Chapter 531

Zack was a little bummed out and said in a low voice, “You can’t even remember his face, why is he more important to you than me?”

Cornelia explained, “You guys are just as important to me. I won’t let Jeremy badmouth you guys. I’ve already told him how important you guys are”

Hearing this, Zack and Abigail were elated, “You mentioned us to Jeremy?”

Cornelia responded, “You guys have been my friends since childhood, my best friends, and the most important people in my life. How could I not tell him?”

Hearing this, Zack was satisfied, “I’m not trying to slag off Jeremy this time. I actually think he could be the one for you.”

Cornelia was curious, “Why the sudden change of heart about him?”

Zack said, “Because of you, of course

Zack and Abigail knew Cornelia better than anyone, having grown up with her

Cornelia had always felt insecure due to family issues. Two major incidents later on made her develop a sensitive and suspicious nature. It’s difficult for her to trust new people, let alone open her heart to someone

Jeremy, even after filing for divorce, managed to get Cornelia to let her guard down and want to spend her life with him. This showed that something must have happened between Jeremy and Cornelia that made her trust him.

If Cornelia trusted him, then Jeremy must be a trustworthy guy.

Cornelia asked with a smile, “Is it because you guys love me, so you also love the person I love?”

Zack said. “Yeah, we trust you and you trust him. So we’re willing to trust him too”

Cornelia and Jeremy's marriage was sudden, and she hadn't mentioned Jeremy to Zack and Abigail before the wedding. Coupled with Jeremy's actions after the wedding, they had some reservations about him.

Now that they're willing to accept Jeremy, Cornelia was over the moon and gave them a big hug. "Zack, Abby. I love you guys!"

Zack

added, "I hope you're happier than all of us, especially happier than those schmucks from Rosenberg who bullied you."

Mentioning Rosenberg. Abigail gave Zack a look, "Stop bringing up that old mess. Let's eat before the food gets cold. These fish and chips are best when hot"

Zack said, "Yeah, let's eat"

Cornelia smiled calmly, "Zack, Abby. The thing with Rosenberg is ancient history now it doesn't affect me anymore. You don't need to tiptoe around it."

Zack and Abigail looked at Cornelia, "You really don't care anymore?"

Cornelia nodded,

"I had a long talk with grandma at Southern Peak. She told me that you can't always live in the past, you have to look forward. She said that if my father could see me, he would want me to be happy. Do you think I should care about what unimportant people think of me, or should I focus on living my life well. so my father can rest in peace?"

Abigail nodded vigorously, "Nelly, you're thinking right. You should live your life well and make everyone envious. Use your happiness to counter all the gossip."

Zack said, "Yeah, what's important is that you live your life well, don't mind what others say. But speaking of which, did you talk about this with Jeremy?"

Cornelia said, "I've thought it through, I'll tell him when I see him"

Zack nodded, "Yeah, clear the air to avoid any misunderstandings. Do you know when Jeremy is coming back to Riverton? I think your second wedding anniversary is coming up."

Comelia said, "I actually wanted to discuss this with him yesterday, but his phone got stolen."

Zack said, "Thieves really are the worst. Losing your phone is such a hassle. If I had to choose, I'd rather lose some money than my phone"

Chapter 532

Abigail said, "He's not in Hong Kong right now, probably a real pain to get a new SIM band Such a headache."

Comelia responded, "As long as he's okay, that's all that matters. You can always buy a new phone, no need to stress about it."

Zack chimed in, "The moving boxes I ordered online have arrived. After dinner, I'll go get them. We've got some free time these days, might as well start moving stuff to the new place."

Comelia agreed, "Sounds good." She had the same idea. The more they moved now the less they'd have to deal with later. Once the new place was ready, they could just pack a backpack and move in easily.

Abigail added, "I mentioned you guys to my boyfriend today. He's free this weekend and he's gonna treat us to dinner. You guys can check him out for me"

Comelia replied, "He seems quite proactive"

Zack muttered, "Always bearing gifts for no reason, either a scammer or a thief."

Abigail punched him lightly. "We're officially together now; you're not allowed to badmouth him behind his back. You can observe him when we meet, if you think there's something off, tell me directly."

Zack

rubbed the spot where he'd been hit, feeling more and more wronged, almost to the point of tears, "I've raised two girls with so much effort, only for them to be taken away so easily. Now I even get hit for speaking my mind. You two forget me as soon as you see your boyfriends. You don't love me anymore."

Cornelia quickly put a piece of fish into his plate, "Zack, don't cry. No matter who we marry, you'll always be our favorite friend, and no one can replace you in our hearts

Zack pretended to wipe his tears, ate the fish Cornelia gave him, and said, "Cornelia remember what you said today. If Jeremy and I both fall into the water, you have to save me first."

