

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2440

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2440-Nimbus stopped himself halfway. He wanted to warn David, but in the end, realized he was not David's match.

Even the entire Milky Way Empire combined could not harm David.

So, he stopped mid-sentence.

He thought about it and continued, "Even though I can't defeat you, as Astrid's father, I will never spare you as long as you dare bully."

After he said that, Nimbus' face turned red.

Even his warnings sounded so powerless as he was not sufficiently strong.

When Nova and Celeste heard what Nimbus said on the outside, they were amused.

An ant at partial Eternal Realm was threatening David, a Deity?

Even if his daughter was David's confidante, it was still pretty unimaginable.

Strength was everything in Star Kingdom.

Except for direct seniors like parents, Nimbus would still have to obediently greet David whenever they met.

Luckily, anyone who knew David knew also that he was good -tempered.

If not, Nimbus would not stand so safely in front of him now.

"Don't worry, Mr. Barlowe, since I promised to take care of Astrid, I would never bully her," David smiled and answered.

He did not look mad or offended.

It was because he did not think he could do whatever he wanted just because he was powerful.

His strength was just to protect himself and the people around him.

That was all.

“Father, David did not bully me. He’s very good to me. I was very happy during the time I was gone,” Astrid left Gamora’s arms and explained.

“Hmph, I hope so!”

Nimbus was still acting high and mighty.

He knew he was not David’s match and yet he could not humble himself.

He was the prince of the Milky Way Empire since he was born, and had always been on top of the pyramid the entire time as he slowly became monarch of the empire.

“Mr. Barlowe, Mrs. Barlowe, I’ve brought Astrid back to you. It’s been a while since I left my home, so I also have to go back for a bit. I’ll come back to visit you when I have time.”

After handing Astrid back to Nimbus and Gamora, David was about to bid his farewell.

“Alright, you can leave. I won’t send you off,” Nimbus said with a blank look on his face.

He was still brooding over the fact that David had abducted Astrid.

David took away his baby. A baby whom he had raised into such an exquisite woman.

So, it would be weird if he was okay with it.

“No need. It’s been so long since you’ve seen each other, so you should reunite and I should go. Astrid, I’ll come to get you after some time.”

“Okay, you should go now, David. Celia and the others are waiting for you.”

“Bye!” David turned and left after he said that.

“Let’s go too.”

Nimbus and the gang left the back of the enormous tortoise’s back and descended onto Planet Royal.

Soon, a huge crack appeared before the enormous tortoise. Linder Wilfred and the others' gazes, it went in and disappeared.

Even though this was not the first time they saw the enormous tortoise tearing space apart and traveling into high-dimensional space, Wilfred and Nimbus still felt astonished.

'Gosh, Eternal Realm!

'When can I reach that realm?

'I wonder what that kid David did during cultivation to make him an Eternal at such a young age.'
