Married at First Sight Chapter 2485-At this time, the four wolf dogs barked at Carrie.

Carrie was so frightened that her face turned pale.

She quickly climbed up and then climbed over the door. Seeing the four wolves rushing towards her, she was so frightened that she let go of her hands and fell from the top.

With a “dong”

sound, Carrie fell to the ground with a muffled sound.

The fall hurt her to death.

She ignored the pain and saw the four wolf dogs throwing themselves at the door and standing up. She sat on the ground and backed away, fearing that the four wolf dogs would come and bite her.

Carrie calmed down after retreating far away and seeing that the wolf dog could not pass through the door.

Fortunately, she climbed over the door before falling down. If she fell down as soon as she saw four wolf dogs, she would be bitten by the wolf dogs.

It was also at this time that Carrie felt pain.

The door was more than two meters high, and she fell from the highest point, which hurt her to death.

D*mned Blind Woman Camryn, she must be the wolf dog she unleashed.

Camryn actually raised such a ferocious beast at home.

Were her pet dogs and cats still alive?

Carrie endured the pain and got up.

She's afraid it's impossible to break in through the door.

Camryn refused to open the door for her. All the servants at home listened to Camryn, and no one would open the door for her.

Carrie didn't know how to get in for a while.

She didn't go in; she was unwilling to do so. This was her home, and she had lived here since she was a child.

In the past, she was the only one who had the job of correcting Camryn. Although Camryn became blind for a long time, she did not take advantage every time she bullied her, and sometimes she would suffer the consequences of being dumb. But on the surface, she was still better than Camryn.

She had a home and couldn't return, and she couldn't even step through the door of the villa.

If she couldn't even enter her own house, how could she take revenge on Camryn? Mrs. Janzen also said that it depended on her performance. She couldn't even enter the door, but she still wanted to take revenge on Camryn and take everything back.

After staring at the ferocious wolf dogs for a moment, Carrie turned around and left.

She decided to find Mrs. Janzen first, check into the hotel again, and then find a way to kill the wolf dogs.

The plan was to buy some meat bones, put some medicine into the meat bones, mix them together, and then go back tonight in the dead of night and throw the medicine-soaked meat bones into the yard to poison the wolfdogs.

As long as those beasts were poisoned, she could break through the door.

If the poison couldn't kill those beasts, she would go to the media reporters or those program crews who specialized in mediating conflicts to ask Camryn to open the door and let her in.

She could also use this to ruin Camryn's reputation.

Although Camryn was the eldest daughter of the Newman family in the past, because she was blind, her life in the Newman family was worse than that of a servant. In Wiltspoon, when everyone mentioned her, they only expressed sympathy a few times and said behind her back that Mrs. Newman was too partial and would not pay too much attention to Camryn.

Camryn had become the fiancée of Callum, the second young master of the York family, and would be the future second young wife of the York family. This identity was enough to attract the attention of media reporters and the public, ensuring that the program crews were willing to help her.

Could she report the news about the second young lady of the York family?
