at home for a total of four days.

It wasn't easy for the two of them to get a chance to stay together. Sarah naturally would not let go of such an opportunity. She took a few days off with Syrus.

But no matter how reluctant the two of them were, Separation was a must.

On the morning of the fifth day, Christian's off-road vehicle was already waiting downstairs. After breakfast, Christian said goodbye to his mother-in-law and went downstairs with his wife.

This would be the first time the two of them would be separated for such a long time since they got married.

The two of them walked out of the unit. When Sarah looked at the off-road vehicle in front of her and thought that he was about to leave her, tears could not help but fall down. She knew that he would not be at ease if she did this. But she could not control her emotions no matter what.

Christian looked at his little wife and felt an indescribable reluctance in his heart. He reached out and gently pulled her into his arms. He placed the hair on her forehead behind her ear with his big hand. He then used his big hand to wipe away the tears at the corners of her eyes. He looked at her with a bit of heartache and reluctance.

"Baby, I really can't bear to leave you! Remember to take care of yourself. I'm leaving."

Christian lowered his head and kissed her lips unwillingly. He then held her tightly in his arms and said in a hoarse voice beside her ear, "Baby, I am leaving."

After saying that, he quickly turned around and opened the car door. He quickly sat in the car. The off-road vehicle immediately started up and drove forward.

Sarah's tears kept flowing out. Seeing the off-road vehicle driving further and further away from her line of sight, she ran a few steps and saw that the off-road vehicle had already driven out of the community's gate. She started to cry loudly.

Christian left. No matter how reluctant Sarah was, the days still had to pass day by day.

Luckily, not long after Christian went to the army, he sent her a message on WeChat. Looking at Christian's message for her, Sarah's heart was excited and excited. She immediately typed a few words and sent it, but she didn't reply for a long time.

Sarah looked at the time when Christian sent the message. She then realized that he had sent the message over at two o'clock in the morning. When she thought about how he only had time to send her the message at this time of the day, Sarah felt an indescribable heartache in her heart. But when she saw that he had already safely arrived at the army, her hanging heart also fell to the ground.

The wedding photos of the two came out a few days later. Sarah took them home and hung the most beautiful picture on the bed. She then sent all the electronic photos to Christian's email.

In the blink of an eye, half a month had passed.

Today was Thursday. When Sarah got off work, she was called into the office by the CEO, Syrus.

"CEO, why are you looking for me?" Sarah had already forgotten her previous agreement with Syrus.

Syrus heard her words and smiled. "It seems that you have already forgotten that today is my grandmother's eighty-fourth birthday. I said I wanted to bring you to our house."

Sarah immediately felt a little embarrassed when she heard his words. "I'm sorry, CEO. I forgot about this. "

"It's alright. Can you go today?" Syrus smiled and looked at her with anticipation.

"Yes! But. . . I didn't prepare any gifts. . ." Sarah looked at Syrus apologetically.

"It's alright. I have prepared one for you." Syrus said as he took out an exquisite gift box from the drawer and put it on the table. He looked at her and smiled.

"Actually, at Grandma's age, a gift doesn't matter too much. As long as you go tonight, it will be the biggest gift for her."

Sarah heard his words and seemed to have some other meaning. She looked at him tentatively and asked, "CEO, can you tell me the reason? No matter what, Grandma's birthday is still your family matter. I am only your secretary. Why do you want me to attend?"

She could not understand this point. No matter how good Syrus was, he could not be this good.

"It's a secret for now. But don't worry, Grandma won't treat you as her granddaughter-in-law. . ." Syrus looked at her and joked at the end.

Sarah heard his words and also smiled. Since Syrus said so, there was no need for her to continue asking.

Sarah went back to pack up the documents on the table, then she sat on Syrus's Ferrari and went to the Wilson Family villa.

Along the way, Sarah was a little nervous. Although the Cooper Group's business was also very big, but compared to the Wilson Corporation, it was still a little lacking. One must know that the Wilson Family was located overseas, and it was also spread all over the world.

Syrus was transferred back from a subsidiary company overseas. Although she had seen the chairman of the Wilson Group, Joseph Wilson, many times, she had only seen him from afar and had never said a word.

Although she had only seen him from afar every time, she could still feel a powerful domineering aura surrounding him. So every time she saw Joseph's face, Sarah had a kind of reverence in her heart.

