

Chapter 925 A Big Surprise

The trouble in Zayden was finally resolved.

Trevor opted to rest for a few days to regain his strength. When he was starting to feel like his old self again, he prepared to head back to Dreles.

Elwood was not joking when he said he was going to Dreles. He and Ronald boarded the private plane together.

When the night fell, the three of them finally returned to the villa in Dreles only to find the entire place enveloped in total darkness.

"No one is at home?" Trevor was confused. He scratched his head in frustration. He had texted his sister the moment he had gotten off the plane. Did she not receive the message? But he didn't think too much about it. Trevor inserted the key to open the door. Then he reached to his right to turn on the light.

Crack! Crack! Crack! Crack! Crack!

There were small explosions inside, and on instinct, the men crouched low.

But with the light on, Trevor was surprised to see a shower of confetti falling all over them and on the floor.

"Surprise! Welcome home!"

Evie greeted Trevor cheerfully with a party popper in her hand.

Standing behind Evie was a group of beautiful women—Luisa, Cecelia, Clarissa, and Makenna! They were all smiling warmly at him.

"Welcome home! We've been waiting for you!" They were taking turns welcoming him.

"Dad? Grandpa? Why are you here? What's going on?" Evie blinked and her smile became somewhat embarrassed.

Originally, she wanted to make fun of her brother by inviting Trevor's good female friends over.

Evie began plotting her surprise after she found Cecelia, Makenna, and the others. She was so excited to put her plan into action.

But as it turned out, Trevor wasn't the only one who was surprised because he brought their father and grandfather here.

She didn't know how to explain it to them.

Evie covered her face with her hands.

She peeped through her fingers and couldn't help but snicker.

She thought that it didn't have anything to do with her. If there was anyone who should be upset, it should be her brother.

Elwood darted his eyes to the group of women in front of him. He gulped and a light bulb went off in his head.

Luisa was gentle, Cecelia was elegant, Makenna was shy, and Clarissa was hot.

Each of the ladies had their own charm. They were different, but the one thing they had in common was how ethereal they looked.

When Elwood came to his senses, he wiped the sweat on his forehead and smiled knowingly.

"That's good. Young people nowadays are so open-minded."

Elwood already knew about Trevor's exceptional ability, so he didn't care so much about the background of Trevor's girlfriend.

Elwood nodded to the ladies and looked them up and down. Even Ronald, who was standing behind them and observing the scene, chuckled and teased Trevor.

"Yeah! Trevor, you've grown up!"

Trevor groaned and ran his hand over his face, sensing that the two guys wouldn't stop teasing him. He breathed deeply and explained to them hurriedly.

"You're both mistaken, okay? There's nothing else going on here. They're my friends in Dreles."

"Ha-ha..." Elwood ignored Trevor's explanation and just burst out laughing. "Ah. It's so good to be young—to be this carefree and fun."

Elwood glanced again at the ladies and was particularly taken by Cecelia. He couldn't stop staring at her.

Cecelia had an amazing figure, a lovely face, and an aristocratic charm. She stood with her hands clasped behind her back, looking like a queen.

Smiling, Elwood slowly approached his grandson and whispered in his ear, "Trevor, what's the name of the girl in a white dress?"

Cecelia?

Trevor turned to look at her and scowled. He massaged the back of his neck as he became increasingly upset.

He wondered if his grandfather would want him to marry Cecelia.

Trevor had no idea how his grandfather would react if he found out that Cecelia was from the Wright family.

Trevor rubbed his forehead, feeling a headache coming on.

Elwood was looking at him expectantly, so Trevor was left with no choice but to explain.
