

The Day I Kissed An Older Man by Cher the Cherished

Chapter 999

“Corinne.”

“Yeah?”

Jeremy lifted her chin and kissed her violently without warning!

“Mmph!” Corinne’s eyes widened slightly, and she was taken aback by his sudden kiss. She could not push him away even when she pressed her hands against his chest, so she stopped struggling altogether.

Jeremy took a while to break free from the kiss. When he finally did, Corinne took a breather.

Jeremy calmed himself, gasped slightly, and said to her, “I’ll probably be very busy for quite some time, and I need to travel both within the country and abroad too. I won’t be able to spend a lot of time with you every day.”

The blush on Corinne’s face faded. She raised an eyebrow and asked, “Do you have some overseas business to deal with?”

The man nodded. “Yes. I’ll try my best to keep you company at home if I have the time.”

Corinne thought for a while and suggested, “Where will you be going? Perhaps I can go with you?”

Jeremy’s eyes lit up, and he seemed to be very happy. “Well, aren’t you clingy?”

Corinne frowned and rolled her eyes at him. “I’m pretty free these days anyway, so I’ll just treat it as a holiday!”

Jeremy smiled. He placed his palm on her head and rubbed gently. “Stay at home and take good care of your baby, okay? I’ll come back to keep you company when I can.”

Corinne was a little taken aback. She did not say any further and merely nodded. “Okay.” Silently, however, she wondered, ‘Is he stopping me from going with him because he thinks I’m a burden?’

20 minutes later, the car stopped at the door of the Holdens’ estate.

Jeremy caressed Corinne’s head again and said, “I’ll be dropping you off now. Remember to eat your meals. I need to go to the company now, but I’ll be back to keep you company later tonight.”

Jeremy probably had a lot of things to deal with since the Holdens’ stock value had not recovered fully. Corinne understood he would be busy, so she got out of the car obediently. After waving him goodbye, she turned and walked toward the gate.

Jeremy waited until she reached the gate before nodding at the driver and signaling to drive away.

Corinne was just about to enter the password for the gate when her phone rang. Pulling out her phone, she noticed it was an unknown number.

As soon as she answered the call, the caller called out her name in a rather unhappy tone. “Corinne!”

“Who are you?” Corinne asked.

The caller replied, “Take three steps back, and you’ll see me.”

Corinne turned and looked behind her. There was no one there. She looked left and right too, but she spotted no one.

“Sorry, but I have no time to entertain your pointless games,” she said, stretching her finger across the screen to end the call.

The caller seemed to know Corinne was going to hang up and immediately stopped her. “Wait! Don’t hang up!”