When she thought about that she was going to enter the Wilson Family soon, how could she not be nervous?

The car soon arrived at the villa of the Wilson Family. The car stopped in the courtyard. A maid immediately walked over and opened the door for Sarah.

Sarah got out of the car nervously and saw that Syrus had already walked over.

She looked up at the castle-like Wilson Family villa in front of her. The courtyard was filled with luxury cars. There were many maids walking around in the courtyard from time to time. She nervously pinched her bag again. A somewhat uncomfortable and nervous feeling emerged from the bottom of her heart once again.

"Let's go!" Syrus walked over and smiled at her.

Sarah nodded slightly and followed his footsteps.

The two of them walked along the paved road in the middle of the lawn. Sarah saw that both sides of the road were carefully planted with some expensive flowers and plants. There was not a single weed on the lawn in the distance. The cutting stones on the road were all carved with exquisite patterns. Before entering the villa, one could already feel an indescribable luxury and nobility.

When the maids passed by the two of them, all of them bowed respectfully. "Young Master."

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 188 Too Similar

Syrus nodded slightly and continued walking forward with Sarah.

The two of them quickly reached the steps in front of the villa. After going up a few steps, Sarah followed Syrus into the living room. Just as they walked in, they heard a cheerful laughter coming from the living room.

Sarah could hear the voice of an old woman in her eighties and the voice of the Joseph. She did not expect the chairman who was so serious and calm in the company, had such a warm side.

Syrus seemed to see Sarah's nervousness. He looked back at her and smiled. "They are all my family. You don't have to be too nervous."

"Yes!" Sarah immediately nodded and said that she was not nervous. But how was that possible?

The two of them went around and then walked into the living room. Sarah looked up and saw that the entire hall was so big that there could be a ball party arranged in this place. There were seven or eight people, old and young, sitting on the four-ringed sofa.

When the two of them entered the living room, their laughter suddenly stopped. Everyone looked at the two of them.

The first one to speak was Charlotte. When she saw her brother bring a girl back for the first time, she immediately jumped up happily. She walked towards the two of them curiously and kept looking at Sarah. "Sy, is this your girlfriend?"

Syrus looked at his youngest sister and smiled. "Sister, she is timid. Don't scare her. She is my secretary, not my girlfriend."

After correcting Sarah's identity in time, Syrus looked at Sarah, who was beside him, and introduced her with a smile. "This is my third sister."

Sarah immediately looked at the other person respectfully and nodded. "Hello, third sister."

Seeing the big eyes of the girl, Charlotte's eyes flashed. Charlotte saw that she was wearing a white neck sweater and a pink thick coat and looked very pleasing to the eyes. She immediately smiled and nodded. She still felt that this was the girlfriend that her brother liked. She smiled and asked Sarah, "What's your name?"

"Sarah Wilson." Sarah immediately replied respectfully.

"Your surname is also Wilson?" Sarah's answer clearly surprised Charlotte. But after thinking about it, there were also many people with the surname Wilsom, so there was nothing strange about it.

Syrus brought Sarah to the four-ringed sofa. Jasmine, who had already returned home, saw her brother bring the secretary back and was really puzzled.

Jasmine leaned against the sofa and crossed her legs elegantly. Her gaze fell on Sarah, who was a little nervous. "Syrus, why did you bring her here today?"

As soon as his daughter finished speaking, Joseph also stared at Sarah who was in front of him. When he saw her small face, his deep eyes flashed with a strange light. He unconsciously turned his head to look at his old mother.

He saw that his mother also had been staring at Sarah for a long time. She could not move her gaze away.

Syrus smiled and looked at his grandmother in the middle of the sofa. "Grandma, her name is Sarah Wilson. She is my secretary. She heard that today is your 84th birthday, so she also came to congratulate you. Are you not going to welcome her?"

From the moment Sarah walked into the living room, Syrus's grandma, Deirdre, squinted her eyes and had been looking at her. As Sarah walked closer and closer, her eyes widened until Sarah walked in front of her.

When Deirdre saw Sarah's delicate and small face, her big hands held the armrest of the sofa tightly and her arms trembled slightly.