Cornelia answered, "You can swim."

Zack said, "I can, but even if I don't, you have to save me!"

Cornelia replied, "Okay, okay, I'll save you first."

Abigail said, "Zack, you're so dramatic. I'm going to throw up the food I just ate."

Zack asked, "If your boyfriend and I both fall into the water, who would you save?"

Abigail also put some food into his plate, "I'll save you, of course. If I don't, we'll all be sickened to death by your drama."

Zack said, "I just love you guys."

Cornelia and Abigail responded, "Eww!"

And so, they finished their meal amidst the lively chatter.

Cornelia was in charge of cooking. Abigail cleaned up the table after the meal, and Zack took on dishwashing duty.

After cleaning up, they went to fetch their package.

Zack had bought boxes of various sizes, the largest ones for bulky items like quilts and the sturdiest ones for books.

In this house, the most precious items were the books on the living room bookshelf

They all loved reading, especially unique books. Once they found a good one, they would immediately buy it, bring it home, leisurely read it, and then share their thoughts.

Due to their love for books, the living room bookshelf was overflowing. So, they made two wooden shelves themselves for the books they'd read, piling them up

there

These shelves were not covered and they were often too busy to clean, so many books were covered in dust.

Abigail was tidying up, chatting away. "Our new place has got its own study, and the bookshelf is massive We won't have any issues with storage for our books."

Cornelia chimed in, "Yeah, once we move in, we can just splurge on books. Lots and lots of books."

Zack dropped in, "I saw a rare book online the other day, and it was so good it had me drooling. Guess how much the seller was asking?"

Cornelia and Abigail asked, "How much?"

Zack held up a hand. "This figure!"

Cornelia and Abigail asked, "Five thousand?"

Zack clutched his chest, "Fifty thousand!"

Abigail exclaimed, "Why doesn't he just rob a bank? Good books should be shared with people who can appreciate them. If they end up with someone who doesn't, isn't that just a waste?"

Cornelia kept repeating. "Fifty thousand? Fifty thousand? That's pricier than the study I saw." She thought of the study in Marcus' Celestial Chateau. Clearly, not only was the construction cost high, but the rare books inside were worth a fortune

Abigail asked, "What are you talking about?"

Cornelia explained, "I've seen one of Marcus' studies. It's like a library, filled with rare books we've never heard of. If each book is worth fifty thousand, then the books in his study could be worth millions"

Abigail was shocked, "Oh my God!"

Cornelia added, "If he ever lets me borrow his study, I might lock myself in there for months."

Zack was frustrated, "We're nothing compared to these rich people. Even their books are better than ours. He's got all these rare books. Does he even read them? Or are they just for show?"

Cornelia replied. "He definitely reads them. I borrowed a rare book from him once, and there were some words I didn't understand. So I had to look at the footnotes. But he knew them all. He's like a walking encyclopedia."

Abigail said, "Cornelia, the more you say, the more I fancy your President Hartley. Even if I know I'd vanish if I married him, I'd still do it."

Zack scoffed, "You certainly have a unique set of values."

Abigail retorted. "You're a guy, you wouldn't understand. But I can tell you. Imagine a man as handsome as Marcus, just his face and body are drool-worthy. Plus, he's got a huge business empire, as well as vast knowledge. Such a man theoretically doesn't exist, he only exists in fiction. In reality, if a girl ever meets a man like this, how could she resist?"

Zack confidently said, "Cornelia could resist."

Abigail disagreed, "I don't think so! Cornelia thought Marcus looked familiar the first day she met him. You're saying Cornelia could resist? Cornelia is just married, and she's only a subordinate to Marcus, so she doesn't dare to have feelings for him. But that doesn't mean Cornelia doesn't like Marcus."

Zack turned to Cornelia, "Is that what you really think?"

Cornelia lifted her head from a pile of books, slowly saying, "Zack, you guys understand men better, and we understand women better."

Zack asked. "Really? You really have feelings for Marcus?"

Cornelia replied, "Not exactly. Like you said, who wouldn't like a good-looking, well-built, rich, knowledgeable, and nice-voiced guy? Of course, this kind of liking is like when we see male celebrities. It's merely admiration. Or to be more specific, we can look but not touch."

But what Cornelia didn't say was that this was her previous thought. After witnessing something between Marcus and Natalia, she no longer thought of Marcus as an untouchable deity.

Abigail high-fived Cornelia, "That's exactly it."

