I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2627—In the early stages of reform, Isa received many doubts, objections, and even curses behind her back.

After all, giving her people to those big forces as playthings was not what the Queen of the Elves should do.

Elven Queens throughout the ages had always taken it as their duty to protect the Elves.

Only Isa wanted to send everyone out and push them into the fire pit.

However, it was not easy for the Elves to overthrow Isa.

After all, she had the Elves' inherited treasure, and as long as she did not give it up voluntarily, there was nothing they could do about it.

Isa ignored this completely.

She insisted on implementing her plan under great pressure.

She knew that if she wanted to change the fate of the Elves, she must rise after failure.

Instead of letting Leila's various forces target the Elven women, she would raise the price of Elven women astronomically.

Rather than make the Elves a walking money bag in everyone's eyes, it would be better to be generous and give them away directly to gain the favor of the major forces.

As for the Elves' incomprehension, Isa believed that it would not be long before they understood her good intentions.

As Elven Queen Isa began to visit the top forces in Leila and gave away the Water of Eternity, Fountain of Youth, and Elven women, this caused quite a stir in Leila at the time.

On the surface, all the forces were indifferent, but secretly they all wanted to be visited by Elven Queen Isa as this would show that they were recognized by her.

At the same time, they could even get some benefits.

It was simply the best of both worlds.

Of course, prestige was still the main thing.

For example, if one force got a visit from the Elves but another did not, it would mean that they were stronger than other forces.

Prestige was very important to all forces in Leila.

Slowly, all the forces visited by Isa would warmly receive the Elves.

They even said that they would treat Elven women well and become friends with the Elves from then on.

After a while, almost all of Leila's top forces were bribed by Queen Isa.

They even publicly stated that the Elves would be protected within their sphere of influence and that it was prohibited to capture and sell Elven women. Otherwise, all would be severely punished if discovered.

Although it was impossible to completely ban this kind of thing with huge benefits, at least they could stop 99% of it.

Now things were much better than before.

Even if someone took a desperate risk, they could only do it quietly, not brazenly.

With the statements of all major forces, the Elves could finally leave the Elven Forest without worrying about being captured at anytime.

After getting in touch with the outside world, the Elves began to exchange their specialties for various resources.

Their overall strength was also constantly improving.

The fate of the Elven women sent out was not as miserable as when they were captured and sold.

Some even became concubines of some big shots and enjoyed unlimited glory.

Gradually, the voices questioning Isa became lesser until, one day, they finally disappeared.

From opposition and doubt, to support and admiration.

Isa completely changed her impression among her people and became the queen who changed the fate of the Elves. She would be recorded in the history of the Elves.

However, the Elves also offended some forces.

That was inevitable.

There were so many forces in Leila that it was uncountable.

The Elves could not consider every force and could only choose some of the top ones to make friends with.

Otherwise, it would not be enough even if they sent all the Elven women away.

Isa knew how difficult it was for the Elves to be where they are today.

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2628-If Isa wanted this to continue, she needed to maintain the relationship with the top forces in Leila.

So every once in a while, Queen Isa would take the Water of Eternity and Fountain of Youth of the Elves, as well as the specially trained Elven women, to visit the major forces in Leila.

The Elves' once-in-a-century sacrificial ceremony was also an opportunity for the Elves to show their strength to Leila.

All forces in Leila who were friends with the Elves would be invited to participate.

At the same time, it was also to tell those people and forces in Leila who were still secretly spying on Elven women that the Elves were now different.

They would not be manipulated by just anyone.

If they wanted to take action against the Elves, they must be prepared and aware of paying a huge price.

Therefore, the sacrificial ceremony was very important to the Elves.

Preparations would usually start several years in advance, and the Elves would inevitably show a whole new look to Leila's major forces.

The time for the Elves' sacrificial ceremony was getting closer and closer.

The whole clan was busy.

Inside the tallest tower, a woman with pointed ears and exuding a mature charm was standing on the top floor, looking at her busy tribe below.

She was Isa, the Elven Queen who changed the fate of the Elves.

Invitations had been sent to all Leila's major forces, and everyone had replied positively.

The Elves were still not very strong in Leila. They were only average.

However, they had a huge appeal.

The achievements they have today were inseparable from Elven Queen Isa.

If not for her, the Elves might still be living a dark life.

They would still have to worry that some forces would kidnap and sell them to big shots as playthings at any time.

At that time, there would be groups of people wandering the Elven Forest, hoping to make a fortune from Elven women.

If they could catch one, they could get a huge fortune.

It would be better than going on an adventure to look for treasures.

Knock knock knock! Knock knock knock!

Suddenly, a series of rapid knocks on the door could be heard.

Isa, who was deep in thought, frowned.

"Come in!" Isa said.

The door pushed open, and a young woman walked in quickly.

Thud thud thud!

The soles of her feet were in constant close contact with the wooden floor.

The visitor also had a pair of pointed ears and looked somewhat similar to Isa.

However, she was more youthful.

“Mother!” The young woman gasped.

She was the daughter of Elven Queen Isa, the Elven Princess Evie.

Although Isa did not give birth to Evie, Isa raised her. The two practiced a special technique of the Elves, which required frequent teachings so that they shared many genetic similarities.

As a result, Evie looked more and more like Isa.

“Gosh. You look excited. Did something good happen?” Isa turned around and asked, looking at Evie.

“Mothe, I have good news to tell you.” A happy smile beamed from Evie’s face.

“Oh? What’s the good news?” Isa asked curiously.

“Mother, guess!” Evie did not reveal it immediately but kept it secret.

