

An Understated Dominance By Marina Vittori

Chapter 1838

“What? The Black Dragon Army sealed the city? How could it happen so quickly?” Zhou Bo’s expression changed and he almost jumped up.

I thought I could delay it for a few days, but I didn’t expect that in just one night, Dustin Kate’s army would already invade the border.

This efficiency is really frightening.

“Quick! Gather your troops immediately and prepare to escort the princess and the young prince out of the city!” Cornelius Ao shouted loudly.

“It’s too late, the Black Dragon Army has sealed the city, and we can’t escape at all.” Princess Elara shook his head, his face looking very ugly.

Although she had been mentally prepared for it, when she actually had to face this step, it was still difficult for her to accept it.

“You have to give it a try, you can’t just sit back and wait for death.” Cornelius Ao was a little anxious.

“it’s useless.”

Princess Elara shook his head: “Now that the military talisman has fallen into Dustin Kate’s hands, the situation is over for us. Instead of hiding like a mouse, it is better to face it calmly. At least this way, we can be more dignified.”

“princess.....”

Cornelius Ao was about to say something, but was interrupted by Princess Elara raising his hand: “Cornelius Hou, you guys are loyal and courageous. You are a blessing to West Lucozia. There is no need to sacrifice in vain. In my opinion, we should surrender and save our lives first.” Say it again.”

“drop?”

Cornelius Ao frowned, with a bit more determination in his eyes.

He has fought all his life and has never surrendered, and this time is no exception.

Even if he knew he couldn't fight, he would die on the battlefield with dignity.

“Report!”

“The Hussars General Dustin Kate has come with many generals and is now outside the palace gate. Please give instructions from the princess!”

Another guard ran into the meeting hall to report the situation.

“It came so quickly. It seems that Dustin Kate can't wait for a moment.”

Princess Elara took a deep breath, picked up his sword, walked out of the meeting hall with his head held high, and shouted: “Open the door! Welcome guests!”

“Boom~!”

The heavy door of the palace slowly opened.

As before, Princess Elara walked out first with a sword in one hand.

At this moment, a group of majestic soldiers were standing outside the palace gate.

The leader was none other than Dustin Kate, who was wearing golden armor.

His face was calm, his eyes were sharp, and he exuded an aura of domineering power.

Standing on the left side of Dustin Kate was Nangong Po who had snatched the soldier talisman last night.

Standing on the right side were two of Dustin Kate's confidants, Harmon Liang and Gao Yuan.

Behind them are a group of generals and officers from the Black Dragon Army.

Looking around, there were hundreds of people.

To become an officer of the Black Dragon Army, one must not only have great military exploits, but also be strong enough, otherwise it will be difficult to convince the public.

Therefore, every officer and general of the Black Dragon Army is a master of martial arts.

It is no exaggeration to say that a team of just a few hundred people is enough to kill an army of 100,000 people!

“General, you brought so many people to your door, what’s the matter?” Princess Elara stood at the door and asked loudly.

“Your Highness, the eldest princess, you are a smart person. You should know what to do. If you tell the truth, it will not look good on your face.” Dustin Kate said calmly.

At this moment, he holds the marshal’s talisman and is in charge of half a million black dragon troops. He is equivalent to the uncrowned Prince of West Lucozia.

Anyone who dares to oppose him will only die.

“General, you are indeed superior, we are willing to accept the defeat.”

Princess Elara threw the sword in his hand to the ground and said with a serious face: “I can support your rise to the throne, and even apply for a title from the officials on your behalf, so that you can legitimately become the King of West Lucozia!”

Chapter 1839

Chapter 1839

“princess.....”

Cornelius Ao behind him was about to speak, but was interrupted by Princess Elara raising his hand.

“Oh, is it so?”

Dustin Kate smiled slightly and became more interested: “Your Highness, the eldest princess, do you want to negotiate terms with me?”

“That’s right.”

Princess Elara said very straightforwardly: “As long as you promise me three things, all of us will support you as king, so that you will have no worries.”

“Your Highness, Princess, I can still claim the title of king even without your support. So, what qualifications do you have to negotiate terms with me?”
Dustin Kate smiled half-heartedly.

“General, I believe that you are a person who cherishes feathers and can succeed to the throne smoothly without any objection, isn’t it good?” Princess Elara said.

“Okay, then I will give the eldest princess some face and listen to your terms.”
Dustin Kate said with a faint smile.

He was already confident of winning, so it wouldn’t hurt if he could save himself some trouble and agree to a few conditions.

Of course, the premise is that these conditions are not too extreme.

“My first condition is that after the general takes office, he must treat all soldiers and civilians well. It is not easy for West Lucozia to be what it is today, so we must cherish it.” Princess Elara said seriously.

“no problem.”

Dustin Kate nodded: “When I become king, I will extend my kindness and benefit the people of West Lucozia.”

When a new king comes to power, he naturally has to win over people’s hearts, so he must still give him the benefits that should be given.

Even if Princess Elara didn’t need to mention it, he would do it, so he agreed to this condition simply.

“The second condition is that I hope the general will be merciful and stop holding the affiliated forces of the palace accountable for their crimes. They are all following orders.”

Princess Elara turned around and glanced at the three princes and some royal generals behind him.

These people are all loyal to the palace, and she has the responsibility to protect these loyal ministers and soldiers.

“Can.”

Dustin Kate nodded again and said: “As long as they change their minds in the future, I promise not to pursue them again.”

“Thank you, General.”

Princess Elara nodded slightly, and then spoke again: “My third condition is that we, mother and son, are allowed to return to Stonia. I promise that from now on, I will never set foot in West Lucozia again.”

“Back to Stonia?”

Dustin Kate narrowed his eyes slightly and said meaningfully: “Your Royal Highness, if you go back, I will naturally not stop you, and I will even send someone to escort you. However, Thorian Rhys cannot do that.”

“Why?”

Princess Elara frowned.

She could give everything, just hoping that her son would be safe.

“Your Highness, Princess, do you really not understand? Or are you just pretending not to understand?”

Dustin Kate said calmly: “What is Thorian Rhys’s identity? The well-known young prince of West Lucozia, in terms of blood orthodoxy, is stronger than my third uncle. Do you think I will let the tiger go back to the mountain?”

Although Thorian Rhys is just a young boy now, he has already shown great potential.

Moreover, the other party is a descendant of Rufus Rhys. For some senior officials in the court, it is only natural for a son to inherit his father's throne.

And he seized power halfway.

If Thorian Rhys is allowed to return to Stonia and wait for the other party to accumulate power and make a comeback, wouldn't it be a huge disaster?

How could he shoot himself in the foot?

"General, Thorian is just a child and poses no threat to you. And I promise that after returning to Stonia, we will never have other thoughts. We just want to spend the rest of our lives in peace." Princess Elara tried to persuade. other side.

"This is just your one-sided statement. How can you make people believe it?"

Dustin Kate said with an indifferent expression: "I still say the same thing, you can go back, but Thorian Rhys can't.