

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2450

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2450-It was even more prosperous than before he left.

The person in charge in Dark Cape was Red Flame Mercenaries, with Killer as the head and Paul and Tulip as the deputy. This was like a small nation, and no force would dare to provoke them.

The headquarters of Red Flame Mercenaries.

Two middle-aged men and one charming woman were sitting together to discuss how to develop and strengthen Dark Cape.

“Long time no see, guys.”

The trio were startled at first,

When they saw the person speaking, they quickly got up and knelt in front of David in an orderly fashion. They said respectfully, “Killer greets you, Mr. Udell.”

“Paul greets you, Mr. Lidell.”

“Tulip greets you, Mr. Lidell.”

“Don’t have to be so polite. You may rise “

After David said that, he waved his hand and helped them up-

“Thank you, Mr. Lidell.”

“Sit down. There’s nothing special, I just want to talk about old times with you.”

David pulled a chair and sat down. Then, he asked the others to sit as well.

Killer, Paul, and Tulip looked at each other. They were all hesitating and did not dare to sit.

It was because the guy in front of them had too high a status.

They did not dare to sit at the same table as him.

“What’s wrong? Are my words not useful anymore after I’m gone for so long?” David said calmly.

The three quickly knelt again.

“Please don’t be mad, Mr. Lidell! We don’t dare to do so!” Killer answered with a forced smile.

“Yeah, Mr. Lidell, who are we? How would we dare to sit with you?” Paul quickly added.

“Mr. Lidell, once word about this gets out, your loyal admirers might kill us with their criticisms.”

Tulip looked at David with stars in her eyes. She could not hide how emotional she was.

Clearly, she was also one of David’s loyal admirers.

If anyone spoke badly of David, she would be the first to fight them

“Why would you not dare sit with me? We’re old friends talking about old times. That’s all. Unless you don’t think of me as a friend anymore,” David said helplessly.

He did not like such a restraining meeting.

However, he could not do anything about it.

What could he do when they all respected him so much?

He could not force them, right?

“Mr. Lidell, we genuinely don’t dare to think of you as a friend. You’re our employer and if you say the word, we will be willing to go through hell for you and we will never frown.” Killer immediately stated his loyalty.

“As long as you say the word, we will be willing to go through hell for you and we will never frown, Mr. Lidell,” the other two said as well.

‘That’s enough. Since you’re following my orders, I’m ordering you all to sit down right now and chat with me! Let’s talk about the old times!’

The three finally sat at the same table with David and started to tell David the result they got in Dark Cape.

However, David was not interested in that.

David did not even care about Star Kingdom, let alone this small Dark Cape.

He wanted to see his old friends and give them some resources to train while he was at it so that he could help everyone improve.

That was all!