After a pause, Abigail added, "But if Marcus wanted to be with me, I'd definitely say yes. Better yet, have a child. I hope I can have a son as handsome as him. He'd definitely turn heads when I take him out."

Zack was speechless.

Cornelia asked, "Abigail, do you really think so?"

Abigail replied, "Haven't you ever thought about it?"

"I've never thought about sleeping with him" Suddenly, Comella began to understand what Natalia was feeling.

Knowing that there was no future with that man, yet still wanting to be with him because of his irresistible charm.

Man, once she fell for someone, it was hard to turn back.

In the middle of their chat, Comelia's personal phone buzzed twice. She quickly turned around, picked up her phone and glanced at WhatsApp. She wasn't disappointed this time; a message from Jeremy: [Comelia]

He only sent one name.

Cornelia immediately sent him a long message: [Did you get your new phone? Did you get your SIM card replaced? I was worried sick all day yesterday because you didn't reply I thought something might have happened to you. Could you leave a contact of one of your colleagues or do you have a spare phone number? So I can reach you if something like this happens again.]

Comelia sent such a long message, but Jeremy only replied: Cornelia, I'm sorry, I didn't consider all that]

Comelia replied [It's okay, but could you send me a message from someone else's phone if something similar happens in the future?]

Jeremy replied: [Alright.]

Comelia replied: [Jeremy, can you say more than one word? How are we supposed to continue chatting like this?]

Jeremy answered: [What did you want to talk about yesterday?]

Comelia replied. [Our wedding anniversary is coming up soon. I want to know when you'll be able to return to Riverton. Where shall we meet?]

Jeremy replied: [8th of May, you pick the place. Anywhere is fine]

Cornelia thought for a while, this was actually her first date with Jeremy She had a lot to say to him, so she wanted to meet in a quiet place.

Riverton had many quiet places suitable for dates, but the ones Cornelia knew of were quite expensive. Not very suitable for small business owners and workers like them.

After much consideration, Cornelia thought of a place she could afford, and the ambiance was also suitable for a date: [How about the restaurant at Harmony Hills Estates?]

Jeremy replied: [Sure]

Cornelia replied: [Then how about we meet at 11 a.m. on the 8th of May?]

Jeremy replied: [Sure]

Cornelia replied: [If you have nothing else to say, I'll get back to my stuff.]

Jeremy replied: [Cornelia.]

Cornelia replied: [Hmm?]

Really, just say it straight out. He'd been acting like squeezing a toothpaste tube, making her guess what he wanted to say.

Jeremy replied: [I really want to have a good life with you]

Cornelia replied: [Me too.]

After sending the message, Jeremy didn't reply for a long time. Just when Cornelia thought he wouldn't reply anymore, he finally sent a longer message

[Cornelia, I value our marriage very much. I really want to spend each day well with you. I didn't tell you before, but actually I'm already in Riverton. I didn't see you because I had my own concerns]

It took Jeremy a while before he replied: [I'm afraid that my appearance and identity will disappoint you I'm scared I'm not the husband of your dreams. I'm also worried you'll leave me.]

"Leave me" felt like a poisoned arrow piercing Cornelia's heart, leaving her breathless

People often said, a happy childhood could heal a lifetime of pain, while an unhappy one took a lifetime to recover from. This phrase hit home for both Jeremy and her.

Seeing Comelia's pale face, Zack and Abigail approached her, "What's wrong?"

Comelia shook her head, I'm fine."

Zack cautiously asked, "Is there something going on with Jeremy?"

"Really, it's nothing. We're just discussing meeting up" Comelia took a deep breath, squared her emotions, and replied to Jeremy: [Jeremy, I'm your wife. No matter what you look like, as long as you truly want to spend the rest of your life with me, accept you. I won't let you down]

This time, Jeremy replied quickly: [You better keep your word, no take backs!]

Seeing his reaction, Cornelia's heart ached even more She replied. I promise, no take backs]

Jeremy responded [You don't need to swear, I trust you.]

The conversation paused again.

After a moment's thought, Comelia asked: [It's late, have you had dinner?]

Jeremy replied [Yeah]

Comelia asked What did you eat?]

Jeremy replied: [Pasta]

Cornelia was at a loss for words. Did this man even know how to chat? She had been so proactive, why couldn't he say more?

If their meet up was like this, wouldn't it be painfully awkward?

Cornelia didn't respond. After a while, Jeremy messaged: [Why aren't you talking?]

Cornelia frowned. [I've been the one asking questions, don't you have something you want to tell me?]

Jeremy replied: [Yes]

Cornelia waited for him to speak, but he stayed silent. She asked [If you have something to say, why aren't you saying it?]

