

Chapter 737 He Came Out Of The Lab

Crafting the armor was a turning point for Liam, marking his mastery of a crucial success principle.

Similarly, he transformed his dark dagger by melting and reshaping it into a sharper spear.

Now equipped with both, Liam felt he was truly ready to fight Rohan.

After numerous tests, his armor proved capable of fully withstanding attacks from ordinary weapons. Its defensive capability was impressively high.

The spear, on the other hand, became a force to be reckoned with against the armor after Liam had perfected it.

So, Liam was armed with both an attacking weapon and a defensive weapon.

With newfound confidence, he exited the lab, seeking out Theo.

"Theo, what's the situation in Invone?" Liam inquired gently.

Theo, with a hint of concern, replied, "Things aren't looking good. The smaller clans in Invone have been absorbed by the Duncan family. There's even word that the Hoffman family is now under the Duncan family's thumb."

Liam wasn't entirely surprised by this.

Demetrius had managed to seize control through sheer force, keeping the Hoffman family's elite forces at bay.

Liam's expression darkened. "What's the situation with the Sandoval family? How are they doing?"

With a heavy sigh, Theo responded, "They're sitting ducks. The Duncan family's influence has grown immensely, and Rennes constantly harasses the Sandoval family. It's only a matter of time before they're taken over."

Liam's worry deepened. The situation was graver than he anticipated. "And Rohan? Any news of him?"

Theo shrugged and said, "I've lost track of him. Right now, Rennes is the face of the Duncan family's dealings."

When Liam heard this, memories of Rennes' past actions flared in his mind, stoking his anger. With a sardonic smirk, he muttered to himself, "Rennes, then you're first on my list."

Inside the Sandoval family's residence, Rennes was oblivious to the impending storm. He continued to bear down on the Sandoval family. "Abbott, your only salvation is submitting to the Duncan family. Otherwise, you're aware of what my brother can do."

The Sandoval family seethed with fury.

Abbott, more than anyone, harbored a deep desire to take down Rennes there and then. However, he masked any emotions, keeping his face neutral.

Suppressing his rage, Abbott responded, "Mr. Duncan, even if we didn't play a major role in getting the Duncan clan back in Invone, we've been diligent. Is it necessary to target the Sandoval family?"

Even to Abbott, his own words sounded feeble, but deflecting seemed his only option at the time.

The Sandoval family had hoped to benefit from the Duncan-Hoffman rivalry. They hadn't anticipated the Duncan family turning against them so swiftly, leaving them defenseless.

Suddenly, a voice broke through. "Abbott, you've been outmaneuvered in the very area you pride yourself on. Quite the irony."

All eyes turned to the source of the voice. Liam entered with a mocking smirk.

Rennes' expression shifted dramatically. His initial reaction was to step back, but he quickly composed himself.

His earlier, involuntary step back had pricked his ego. Enraged, he yelled, "Liam! You have the audacity to return? Are you seeking your end?"

Liam's icy grin remained. In a flash, he vanished from his spot, swiftly taking down Rennes' entourage in a single move.

As Rennes readied to defend, Liam effortlessly hoisted him by the throat.

The Duncan family's relentless conquests had met resistance, so Rennes had sustained injuries in prior confrontations.

After a few life-threatening situations, Liam's prowess had significantly grown. Now, he easily overpowered Rennes.

"Time to settle scores."
