An understated Dominance – Dahlia and Dustin Chapter 1535

After returning to the villa, Dustin started preparations immediately.

The three top-quality elixir were finally assembled, and the rest of the auxiliary medicinal materials were already prepared.

Next, is the most critical step, refining the Bone Cleansing Pill.

“Maximus, I’m going to retreat for a day, you should guard it carefully and don’t allow anyone to come in and disturb me.” Dustin warned.

“Don’t worry, Brother Dustin. Even if the King of Heaven comes, he won’t be able to enter this door!” Maximus assured him, patting his chest.

Dustin nodded, looked at Dr. Elijah again, and said, “Master Grandwood, Please take care of Uncle Lorenzo. Before I leave the customs, there must be no accidents.”

“Leave it to me. Although I can’t cure Lorenzo’s illness, it’s okay to extend his life for a while.” Dr. Elijah said.

“Okay, then please both of you.”

Dustin didn’t say much. After explaining a few words, he walked into the temporarily renovated alchemy room alone.

The medicinal materials have been gathered, and the alchemy furnace, charcoal fire, and various materials are fully prepared.

However, Dustin was not too anxious, but meditated for a long time.

When his whole body was relaxed and his mind was calm, he started to make alchemy.

The Bone Cleansing Pill is very important and determines whether Lorenzo can survive.

As a top-quality elixir, its refining difficulty is comparable to the previous life-sustaining elixir, but because of the different types, the details are very different.

Dustin has simulated it hundreds of times in his mind, and all the steps are clear.

As long as you don't make mistakes in practice, you should be fine.

The first is to install the furnace, then to set up the tripod, followed by grinding, burning sand, and solidifying mud. The next step is to control the temperature of the furnace fire, refine and fuse.

Every step is very important and there can be no mistakes.

Dustin worked steadily step by step and began to devote himself to it.

Time is passing little by little.

Dustin waited attentively, accurately controlling the temperature of the fire, sometimes fiercely, but sometimes gently.

The elixirs in the alchemy furnace are constantly being refined, fused, refined, and fused again.

Just like that, I don't know how long passed.

The elixir changes from solid to gas, from gas to liquid, and finally to solid again.

After repeating this several times, he finally reached the final critical step, condensing the elixir.

Dustin took a deep breath and began to activate the internal energy, injecting it into the alchemy furnace bit by bit.

Condensing pills needs to be guided by true energy, which will not only increase the success rate, but also make the finished product look very good.

"Whoops, whoops, whoops..."

The fire under the alchemy furnace is getting stronger and stronger, and Dustin is instilling more and more internal energy.

Gradually, his forehead began to sweat, and his body was covered with white mist.

After about a stick of incense, Dustin suddenly took action and slapped the alchemy furnace with his palm.

“Bang!”

There was a bang.

The lid of the alchemy furnace popped open, and a strong medicinal fragrance immediately spurted out.

Dustin took a closer look and saw a steaming blue pill lying at the bottom of the pill furnace.

The elixir is translucent and covered with water wave patterns, which looks very beautiful.

Gently inhale the nose, but also smell the unique medicinal fragrance.

“It’s finally done!”

Dustin looked happy and let out a long sigh.

With this Bone Cleansing Pill, Lorenzo was finally saved.

At this moment, outside the door.

Maximus held the hilt of the sword with both hands and stood ready, not daring to relax at all.

Dr. Elijah was pacing back and forth in the living room, looking a little anxious.

Dustin has been in seclusion in the alchemy room for a day and a night, and there has been no movement so far, which makes him very uneasy.

It took a lot of effort to gather the three best elixirs. If this failed, Lorenzo would only die.

Because there is no time to find another way.

If you don't succeed today, you will be loose Lorenzo.