Jeremy replied. I'm afraid I'll annoy you if I talk too much.]

So, he was worried about the same thing as her,

Cornelia replied: [I won't find you annoying, I'm just scared you have nothing to talk about, that you don't want to share your life and work. Jeremy, I'm also worried about the same stuff you are. Heck, I've even got other women, but it's hard to explain over text. Let's talk face to face when we meet up.]

At Cornelia's message, Marcus coughed in excitement, replying: [Okay.]

Dr Dawson immediately supported him, "Marcus, you've just woken up from unconsciousness, just out of danger. You need to rest. Can you please put the phone down? Whatever it is, it can wait until you're better, or let Ben handle it."

Im chatting with Cornelia." Marcus had just regained consciousness. He was weak, but the first thing he did when he woke up was to grab his phone and open his chat with Cornelia.

She awkwardly laughed. "Comelia is so nice, how could I be upset with her?"

Marcus was stanng at his phone, not looking at her. He asked softly. "Did she call me while I was out?"

Dr. Dawson knew she couldn't hide it. She didn't dare to either, "She called for 'Marcus not 'Jeremy' I answered for you"

Marcus asked, "What did you tell her?"

Dr. Dawson was shocked, "Marc, you were the one who asked me to keep your illness from Cornelia before you passed out. I did as you instructed."

Marcus said, "I asked you to keep my condition secret. Did I ask you to be cold with her? You are my subordinates, but Cornelia is my wife."

Dr. Dawson went pale and was speechless. She had always seen Marcus as her own son and thought he saw her as a mother. Even with their professional relationship, he was always respectful. She never thought he could say something so harsh

No, she had been around him for too long and had become arrogant. He was the one who put his own father in jail, and kicked his own mother out of the Hartley family.

He was cold-hearted. How could she ever expect him to treat her like a mother?

After a long while, Dr. Dawson finally composed and tried to defend herself, "Marc, was just worried about you. Don't you think you're being a bit too good to Cornelia?"

His face was pale but his eyes were as sharp as ever, "Cornelia is my wife. If I'm not good to her, who should I be good to?"

Dr. Dawson said, "That's not what I meant."

Marcus said, "Please leave."

Dr. Dawson didn't answer. She had been with Marcus for so many years, this was the first time he dismissed her so coldly.

He never treated her like this before. Never.

All because of Cornelia

Jayden, standing outside the room, saw Dr. Dawson walking out of the room in a daze. He was very worried and asked, "Mom, are there any new issues with President Hartley's health?"

Dr. Dawson looked at him and said sadly, "Marc doesn't see me as his mother."

Jayden was truly puzzled, "You're not President Hanley's biological mom to begin with, and he doesn't see you as his mom. I don't see the big deal here, why are you so worked up?"

"You think it's not a big deal?" Dr. Dawson raised her voice emotionally, "I've been looking after him since he was a lot. It's been over twenty years. I've spent more time with him than his own parents ever did. I was the one who took him to school on his first day, I was the one by his side when he was sick. For the past twenty years, wherever he went, I was there. I've had no personal time because of him."

Dr. Dawson went on a rant, and Jayden looked at her, calmly replying, "Were you forced to do all that?"

Dr. Dawson was taken aback, "You..."

Jayden continued, "I know you're a top-notch doc, and lots of hospitals would kill to have you, but think about it, would you make more bucks working elsewhere than at President Hartley's? You're earning big money working for President Hartley Isn't that fair? If you find the job too exhausting, you can quit. No one's stopping you. I bet there are tons of people who would jump at the chance to do it."

Dr. Dawson pointed at Jayden angrily, "You think I've been by President Hartley's side all these years for the dough?"

Jayden replied,

“If it’s not for the money, then it’s to pay a debt of gratitude? If it’s the latter, you should be willing to do anything for President Hartley. It doesn’t matter how he sees us. Our lives were saved by him, we would’ve been long gone if not for him.”

These words left Dr. Dawson speechless.

Jayden paused, then said, “Mom, do you know why Patricia was able to serve two generations of the Hartley family? Do you know why President Hartley respects Patricia as if she were his elder? It’s because Patricia knows her place. Even if President Hartley treats Patricia as family, Patricia never asks for more, nor does she think that after taking care of President Hartley for so many years, he should see her as his mom.”

Jayden added, “We are President Hartley’s employees, we do what he says. It doesn’t matter how he sees us, does it?”

Dr. Dawson fell silent for a while, then suddenly laughed, “If it wasn’t for Cornelia’s appearance, maybe everything would still be the same...”