"Hello, grandma." Sarah looked at the white-haired old lady in front of her. She felt that although she was wearing expensive clothes and some jade jewelry, her smile looked very kind and gave people a sense of intimacy. She immediately bowed and greeted her with respect.

"Child, come here." Deirdre raised her hand to signal Sarah to squat down.

Sarah looked at Syrus in confusion. When she saw him nodded at her with a smile, she gently held the bag in her hand and took a step forward to squat down in front of Deirdre. She slightly raised her head to look at this kind and generous old lady.

"Yes! Too similar!"

Deirdre reached out her hand in excitement and held

Sarah's hand tightly. Her aged hand gently caressed Sarah's face. His yellow eyes were filled with tears of excitement. "Like. . . Too similar. . ."

Seeing the excited expression of the old lady in front of her, Sarah did not know what to do. However, she understood the reason why Syrus brought her here. It must be because of her looks. She looked similar to a relative of the old lady.

"Grandma, what is wrong with you?" On the sofa, Charlotte looked at her grandmother's expression and felt something unusual.

Deirdre ignored her granddaughter's words and only looked at Sarah in front of her. There was a hint of tears in her eyes as she said slowly, "Child, what's your mother's name?"

"My mother's name is Samantha Davies." Hearing

Deirdre ask her, Sarah immediately replied obediently.

"Wasn't her surname Wilson in the past?" Deirdre asked in disappointment.

Sarah shook her head in confusion. "Her last name shouldn't be Wilson. I have never heard her mention it."

"Then. . . Then where is your grandmother's home?" Deirdre am still somewhat unwilling.

"Grandma is a local, but Grandma and Grandpa have already passed away when I was very young." Sarah answered truthfully.

"Then do you know the names of your Grandma and Grandpa?"

Sarah shook her head. "I can't remember them."

Her mother had mentioned them to her before, but it had been too long and she had already forgotten about them.

Joseph heard the conversation between his mother and Sarah and knew that the girl in front of him was very similar to his lost sister. He looked at his mother and said slowly, "Mom, how can there be such a coincidence in this world? It has been so many years. Don't think about it anymore"

Joseph then looked at Syrus. "Ask your secretary to sit down first."

Deirdre listened to his son's words and only then did she remember that the girl in front of her had been squatting. Immediately, her heart ached as she helped Sarah sit on the sofa beside her.

Her gaze was still fixed on her small face, as she sighed and said, "I gave birth to a pair of twin daughters, but one of them was lost back then. She was only a few years old, so she definitely did not have any memories of our family. When I saw you, I thought I would be able to find my daughter. . ."

Sarah heard the old lady's words and instantly understood the reason why Syrus brought her here tonight. Looking at the old lady's face, she felt that this old lady was really kind. She smiled and replied, "Grandma, don't be discouraged. As long as you don't give up, you will definitely find her."

"Yes, yes, thank you, child! But in the blink of an eye, decades had passed. The hope was really becoming more and more uncertain. Sigh. . . I wonder if I will find her before I leave this world."

Her daughter's disappearance has always been a knot in Deirdre's heart. If she couldn't find her daughter, she would keep feeling that her life was somewhat regretful.

Joseph, who was listening to his mother's words, also understood the hardships of finding his younger sister these few years. He looked at Deirdre and said, "Mom, since Sarah is fated to meet you today, why don't you treat her as your granddaughter."

Joseph was the one who understood his mother's thoughts the most. So he naturally knew what she wanted.

When Deirdre heard her son's words, she immediately looked at Sarah with hopeful eyes. She held Sarah's hand tightly. "I just don't know if Sarah is willing or not."

When Deirdre looked at the girl in front of her, there was always an indescribable feeling of intimacy in her heart. Even if this girl was not her daughter's child, just by looking at her like this, she felt an indescribable comfort in her heart.

Sarah did not expect Joseph to make such a suggestion. Looking at the excited expression of the grandmother, Sarah also understood the urgency of the grandmother to find her daughter. She looked at Deirdre and said with a smile, "I am only the child of an ordinary family. If you don't mind. . ."

Listening to Sarah's reply, Deirdre was so excited that she did not wait for Sarah to finish and directly interrupted. "I don't mind! I don't mind! Child, thank you for agreeing to my request. Can you. . . Call me Grandma?"