“It’s rare that something can make you so happy, let me think,” Isa said, pretending to be profound.

“Then think quickly and see if you can guess,” Evie urged.

“Hmm... From what I know about you, you haven’t been this happy since you came back from The Spirit Cage. I’m afraid there is only one person who can do that. Did you get news from David?” Isa asked with a smile.

“Ah? Mother! H-How did you guess so quickly? No fun! No fun! Mother, you are bullying me,” Evie pouted in dissatisfaction.

She wanted to give her mother a surprise but did not expect Isa to find out so quickly.

This made Evie feel her intelligence was insulted.

“Is it difficult? Evie, don’t you know that since you came back, you only smile when we talk about David? You don’t usually smile so happily.”

“R-Really?” Evie blushed stammering.

“Yeah! You just didn’t write ‘I like David’ on your face,” Isa joked.

As the Elven Queen, she should have tried her best to stop her daughter, an Elven Princess, from liking a human.

Because neither the princess nor the queen of the Elves could lose their virginity.

Otherwise, the special skills that the Elves had practiced for many years would be in vain, preventing them from inheriting the ancestral treasure of the Elves. Then, naturally, they would not be able to assume the position of Elven Queen.

However, Isa not only had no intention of stopping her but she even thought about how to bring Evie and David together.

This was because David’s identity might change the fate of the Elves once more.

Even though the Elves had a strong appeal and were doing pretty well now, it was built on the premise of the Elves giving out Water of Eternity, Fountain of Youth, and Elven women to the major forces.

Once they stopped doing that, the Elves would go back to suffering.

Even though the Elves were doing much better than before, Isa was still not satisfied.

She wanted to find a very strong backer.

David would be her target if she wanted authority in Leila without having to socialize with the major forces.

Even if David fancied Isa, she would agree to become his dependent without hesitation for the sake of the Elves, let alone Evie.

To Isa, David's identity must be shocking since he had a soul power that even she, herself, feared.

"I... I'm not! Mother, you're such a bully. I don't want to talk to you anymore," Evie huffed.

"Alright, alright. I was just joking. Tell me. What did David say?" Isa changed the topic.

Now that they were back on topic, Evie smiled again. She said happily, "Mother, David said he will come to the Elves' sacrificial ceremony on time."

"Really? He's coming?" Isa's interest was piqued as well.

It would be great if David could come to the sacrificial ceremony.

She believed that with David's identity, he would deter all the incoming forces.

The Elves would be able to rise to another height then.

"Yeah, he just asked me for our location, and he's on his way now," Isa answered affirmatively.

When she heard this, Isa frowned slightly.

Why did David ask Evie where the Elves were located? Did he not know where they were?

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2630

It seemed impossible!

Although the Elves were not very powerful now, they were very famous.

How could a man of noble birth like David not know the location of the Elves?

Isa could not figure out the reason, but this did not affect her mood.

This did not make her doubt David's identity and strength either.

After all, Isa personally fought David in The Spirit Cage.

Even if she used the Elves' inherited treasure, the arrow could not do any harm to David.

David's final outburst of anger even caused Isa to truly experience a death crisis.

David's soul was too powerful. Even if Isa possessed the Elves' inherited treasure, she would be killed instantly when facing David.

Back then, Isa guessed that David's identity was not simple.

Now that David was coming, Isa began to formulate a plan that she had prepared long ago.

She never had the chance to implement it.

Now David had brought this opportunity, a look of hatred appeared in her eyes and she exuded a strong murderous aura.

It was the first time that Evie saw her mother like this. She was a little scared and asked, "Mother, what's wrong with you?"

Her words also brought Isa back to reality.

"Oh! It's nothing! I just thought of something that happened a long time ago," Isa replied casually.

"Mother, what could make you act so scary?" Evie asked worriedly.

"Evie, you are still young, so there are some things that you are not ready to know yet."

"Mother, I am not young anymore, and I am the Elven Princess, so I am qualified to know some of our secrets. I want to know what's in your mind that caused you to show such murderous looks," Evie said seriously.

She had just said that David was coming to attend the Elves' sacrificial ceremony, and then, her mother showed such murderous feelings.

Evie naturally thought that her mother's intention to kill was related to David, so she kept asking questions.

Although she did not think there was any deep hatred between David and her mother, she still wanted to understand.

Isa looked at her daughter.

She figured that if that plan was to be implemented, she might need help from Evie.

It would not be a bad thing to tell her in advance.

So Isa asked, "Evie, do you still remember that the Elves once encountered a catastrophe? Tens of thousands of Elven women were taken away in one go and sold to various places in Leila. It caused a great sensation at the time."

"Of course, I remember! That is the eternal pain of our clan. Tens of thousands of our clan members were sold to become the playthings of other beasts. They were mistreated and humiliated."

At this point, Evie's eyes turned red. It was clear that she was thinking of those trafficked women.

She was very young at that time, but she did not forget.

This was the pain of their clan, an irreconcilable hatred.

"It's good that you remember! You were still young at that time, so I thought you had forgotten." Isa nodded.

"How could I? I will never forget that, Mother, you are the best Elven Queen and you're also my idol. If it weren't for you, we would still be living in darkness and live a life as other people's prey," Evie said with admiration.

The lifespan of the Elves was completely different from that of humans.

From the moment they were born, they absorbed the woodattribute spiritual energy between heaven and earth to nourish their bodies.

So, they grew slowly and had very long lifespans.

Even though Evie looked like a human in her twenties, she was actually hundreds of years old.