“I think you’ve completely lost sight of your place. You thought you were the closest woman to President Hartley, and now that someone’s closer to him than you. You can’t stand it,” Every word from Jayden was like a needle, piercing into Dr. Dawson’s heart, “Mom, don’t think like this anymore, or there won’t be a place for you by President Hartley’s side”

Over at Cornelia’s.

After finishing her WhatsApp chat with Jeremy Artis, she lifted her head, only to see Zack and Abigail staring at her in surprise, “Why are you guys looking at me like that?”

Abigail asked, “Were you chatting with Jeremy?”

Cornelia replied, “Yes.”

Once Abigail finished, Cornelia finally had a chance to speak. "We're meeting on May 8th."

Hearing this, Abigail looked disappointed. "He's back in Riverton but he's not seeing you until May 8th? Doesn't he want to sleep with you at all? Or has he already found another woman?"

Cornelia replied, "Jeremy is not that kind of person

Zack added fuel to the fire from the sideline. "Abigail's analysis isn't entirely baseless

Cornelia said, "If you two keep blabbering, I'll stop cleaning and you can do it yourselves."

“Alright, I’ll shut up.” Abigail picked up a book, dusted off the cover, and shook it lightly. Suddenly, a bank card slid out from the pages. “Why is there a bank card in here? Who left a bank card in a book?”

Zack said, “I only have a savings card and a credit card, and I carry them with me at all times. There’s no way I left a card in a book.”

Cornelia took a deep breath and slowly opened the red certificate. When it was open she saw two photos, one of her and the other should be Jeremy

The only difference between the man in the photo and Marcus was that Marcus always wore a pair of silver-framed glasses, but the man in the photo didn't

Cornelia's first reaction was that this marriage certificate was fake and a prank by Abigail

She angrily threw the marriage certificate at Abigail, "Abigail, how could you play such a prank?"

Chapter 540

Zack lightly prodded Abigail's forehead, "Abigail, are you out of your mind? Even if you're not using fake certificates to do bad things, the act of making them is illegal. Don't ever do that again

"What?" Abigail picked up the marriage certificate and looked at it over and over again Unable to believe that the man in the photo was Marcus, she rubbed her eyes, closed them, then opened them again. The photo on the certificate was still Marcus' face, "Ah-"

She let out a shrill scream, excitedly bouncing around the room, "Oh my God, I can't believe the two people I wanted to be together are actually married!"

Cornelia said sternly. "You better destroy that fake certificate now, or I'm done with you"

Abigail presented the marriage certificate to Cornelia and Zack, "Cornelia, Zack, look closely. Look at this official seal, and look at this cover, can a fake certificate look this real? Do you really think I'm so bored that I made a marriage certificate for you and Marcus?"

Cornelia and Zack said in unison, "You totally could!"

Alright, she had done this kind of thing before, more than once. In college, she was infatuated with a male celebrity and made a fake marriage certificate between her and him. Later, when she started working and developed a crush on a model, she made another fake marriage certificate between her and him.

Recently she'd been crazy about Marcus, so Cornelia and Zack's first reaction to the marriage certificate was to suspect it was a forgery.

Abigail said, "I swear this time I didn't do it. Think about it, Marcus never lets people take his picture. Where would I get his photo?"

Cornelia firmly believed it was a fake. "You could use software to photoshop it, you've done it before."

Abigail felt her explanations were in vain, "Cornelia, believe me. I really didn't do it this time."

Zack looked at the photo on the marriage certificate, then at Abigail and Cornelia, "you didn't photoshop it, then why do Jeremy and Marcus look the same? Could Jeremy and Marcus be related somehow?"

Anyway, Zack, like Cornelia, absolutely didn't believe Marcus and Jeremy were the same person.

Cornelia thought Zack's guess might be right, "Yes, I remember Marcus telling me that he's known Jeremy since they were kids, so they might be brothers."

Zack snapped his fingers, "Right, Marcus is probably your uncle."

The ignored Abigail muttered. "Cornelia, Zack, why don't you believe that Jeremy is Marcus?"

Cornelia said, "Their names are completely different, how could they possibly be the same person?"

Zack nodded, "Right."

Abigail said, "Could Marcus possibly have two identities? After all, it's not impossible for people as wealthy as them to do this."

Cornelia stubbornly said, "Impossible! Absolutely not! Jeremy definitely isn't Marcus. They can't possibly be the same person!"

At this point, Cornelia could only adamantly deny it, because she knew better than Zack and Abigail that the chances of Jeremy and Marcus being the same person were very high.

Marcus once told her that his wife was from Rosenberg, and his wife's name was also Cornelia...
