

The Day I Kissed An Older Man by Cher the Cherished

Chapter 1034

Edmund never felt pressure like this before. “Sir, it’s because...”

Cedric glared at him. “You better not play dumb and tell us the truth. There’ll be hell to pay if I detect a lie in your words!”

‘I can’t keep it a secret anymore. They’re going to find out sooner or later...’ thought Edmund. He sighed helplessly and said, “It’s because Miss Corinne is—”

“It’s because she’s your savior, Grandpa. We owe her that much,” Lucas chimed in just in time.

Cedric and Beatrice turned toward the door and saw Lucas limping back in with the help of his crutches.

Edmund sighed in relief. Faced with Cedric’s immense pressure, he nearly blurted Corinne’s secret!

Lucas limped up to Cedric and passed him a bottle of medicine. “Here’s the blood pressure medicine you’ve asked for, Grandpa.”

Both Cedric and Beatrice were speechless. ‘How did he get back so fast?’

Lucas did not actually get the medicine himself. Halfway through, he suddenly realized Beatrice had sent him away on purpose, so he called his driver to deliver the medicine to him instead.

Cedric accepted the bottle of medicine and looked probingly at Lucas. “Tell me the truth, Lucas. Is Corinne—”

Lucas knew what Cedric wanted to ask, so he cut in. “There’s no need to overthink this, Grandpa, Grandma. Corinne is a good kid. She saved your life before, Grandpa, so I’m just repaying her for doing that. You two must be tired now, so why not go home first?”

After that, he half turned to Edmund and ordered, “Edmund, see Grandpa and Grandma off to the car, and come back after that. I still have things I need you to do.”

“Yes, Mister Lucas,” said Edmund with a nod.

Beatrice’s eyes darkened. She knew how stubborn her grandson could be, so she decided to not pursue the matter for the time being.

“Fine, we’ll head home now. But make sure you take care of your foot, Lucas. You better let it heal properly so that it won’t leave any aftereffects,” said Beatrice with concern.

Lucas smiled and nodded. “Don’t worry, Grandma. I know how to take care of myself.”

Beatrice felt relieved to hear that. “Good, good. Let’s go then, Cedric.”

Cedric was actually unhappy about not getting his questions answered, but he had no interest in staying in the ‘morgue’ any longer than he had to. Thus, he followed Beatrice out of the room without protest.

‘There’ll be plenty of time for me to ask Lucas who Corinne really is after he gets home,’ he thought.

Edmund saw the two elderly people off to their car.

After they left, Lucas became deep in thought. ‘Seems like they’re suspecting Corinne to be Luna, but she’s not ready to come back to the family yet... And if I tell Grandpa and Grandma, they’ll definitely make her come home...’
