I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2350-Usually, after David left, Pebbles would be waiting for him at home.

However, not this time.

Shortly after David left, the girl took out a piece of paper in the room and began to write. She soon filled the entire page.

After that, she put the paper she wrote on the table and placed a cup on top of it.

Pebbles surveyed the room carefully, a look of reluctance in her eyes.

She decided to be resolute.

Immediately after that, she moved and disappeared from the room.

Only two crystal-clear drops of tears were left, which fell on the table.

When Pebbles reappeared, she was standing on top of the tree on the hilltop where she often came with David.

As she looked at the endless forest in the distance, Pebbles muttered to herself, "Davey, Pebbles is leaving. Thank you for taking care of me during this time. If possible, I want to stay by your side, but I still have very important things to do, and if I don't go, it may not be long before you will be implicated too, Davey.

"I want you to be safe all the time and live happily. I hope that one day we can meet in Leila. Perhaps at that time, you will be surprised! But Davey, you promised me that no matter what kind of changes I have in the future, you will not change how you feel toward me in the slightest. I will still be your Pebbles."

At that moment, the power hidden in the girl's body began to burst out and fill her tiny body.

In fact, Pebbles had been holding back for several days now. She could already release this power hidden in her body a few days ago.

She knew that David would leave every eight or ten days.

So that was why she waited until now. It was because she did not want to bid farewell to him in person.

At that time, she was afraid that she would be reluctant to leave.

The huge strength caused a painful look on her face. Thus, she kept clenching her teeth and persevering.

Slowly, with the strength spreading to every corner of her body, a faint shadow appeared behind the girl.

She was wearing a lady's armor, revealing part of her supple snow-white skin. She was wearing a crown and holding a long green sword.

She looked extraordinarily soldierly.

On the most central continent of Leila, there were five statues, tens of thousands of feet high.

One of them was exactly the same as the shadow behind Pebbles.

And this statue represented someone.

Someone who the creatures in Leila adored.

Not only that, but she was also one of the beliefs of all Leila's beings.

Without exaggeration, the status of this person in the hearts of all Leila's creatures was much higher than David's status in Star Kingdom.

She was one of the five rulers of Leila.

Empress Elora.

An Overlord who had lived for tens of thousands of epochs.

When the shadow behind Pebbles was visible, it suddenly dissipated and turned into specks of starlight, merging into Pebbles' body.

At the same time, countless memories frantically flooded into Pebbles' mind, combining with the fragments of scenes she already recalled, to form a complete memory.

From how she grew up and became an Overlord, to becoming one of the five Leila Rulers.

To her fight with the Robotias, being attacked by the Soul Devourers, and getting seriously injured.

Then, finally abandoning her body to gain a chance at life, and pouring the remnants of her soul into the Emerald Lotus Sword so that it could escape with her.

The memory appeared to her in The Spirit Cage and her instinct told her to find useful treasures to eat.

Then, she met David.

It seemed that the energy of this person was of great help to her growth.

Therefore, she attached herself to him every day and refused to leave, even for a second.
