

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 31 To Let Her Divorce Her Husband

“What’s wrong, honey?” Seeing Vivian constantly sizing him up, Julian turned his face to look at her and smiled.

“Julian, what happened to you these two days? Why are you so depressed?” Vivian stared into Julian’s eyes, trying to see something.

When he heard Vivian ask him, Julian’s eyes darkened. He sighed heavily and looked away. He quietly looked at the road in front of him.

“Julian, did you Big Brother say something to you? Or did your family not agree with us being together?” Seeing his expression, Vivian nervously held his arm and asked.

“Vivian, I think I should tell you the truth! But you must not be angry.” Knowing that Christian and Sarah’s marriage could not be hidden for long, Julian thought about it and decided to tell her the truth.

“Okay! I am not angry. Then tell me, what exactly happened?” Vivian stared at him closely.

“In the office the day before yesterday... Didn’t Big Brother and Sarah appear together?”

“Yes...” Vivian nodded.

“Do you know what they did after they left that day?”

“Did they go to your house together? Then, is your dad going to chase you out of the Cooper family? Aiya, then what should we do? Isn’t Christian the leader of the army? How could he do such a thing?”

Julian immediately held her hand to comfort her.

“Vivian, it’s not what you think! After they left that day, they directly registered for marriage! Sarah is not my sister-in-law...”

“What did you say? They... They are married!” Vivian was shocked by this matter for a long time and could not recover from her shock. She widened her eyes and could not believe that what she heard was true.

“Yes! The wedding was postponed by a week. Big Brother had already convinced Sarah’s mother and both parents had agreed. Sigh... How do you think I will face her in the future?” Julian thought of living in the same house as Sarah in the future and could not help but have a headache.

“No! Julian, you can’t let them get married! Christian will definitely do this to take revenge on us! Right, didn’t Sarah listen to you very much in the past? Call her and ask her out. Let’s talk to her! Quick!”

Vivian, who had regained her senses, immediately urged Julian. In her opinion, the reason Christian wanted to marry Sarah was to take revenge on her. If that was the case... Even if she married into the Cooper family in the future, she wouldn't have a good life.

That man had a bad temper to begin with. If it wasn't because of the Regimental Commander identity and Cooper family business, she wouldn't have tolerated him for so long.

Julian hesitated when he heard Vivian's words. "Ask her out to talk about what?"

"What do we have to talk about? Of course, we wanted her to divorce Christian!"

Julian sighed. "I tried to persuade her that day, but she didn't listen to me! I thought Sarah's mother would oppose to this marriage, but who knew... She actually agreed..." Up until now, he still did not understand what method Christian used to get Sarah's mother to agree.

"There were so many people together that day. It definitely would not be possible. Today, the two of us asked her out together. Besides, I am pregnant now. Think about it, if she really lives with us in the Villa of Cooper family in the future... If anything happens to me because of her, what should I do?"

Julian thought about it and felt that her words made sense. He took out his phone and dialed Sarah's number.

After Sarah got out of Christian's car, she walked along the sidewalk. Not long after, she saw Christian's car pass her and disappear into the line of cars in the distance.

She looked at the pedestrian street not far away. She wanted to stroll around by herself to relax her mood. She hadn't gone far when, she phone rang. She thought it must be Christian so she immediately picked it up. But she did not expect it was actually Julian. She looked at the familiar number and bit her lips. After a while, she picked up the phone and put it beside her ear.

“Sarah, it's me!” When he heard the phone was picked up, Julian couldn't wait to speak.

It had only two or three days, and she had not sorted out everything. When she heard this familiar voice again, she found that she still couldn't control her emotions. She kept telling herself in her heart to be strong, but she opened her mouth and couldn't say anything. A layer of dense fog rose in her eyes, and endless grievance kept surging up.

“Sarah, are you listening? Do you have time now? I want to meet you!”

Sarah tried her best to suppress her emotions. Her throat was still choking as she asked. “What’s there to see?”

“Sarah, I know I have let you down. There have been too many things happened in these two days and I did not even have a good chat with you. Where are you? I will go and find you!”

“Tell me on phone! I don’t want to see you now!” She was really afraid that she wouldn’t be able to control herself. Once she saw him, she couldn’t help but cry.

“Sarah, don’t be like this. In the future, we will still live in the same house. Do you think that if you don’t see me today, you won't see me in future? I just want to talk to you today. Let's meet, okay? Sarah..." Julian was afraid that she would hang up the phone and quickly advised her.