Deirdre looked at Sarah with some anticipation. After so many years, she also understood that it was very likely that she would never be able to find her daughter again.

Although this girl in front of her did not have any blood relation with her, Deirdre still felt some comfort in her heart. At least this way, she could still feel that her daughter was still alive in this world.

Sarah looked at Deirdre's expectant eyes and felt that Deirdre was too kind to her. Sarah looked at her and softly called out, "Grandma. . ."

"Oh. . . , yeah. . ." Deirdre excitedly nodded and reached out to find the things on her body. After searching for a long time, she took off an agate bracelet from her hand and stuffed it into Sarah's hands.

"Child, this is a little bit of Grandma's goodwill."

When the word Grandma was mentioned, Deirdre's eyes turned red again and tears flowed out from her eyes.

Sarah saw such a valuable thing and immediately returned it to Deirdre. "I have received Grandma's goodwill, but I cannot accept such a valuable gift!"

Although she called Deirdre Grandmother, she also understood that she was not related to this family by blood. How could she accept such a valuable gift?

Joseph immediately smiled and said, "The bracelet is a gift from Grandma. Take it."

Deirdre also looked at Sarah and nodded. "This is Grandma's gift. I will only be happy if you take it."

"Sarah, just accept it. Grandma really likes you."

Syrus looked at Sarah and advised.

"Thank you, Grandma." After listening to everyone, Sarah could only nod her head and keep it.

Joseph's wife, Esme looked at Deirdre's excited expression and smiled. "Mom, now you have another granddaughter. Are you happy?"

When Deirdre heard Esme words, she immediately smiled and nodded. She looked at her only grandson Syrus and said, "Previously, Syrus said that he would give me a big gift on my birthday. At that time, I said that at my age, there would be no big gift. But I didn't expect. . ."

Speaking up to this point, Deirdre began to get excited again.

"I didn't think that our family's man would be so considerate." Jasmine looked at her brother and said with a smile.

Margaret, who had been silent all this time, looked at Sarah and then looked at Syrus. She asked in confusion, "But how did Syrus know that she looks similar to aunt?"

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 189 Can't Do Anything To Let Him Down

"Big Sis, I got one of aunt's photos when I was overseas. Although I have never seen Second Aunt before, since she and Eldest Aunt are twins, I guessed that. Actually, the first time Sarah went to the company to apply for a job, my eyes lit up and I felt that it was too much of a coincidence. But I was afraid of scaring her, so I didn't dare to say it. Today is my grandma's birthday, so I brought Sarah here." Syrus replied with a smile.

Sarah sat on the sofa and listened quietly. She finally understood why she successfully got the job in Wilson Group. It turned out that this was also the reason.

Because of Sarah's arrival, Deirdre's mood had always been very good. The people of Wilson Family were also very warm to Sarah.

When they were eating, Deirdre specially called Sarah to sit beside her and really asked her what she wanted to eat like a grandmother.

At first, Sarah was a little nervous. However, she saw that although there were a lot of people in the Wilson Family, they got along very well with each other. It always made people feel a strong sense of familial love flowing, and she gradually relaxed.

After dinner, Syrus sent Sarah away. When she left, Deirdre held Sarah's hand tightly and invited her to come here often to see her, this grandmother, in the future.

Sarah smiled and agreed. After saying goodbye to the people from the Wilson Family, she sat in Syrus's car and left the villa of the Wilson Family.

When the car drove out of the Wilson Family villa, Sarah looked at the handsome superior beside her and smiled. "I always thought that I entered the Wilson Group by relying on my strength, but I didn't expect that I would be able to land in the sky again."

Syrus could not help but smile when he heard her words. "I didn't make things difficult for you tonight, right?"

He hadn't even told her before. It would be rude to suddenly bring her here.

"How could that be? My Grandma passed away when I was very young, and now I suddenly have such a good grandma. I'm happy, but it's too late." Sarah smiled as well.

"Aunt was only four years old when she lost her way. And when she went missing, she was with grandmother. For the past few decades, my father had been constantly sending people for searching clues of my aunt. I've even looked for my aunt overseas, but I haven't received any news. These few years, my dad has been giving up a little. But every time aunt's birthday comes, Grandma runs into the bedroom alone to cry, but it can't be helped. I can't find her no matter how hard I try."

