An understated Dominance – Dahlia and Dustin Chapter 1508

Chapter 1508

“So according to your opinion, they are only allowed to bully us and we are not allowed to resist?”

Do we, the powerless people, have to be oppressed and insulted in front of powerful people like you? We can't even protect ourselves. Guilty?” Dustin looked sarcastic.

Although she has lost her memory, the woman in front of him has really not changed at all.

Always preconceived, self-righteous and indiscriminate. “I don't understand what you are talking about.” Dahlia frowned slightly:

“Our people are here today to discuss business. If you are a shareholder of Lancaster's Medicine, you should treat each other with courtesy instead of intimidating and tempting.”

“If they are guests, we will naturally welcome them, but if they are enemies, then don't blame us for being rude.” Dustin retorted.

“What? You did something wrong and got into trouble, and you still don't know how to repent?” Dahlia frowned.

“Miss Nicolson, this matter is a misunderstanding.”

At this time, Hazel Lancaster suddenly stepped forward and smoothed things over with a smile:

“It was Miss Anderson who insisted on jumping in the queue just now, and she also used the name of Lord Eugene Montgomery's Palace to show off her power.

If she doesn't comply, she will destroy our company. Dustin was angry for a moment, so he acted a little impulsively.”

“Is there such a thing?” Dahlia turned and glanced at Julie Anderson.

Julie Anderson’s face froze, but she quickly defended herself:

“Cousin! Don’t listen to their nonsense! I came here sincerely to discuss business, but Dustin took revenge and wanted to kick me out. I was really angry, so I said so.

A few harsh words didn’t do anything.” “Yes, Sister Dahlia, I can testify that it’s all Dustin’s fault!”

Victoria Sterling immediately spoke out in support: “This guy Dustin is not only unreasonable, but he also fights. He has serious violent tendencies.

Look at Miss Anderson’s face, it’s swollen!”

“Cousin, I’ve never been wronged like this before. You must make the decision for me!”

Julie Anderson looked very sad. Wronged. Looking at Anderson’s red and swollen face and the dissipated fingerprints on it,

Dahlia couldn’t help but darken her face and asked: “Dustin! Let me ask you, did you hit my cousin?”

“It was me, but... Just as Dustin was about to explain, he was interrupted by Dahlia coldly: “It’s really you!” I thought you had something to hide, and that you were using your power to bully others after doing this for a long time.

Why do you have the face to cry out for injustice? ! “Dustin frowned slightly, his face a little ugly. Others didn’t care, but Dahlia’s words were as hurtful as a knife to him.

“Miss Nicolson, everything has a cause, you can’t just listen to one-sided words.

Seeing that the situation was not good,

Hazel Lancaster quickly explained: “Everyone present can clearly see what happened just now. You can find out who is right and who is wrong by just asking anyone.” “”good!

Then I will ask and see who is right and who is wrong!

Dahlia glanced left and right, finally settling on a woman, and asked:

“Madam, please tell me truthfully, what happened just now?” Did Dustin hit someone first?

“You’d better think carefully before speaking and don’t talk nonsense. If you dare to protect Dustin, you will bear the consequences!” “Victoria Sterling reminded her secretly.

As soon as she said this, the woman’s face turned pale with fright, and she nodded repeatedly: “That’s right, that’s right! It was Dustin who made the first move, and Miss Anderson was the victim, I saw it with my own eyes! “Um?

“Hearing this, Hazel Lancaster couldn’t help but frown slightly. She really didn’t expect that someone would lie in public. But after thinking about it, it seems understandable.

Who dares to offend the power of two wealthy families and one royal family? Even if it is a black one, Even someone with absolute power, no one can become compare with them.

“Dustin! What else do you have to say? After getting the result, Dahlia’s pretty face turned cold and she shouted softly: “I order you now to apologize to Julie Anderson immediately. This way you still have a way to survive. Otherwise, just being charged with poisoning and harming people will be enough for you to spend half your life in prison!”
