

Chapter 862 A Gray Wolf

A beast had escaped?

It seemed like a strange coincidence.

When Lemuel, who was walking in front of the others, heard the news, his face turned pale. He was so overwhelmed by fear that his legs became weak, and his whole body trembled.

He felt so panicky that he even screamed first before the members of the cheerleading squad could.

Everyone from Bella University was jittery and tense. They only heard that a beast had escaped from its cage, but they had no idea what kind of beast it was.

If it was a lion or a tiger, they would definitely turn around and run for their lives.

But if it was just a zebra, a deer, or something like that, there was no need to panic.

"Let's run." One timid female student held Clarissa's hand tightly, crying.

Trevor, on the other hand, was a little surprised by the news. His brows furrowed.

He raised his hand and said aloud, "Everyone, don't panic, and don't push each other. We have to make sure that no students fall behind. We have to move to the entrance of the zoo in an orderly manner."

In a crowded place, the most fearful thing was the stampede. And that was what Trevor was afraid of. If the crowd panicked, many of them could be crushed and seriously injured.

There was a chance that people panicked, pushed each other, and got hurt before the beast could hurt them.

Lemuel, whose face was deathly pale, wanted to flee first.

When he heard Trevor's words, he felt ashamed. He wanted to shout and argue with him, but he couldn't find an excuse to refute.

He didn't care about the limelight or ruining Trevor's image anymore. All he wanted was to run away quickly and stay away from danger.

As for the promise that he would protect the girls with them, he had already forgotten about it.

"Ahhh!"

At this moment, the crowd behind them suddenly burst into a louder scream, which attracted everyone's attention.

Trevor's expression changed. He shouted at once, "Run! Cecelia, lead them out!"

He could clearly tell that the scream just now was very close to them. It was an indication that the beast was probably nearby.

Now, he could only let Cecelia, the president of the student union, take the lead.

Trevor took the initiative to stand behind the team and chose to cover them while they evacuated.

Cecelia looked at Trevor deeply, nodded, and began to command the team to evacuate in an orderly manner.

Clarissa was very excited and was deeply impressed by Trevor's bravery.

He looked so handsome like this.

If she wasn't pulled by Makenna and other cheerleaders, she would have insisted on staying with Trevor behind the line.

Trevor had no time to care about anyone's impression of him.

He looked around and found that a young woman and an old man had retreated to a spot where there was no way out.

And in front of them was a ferocious gray wolf hovering and could attack them at any time.

When Trevor saw the two people clearly, he was shocked.

He knew them.

The young woman was Irene, the female teacher blocked by Carmelita's dog.

The plain-looking old man was the victim of the thief on the train.

Trevor had separate encounters with them once. He didn't expect to meet them together today.

"What an untimely encounter!" Trevor muttered to himself. But his movements were not slow at all.

When he found a can of coke on the guardrail, he grabbed it and threw it at the wolf.

It hit the wolf's body, and the cold liquid splashed out, startling the wolf that was about to attack. Then, a pair of fierce beast eyes stared at Trevor.

If Trevor didn't make a move just now, Irene and the old man would have been attacked by the wolf.

"Thank God!"

Trevor took a deep breath, narrowed his eyes, and stared at the gray wolf.

To save Irene and the old man, he deliberately attracted the wolf's attention.

So now, he was under great pressure.