After Syrus said that, he had a disappointed expression on his face.

"Isn't your aunt a twin? Where's your other aunt?"

"My eldest aunt got leukemia when she was in her twenties. She passed away a long time ago. If Big Aunt is alive. . . Grandma might still feel a little comforted in her heart. One daughter died in an early age and losing the other one was the thing that made her heart ache the most. So this was the knot in Grandma's heart. Seeing you today, her heart was comforted a lot. Thank you."

"You're too kind, CEO. I should be the one thanking you. You've given me an extra grandma."

"If you have time in the future, can you come to our house more often? Just treat it as talking to my grandma." After Syrus finished speaking, he looked at Sarah with anticipation.

"Okay. As long as I have time, I will definitely come." Sarah readily agreed.

Syrus sent Sarah all the way to the basement of the community and watched her enter the unit door. When Sarah returned home and waved at him from the balcony, only then did Syrus leave without worry.

Samantha stood by her daughter's side and watched the limited-edition sports car disappear. She frowned slightly and looked at her daughter. "Sarah, who is that? Where did you go tonight?"

When Sarah heard her mother's words, she immediately smiled and pulled her mother's hand to the sofa to sit down. She looked at her mother mysteriously and asked, "Mom, let me ask you something. But please don't be angry."

"What matter is so mysterious?"

"Mom, I want to ask if you are my grandmother's biological daughter?"

When Samantha heard her daughter's words, she glared at her daughter and could not help but laugh.

"Of course! Why did you suddenly ask such a question?"

Sarah pretended to be disappointed and pouted. "I thought you were picked up by my grandmother. Since you are not, then forget it."

"Stinking girl, tell me quickly. What exactly is going on? Oh right, where did you get this bracelet from?"
Looking at the expensive bracelet on Sarah's wrist,

Samantha frowned and turned serious.

“Sarah, let me tell you. Although Christian is a few years older than you, he is a good man. You can't do anything that will let him down.” Samantha thought of the sports car just now and then looked at the agate bracelet on her daughter's hand and looked at her daughter seriously.

Sarah could not help but laugh when she saw Samantha's serious expression. She held her mother's arm coquettishly and said, "Mom. You don't even know your own daughter? Tell you the truth, the person who sent me back just now was my superior. He is the CEO of Wilson Group, Syrus Wilson. Today was his Grandmother's birth, so I went to their house tonight. His grandmother insisted on giving me this bracelet."

"Why did she give it to you?" Samantha asked curiously.

Sarah immediately smiled and told Samantha everything about Wilson Family's missing daughter. Finally, she looked at her mother and said with a smile, "Mom, I was still thinking whether you really are the daughter that Grandma Wilson lost back then. If it really is, then we will be super rich in the future. . ."

Samantha immediately poked her daughter's forehead and said angrily, "Stop daydreaming. Your grandmother and your grandfather only have one daughter, and that's me. So how could there be such a thing? Also, send this bracelet back to them! You can be her granddaughter, but you definitely can't take her things."

Sarah immediately smiled mischievously and said, "Mom, maybe this bracelet is worth a fortune. Don't you think it's a pity to send it back?"

Samantha glared at her daughter again, "If it is worth a fortune then it is even more unacceptable. Send it back tomorrow. Do you hear me?"

"Haha, Mom. Look at how scared you are. Don't worry, I will give the bracelet to our CEO tomorrow."

Sarah paused and said, "Actually, I am also scared when I wear this bracelet on my hand. If I put it at home, I probably won't be able to sleep at night. Mom, don't worry, I will give it to the president tomorrow."

Actually, the reason why Sarah accepted it tonight was just because she couldn't bear to see Deirdre disappointed. But the bracelet was too expensive, so she definitely couldn't keep it with her.

After breakfast the next day, Sarah took the bracelet and went to the company. Because she didn't drive home last night, she took a taxi.

The car stopped at the road in front of Wilson Group. Sarah paid the fare and walked towards the square in front of Wilson Group. After walking for about seven or eight meters, Sarah saw a familiar BMW X5 parked beside her.

David rolled down the window and looked at her.

"Sarah, wait for me!"

Sarah stood where she was and watched David park the car and walk towards her.

"Mr. David!"