The other hand of the phone hesitated for a long time before a relay came in the end. "Okay! I am at the pedestrian street, come and find me!" Sarah hung up without waiting for Julian's reply.

"What did she say?" Vivian nervously stared at him when she saw Julian take the phone away.

"We are going to the pedestrian street now. She is there."

Julian's car arrived in about half an hour. The two of them agreed to meet at a nearby coffee shop. When Sarah walked in, she saw that there was another person sitting beside Julian Vivian!

She stood at the door and froze for a moment. Vivian also appeared here. It was completely out of her expectations. She thought about how Julian had ruthlessly pushed her away for the sake of this woman. A heart-piercing pain surged from the bottom of her heart!

But no matter how uncomfortable and painful her heart was, she only hesitated for a second or two before walking in.

“Sarah, you came! Quickly sit!” Seeing Sarah walk over, Julian immediately stood up with a smile. He even attentively pulled a chair for her to sit on.

Vivian sitting in the opposite direction, also acted as if nothing happened and greeted Sarah with a smile, “Sarah, quickly sit!”

Sarah indifferently looked at the two of them and silently sat opposite of them. She looked at Julian and asked coldly, "Tell me, what you want to talk about?"

"Sarah, it's like this... Actually today... I want to..."

Seeing that there was no smile on her cold face, Julian did not know how to say it. After all, in the nine years, even if he did not love this girl, he still had affection for her.

"Aiya, let me say it!" Seeing Julian stuttering, Vivian immediately took over the words and looked at Sarah with some guilt.

"Sarah, actually we don't have any other thoughts today. We just want to come over and apologize to you. The two of us have let you down! Actually I originally wanted to leave Julian, but I can't let my child not have a father the moment it was born. Don't you think so?" Vivian understood Sarah's personality from Julian's words and knew that she was soft-hearted. Then let's talk about the child first.

Sarah heard her words and slightly blinked her eyes. She looked at Julian. "Makes sense! I also don't have a father. I know the pain of losing a father." After saying that she looked at Vivian and smiled. "You cannot treat the child unfairly! You did the right thing!"

When Julian heard her mention her father, he immediately looked at Sarah apologetically. "Sarah, I know that whatever I say today will not reduce your pain. But I still apologize to you."

As he spoke, he took out a cheque from his pocket and placed it in front of Sarah. "This is five million! Consider it the debt I owe you and your Wilson Family!"

Sarah listened to him and her gaze fell on the cheque of five million. She stared at the cheque for a few seconds and looked up at Julian with a smile. She was extremely disappointed in her heart.

“Five million? Is this the money for love, or does it include my father’s cornea?”

“Sarah...” Hearing her words were a little unpleasant, Julian did not know what to say.

Vivian immediately took over the words. “Both! These five million were Julian’s compensation for you and it also included the money uncle Wilson donated to Julian for the cornea...”

Sarah looked at the both of them with a sarcastic smile, “Do you have anything else to say? If there is nothing else, I will leave first!” Sarah said as she lifted her bag and was about to leave. She did not even look at the five million.

“Sarah! Wait a moment!” Julian quickly stopped her.

“If you have something to say, just say it!” She really did not want to see these two people.

Sarah herself did not understand. In these nine years, how did she fall in love with such a man?

“Actually, you don’t need me to tell you the relationship between the four of us. You already know everything. Vivian is pregnant with my child and I have already broken your heart. I can’t hurt her and my child anymore. But if you really marry my Big Brother, the four of us will have to live under the same roof from now on.”

“I know you are a good girl and you are kind. Can you leave my Big Brother, for the sake of our child?”

“Christian and I have already gotten our marriage certificate. We are legally husband and wife. You mean... You want me to divorce him?” Sarah looked at him and asked coldly.

“My Brother has a bad temper. Even if you marry him, you will not be happy in the future! Taking advantage of the opportunity now that there is still a chance, don't continue to make mistakes. Alright? Sarah?” Julian looked at her nervously.

Sarah could not help but laugh when she heard his words. “Only now do I know that the person who was always wrong was me!”

She did not want to continue talking to these two people. She stood up with the bag and looked coldly at Julian.

“Julian Cooper, No matter who I marry in my life, has nothing to do with you! You are going to be a father soon. You should keep the five million, because I think my feelings and my dad's cornea is priceless!" After saying that, she did not even give Julian a chance to speak and left the coffee shop.
