I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2538-Although the dazzling light just now forced everyone to close their eyes and they did not see how David seriously injured Agatha, he still won in the end.

Losers were always in the wrong, no matter where one was.

They did not care about the process as the result was the most important thing.

“Cough cough!”

Agatha raised her head and looked at David with horror in her eyes. After that, she coughed twice and spit out a lot of blood.

Even she, the victim, did not see how David attacked her.

She just felt a flash of white light before her body suffered severe damage.

The only one who could seriously injure her without any resistance was probably the soul of an Overlord.

In other words, the one who hurt her just now must someone with an Overlord's soul.

Agatha thought of many possibilities.

It was no secret that Leila only had five Overlords.

All who lived in Leila knew this.

So who was the one who just attacked her?

Was it one of the five Overlords?

Or was there a sixth Overlord in Leila?

Or did someone upgrade their soul to Overlord Realm?

All these were possible, but Agatha figured another possibility was more likely.

That was David had a close relationship with one of the Overlords.

And he had a treasure bestowed by the Overlord that could save his life at critical moments.

That was why there was a dazzling light just now, as it was to hide the critical moment and prevent everyone from seeing it.

There was a more than 80% chance that this was possible.

After all, who were the Overlords?

Under normal circumstances, they would not come to The Spirit Cage, let alone be a young man's bodyguard.

Therefore it was absolute rubbish that David was the one who hurt her just now.

Agatha did not believe it at all.

Could such a young man possess the power of an Overlord and become Leila's sixth Overlord? 1

Was it possible?

How difficult was it to achieve Overlord?

Agatha, the partial Overlord, had the most say about this.

Many of Leila's old partial Overlords had already stepped into partial Overlord Realm tens, hundreds, or even hundreds of epochs ago.

However, they were still partial Overlords after such a long time.

Since the Great Ancient War in Leila, there have been four Overlords in total.

They were Drogo, Valentin, Elora, and Lufian.

Sylvio had already become an Overlord before the Great War.

He was also the only Overlord who survived the Great Ancient War.

Leila's dozens of partial Overlords were working hard in hopes of becoming the sixth Leila ruler.

So, how would they allow themselves to be preempted by a kid whom they had never met?

No matter how talented or smart he was, there must be a limit!

Having lived to such a great age, what kind of talented genius had Agatha not seen?

Agatha found herself helpless, even though she had a rough idea of how David had inflicted serious injuries on herself.

Being able to obtain a treasure bestowed by an Overlord was enough to show that David had a noble status. He was second only to the five Leila rulers and above all other forces.

Besides, who could guarantee that there was only one treasure in David's hand?

If the Overlord could bestow him one, could they not bestow him more?

Moreover, Agatha also had some guesses as to why David did not kill her.

Currently, Leila is in crisis.

The five Overlords had ordered all the partial Overlords to be ready to join the battle at any time.

So, if a partial Overlord died at this time, the five Overlords would pursue it, and David might not be able to explain himself.

That was why David did not kill her.

In just a split second, Agatha guessed everything.

Although a bit outrageous, one had to admit that they were all reasonable logic and well-founded. 3

Who would have thought that a kid with a bug like David would show up?