"How have you been feeling these days? I heard that pregnant women usually vomit or something. Do you have such a condition?" Knowing that she was pregnant now, David was worried about her body more than anyone.

"I just felt a little uncomfortable at first, but now I'm fine." Sarah looked at David and smiled.

"That's good. Oh right, Sarah, when Christian left, he specifically came to ask me to help him taking care of you when he is not present. Usually, if there was anything else, Christian would never come to me asking for favor. So I was a little surprised. Actually, even if he didn't say this, I would definitely help. . ."

"Did he go to find you to say this?" Sarah was a little surprised. She didn't expect Christian to ask David to take care of her.

"Yes. He was very serious." David nodded seriously.

Sarah smiled, "Mr. David, I know."

"But now there is one thing. Sarah, I might be leaving for a period of time." As he spoke, David looked at her apologetically.

"Why? Did something happen?" Sarah was more or less nervous when she heard David words. She knew that if nothing serious happened, David would never mention about leaving.

David saw her nervous expression and smiled.

"Nothing happened. It's like this. Vice Preside Wilson gave me a task previously. She asked me to study hotel management in the United States for three months. This opportunity is very precious to me. I don't want to miss it. So. . ."

In the end, David was still a little sorry. He had promised Christian that he would take good care of Sarah no matter what. But now, he had to leave.

"What a good opportunity! Of course you can't miss it.

I'm just pregnant. It's not a big deal. Besides, there's my mom and Christian's family here. You don't have to worry about me. I have only been pregnant for less than two months. Nobody can tell at all. So you don't have to worry. Such an opportunity is so rare. You have to go! And after you go, you have to study hard."

Sarah was genuinely happy for David when she heard about this.

"Thank you, Sarah! I will work hard. Let's have lunch together this afternoon."

"Okay, okay!" Sarah readily agreed.

When the two of them walked to the stairs in front of Wilson Group, Syrus's yellow Ferrari also drove over. Behind them was Jasmine's Maserati. The two cars stopped in front of Sarah and David.

David stepped forward and helped Jasmine open the door. Jasmine got out of the car gracefully. She looked at David and smiled. When her gaze fell on Sarah, Sarah immediately greeted her, "Hello, Vice President!"

Syrus also walked out of the car and looked at Sarah. He deliberately pretended to be a little jealous, and said, "Look at assistant Brown. When are you going to help me open the car door?"

Sarah immediately replied apologetically, "Sorry, CEO. I will help you open the car next time."

Syrus heard her and smiled. "I won't be angry if you call me Big Brother."

Hearing this, David looked over at once. He was a little surprised why Syrus suddenly had this kind of attitude towards Sarah.

Sarah smiled and followed Syrus into the lobby.

The four of them entered the elevator and saw the elevator door slowly closing. Jasmine looked at Sarah who was standing behind her brother and smiled, "Grandma was very happy last night. Thank you."

Sarah's face turned red and she was a little embarrassed, "Vice President, you are welcome. . ."

"Grandma woke up at around five in the morning and was talking about you during breakfast. She said that she hoped that if you have time in the future and can visit her more often." Syrus also looked at Sarah and said.

Sarah immediately nodded. "I will! As long as Grandma doesn't get bothered seeing me when the time comes."

David was a little confused when he heard the three people's words. He looked at Sarah in surprise and asked, "Sarah, what is going on?"

Syrus smiled and looked at David. "Sarah is now my grandmother's granddaughter. You didn't expect this, did you?"

"But I remember that Sarah's grandmother passed away a long time ago."

"It's not the kind of blood relation you think she has. It's just that my grandmother saw that Sarah looked a little similar to my aunt, so she took her in as her granddaughter." Jasmine replied with a smile.

"So it is like this. . ." David nodded his head in understanding.

Sarah followed Syrus out of the elevator. When they entered the secretariat room, Syrus stopped her.

"Sarah, come in first."

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 190 Small Reques

Sarah nodded and followed behind Syrus. She saw Syrus sitting in the leather chair. Sarah looked at him and asked slowly, "Is there anything the CEO wants?"

Syrus raised his eyebrows and looked at her with a smile. "I didn't make it awkward for you last night, did I?"

No matter what, he did not inform her before taking her to Wilson Family. He also did not know how Sarah felt.

"No! I always thought that a family like the Wilson Family would be difficult to get along with. But it was different from what I imagined. Grandma looks very kind, and I like her very much." Sarah replied sincerely.

"Really? It would be great if that was the case. Grandma woke up early this morning and kept talking about you. It has been many years since she was so happy. When I left this morning, Grandma made a request to me and wanted me to discuss it with you. . ."

"CEO, please speak."

"It's about your mother. Grandma has always been very expectant to see your mother with her own eyes. But of course, this also requires your mother's consent."

Sarah bit her lower lip when she heard Syrus's words. She looked at Syrus and said a little awkwardly, "Actually, I told Mother about this last night. But she told me that she was the only daughter of my grandparents. There had never been any twin sisters. And the president. . ."

Sarah said and reached out to open the zipper of her bag. She took out the agate bracelet and placed it in front of Syrus. "CEO, I can't take this. I can be Grandma's granddaughter, but I can't accept this. Last night, my mother was unhappy to see it. So you should take it back. "

Syrus looked at the bracelet on the table and smiled. He was a little disappointed. "If that's the case, then I will keep it for you temporarily. But can you help me to persuade your mother? "

Sarah hesitated for a moment. After a moment, she looked at him and nodded. "Okay, I will try to convince my mother, but I hope you do not have too much hope. I have told my mother last night. But she didn't plan to. . ."

Syrus nodded in understanding. "I understand. You can try it. If it doesn't work, then forget it. "

"Yes!"

David followed Jasmine out of the elevator and went into Jasmine's office.

Jasmine stopped in the middle of the office and turned around to look at David. She raised her eyebrows and asked, "The flight is on the next Monday at nine o'clock. Have you settled the matters in your hotel?"

"Everything has been settled." David nodded.

Jasmine looked at him and smiled. She took a step closer to him and slightly raised her head to look at David. "Today I will tell you another happy thing. I think you will be very happy when you hear it."

"Vice President, please speak."

"The study time this time is three months. When you finish studying in three months, the matter of me asking you to be my assistant will be written off."

David looked at her in surprise. "Why?"

Jasmine looked at him and smiled. She turned around and sat down in front of her leather chair. "I have always been competitive. As long as I want to do something, I will definitely do it. I have always felt that love is also like this. As long as I work hard, I will definitely get what I want. But during this period of time, I feel that I might be wrong. Love and career are two different things, so I plan to let you go. . . Three months later, you will have nothing to do with Wilson Group anymore."

After saying that, Jasmine turned to look at David. Seeing that he was just standing there without any reaction, she smiled bitterly. "I have said so much, can you give me some reaction?"

"Thank you!" David felt most surprised when he heard her words, but he did not know what to say for a moment.

Jasmine retracted her gaze and took the documents on the table. She looked at them without looking up and said, "You can go out first."

"Yes!" David nodded and slowly walked to the door. When he stood at the door, he looked back at Jasmine, who was looking down at the documents. He was silent for a while and said slowly, "When I make money in the future, I will return your eighteen million."

After saying that, he walked out of the office and closed the door.

Jasmine looked up at the office door that was closed from outside. She leaned her body against the back of the chair and slightly closed her eyes.

At night.

Sarah returned to her mother's home after work. Since Christian left, Sarah only went back to the Cooper Family during the weekend to take a look.

During dinner, Sarah told her mother what Syrus told her this morning.

Samantha heard her daughter's words and the hand holding the chopsticks suddenly stopped, "You tell your CEO that it's better not to do it. Although I also sympathize with his grandmother, I don't want to do anything that will let your grandfather and grandmother down. They have passed away for so many years, and I suddenly went out to acknowledge someone else as my mother. It's too unfilial."

"Can't we just meet once?" Sarah had a very good impression of Deirdre and still hoped that her mother could meet her.

Samantha shook her head, "Don't say such silly words. It would still be fine if I was abused since I was young but your grandfather and grandmother are so good to me. How could I not be their biological daughter? I don't want to see them! Don't mention this matter anymore!"

Sarah nodded. Seeing that her mother was in a bad mood, she did not continue speaking.

After dinner, Sarah first accompanied her mother and chatted for a while on the sofa. Then, she went to the bedroom, turned on the computer, and quickly logged into WeChat. She wanted to see if Christian had left a message for her.

However, Sarah didn't expect to see Christian's profile picture flash continuously the moment she logged on. She immediately opened the dialog box happily and saw that Christian had sent her a lot of messages.

She saw so many questions popping one after another and couldn't help but laugh. She didn't know which one to reply to first.

She first said: Hubby, I miss you.

After that, just as she was about to say something, she saw Christian send her a kiss emoticon.

Sarah became excited. It turned out that he was online. She immediately also sent him a kiss emoticon. She then typed a line of words: Hubby, I miss you so so much!

Christian quickly replied to his wife: Baby, I miss you too. Did you eat?

Sarah: I just finished eating. What about you?

Sarah sat on the chair and stared at the screen for a long time, but didn't get any reply from Christian's side. Just as she was about to close her computer, she heard her phone ring.

Sarah immediately took it and saw that it was Christian calling. She quickly pressed the answer button and went back to the bed to sit down.

"Baby, my typing speed is not too fast. So it's better to call." Christian's typing speed was slow. Seeing that Sarah was online, he took his phone and called her.

Sarah could not help but laugh. Hearing his voice, her mood also improved a lot. "Are you alright over there?"

"Yes, pretty good! Your husband's body is fine wherever he goes. You don't have to worry about me. How is our baby? He didn't make you feel bad, did he?"

The thing that worried him the most was Sarah's pregnancy reaction. Although it was his first time as a father, he often saw the phenomenon of pregnant women vomiting and getting sick on television. He was worried that his wife would experience the same situation.

"It's just that there was some reaction a few days ago, but now there's no reaction at all. I guess what you said scared him." Sarah replied with a smile.

"Haha! Not bad! As expected of my, Christian Cooper's son. He's so considerate of his mother at such a young age. He'll definitely be good when he grows up."

Sarah burst into laughter. "You're so brilliant in praising yourself. He's so young. He can't hear anything."

"Oh right baby, shouldn't pregnant woman go to the hospital for regular check-ups?"

"Yes, what's wrong?"

"Then when are you going to go next time?"

"It will be two months in a few days. I will ask my mother to take me to the hospital for a check-up."
Sarah said.

Hearing this, Christian was silent for a moment before saying slowly, "I have a small request."

"What request?"

"The next time you finish your examination, send me your ultrasound results and let me feel the feeling of being a father."

Sarah smiled and nodded. "It is only two months now. Even if you film it, you will not be able to see anything. Do you still want it?"

"Of course I do! Don't worry. Your husband has Fiery Golden Eyes. He will definitely be able to tell."

Sarah heard his words and could not help but smile again, "Alright! I will send it to you when the time comes."

"Beloved, I have thought of a name for my son these two days." Christian, who had just become a father, had been researching his son's name when he had nothing to do recently. He was actually very happy about it.

"What's his name? Tell me!" Sarah was a little curious. She did not know what Military Commander Cooper's knowledge was like and was looking forward to it.

"Our son, Sarah and Christian's son should be called Stephen. What do you think? Isn't he domineering?" Military Commander Cooper asked his wife proudly.

"Isn't it too domineering? Besides, we still don't know whether he's a man or a woman. It's only your wishful thinking that he's a son. What if he's a daughter?"

"There's also a name for our daughter. It's just that, Stephen will be called Sasha, meaning that she's our family's sweetheart. Haha!" After saying that, Christian laughed heartily on the other side of the phone.

"En, alright. That's the name!"

When Sarah first discovered that she was pregnant, it had only been a little over a month. After she went to the hospital for a checkup, the doctor asked her to come back for a checkup after a while.

Today was the day when she completed two months of pregnancy, and it was Saturday again. Sarah drove her mother to the hospital to prepare for a check-up. She parked the car, then took her bag and brought her mother into the clinic lobby.

After queuing up, she went to the obstetrics department on the second floor with her mother. Although it was a weekend, when they turned to the corridor in front of the Gynecology Department, Sarah found that there were quite a lot of people coming today. She walked into the waiting hall with her mother and found a seat to sit down. She quietly waited for the nurse to call her name.

After waiting for about half an hour, Samantha's stomach was not very comfortable. She told her daughter to go to the toilet.

Sarah watched her mother leave and took out her phone to send a message to Christian when she heard the nurse call her name. She immediately put away her phone and walked into the doctor's office.

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.